KANSAS WHACKS UP

Nebraska Will Get the Ticket Money—Probably

THE SCHEDULE ARRANGED

Inter-state League Gets Down to Business—Nebraska Gets Everything She Asks.

An adjourned meeting of the Inter-State Football association was held last Saturday in the Millard Hotel in Omaha. All four states were represented. The delegates were Barnes from Nebraska, Larabee from Iowa, Moody from Kansas, and Judge Lawson from Missouri.

Several important changes were made in the constitution. The number of actual hours of work carried in any institution to qualify a player was raised from five to ten. This important change was made to prevent professionalism as much as possible. Hereafter the executive meetings of the association will be held at the college town in which the president resides, instead of at Omaha or Kansas City as heretofore.

The election of officers was completed as follows:

President, Larabee of Iowa.
Vice President, Judge Lawson of Missouri.

Treasurer, Moody of Kansas.
Secretary, Telford of Nebraska.

Nebraska demanded the $50 due from Kansas on railroad fare. Kansas objected to paying the money. Iowa favored Nebraska's claim, while Missouri was inclined to side with Kansas. After both sides of the case had been presented, Judge Lawson decided that Nebraska had the better cause and should have the money.

Judge Lawson was appointed to purchase the pennant in St. Louis. This pennant will be an elegant silver cup. Two designs are to be selected by Mr. Lawson and sent to the various colleges for their decision as to which shall be retained. The college winning the cup three successive times will keep it as permanent property.

As was anticipated Missouri would consent to no pooling of the Thanksgiving games. Of course it is very natural that Kansas and Missouri should not wish to pool for gate receipts at Kansas City, as they are very much larger than the receipts of Iowa and Nebraska at Omaha. The league should by all means not be broken up for such a minor consideration.

No general manager was elected for the ensuing year as no one could be agreed upon. This question will be settled later. An Omaha man will probably be selected.

The schedule for next year was arranged as follows:

- Nov. 2 Nebraska vs. Missouri at Omaha.
- Iowa vs. Kansas at Lawrence.
- Nov. 16 Nebraska vs. Kansas at Lincoln.
- Missouri vs. Iowa at Iowa City.
- Nebraska vs. Iowa at Omaha.
- Thanksgiving Day. Kansas vs. Missouri at Kansas City.

It will readily be seen that this schedule is very favorable to Nebraska. We have the game with Kansas on our own grounds and the Missouri game at Omaha, practically our own grounds. The Thanksgiving game with Iowa will be at Omaha as before. We play all our league games in this state. Our team will not have to make a long trip just previous to a game. Missouri must be "swiped" this time.

TO-DAY'S ELECTION.

It Promises to be Decidedly Interesting.

The prospect for one of the fiercest contests between the bars and frats that the university has enjoyed for some time is very bright for this afternoon at 1 o'clock. At this important hour the election of officers and delegates of the local Oratorical association is to be held. Both sides are working hard, the frats less openly, but nevertheless as energetically as their opponents.

Yesterday afternoon both the Palladian and Union literary societies held caucuses and determined upon a ticket to be put in the field. The officers to be elected are: president, vice president, secretary and treasurer besides four delegates to the state convention.

The State association is composed of the University, Doane, Cotner and Wesleyan colleges. This year the election of a secretary for the State association falls to the University. Each delegation from the four colleges has one vote, and with that of the president's of the association, five votes are possible for the secretary. The will of the majority of each delegation decides for which man that delegation will vote, the president having the deciding vote. Thus the result of today's election will decide but one of the five votes to be cast for the secretary.

It is understood that the two following tickets will be put in the field:

Bars—For president, H. E. Newbranch; vice president, J. T. Corey; secretary and treasurer, W. E. Elmore; delegates, W. H. Forsyth, Katharine Melick, C. R. Weiden, Paul Pizey or J. W. Squires.

Frats—For president, Charles Jones; vice president, —; secretary and treasurer, L. Packard; delegates, V. R. McLucas, A. J. Weaver, E. Haughton, Bert Kimball.

It is impossible to tell from present indications, which ticket has the best support. The interest aroused will probably draw quite an attendance which will net twenty-five cents a head for the Association.

Artist's Recital Program.

The second Artists' recital which will be given by Martinus Sieveking and Miss Susie Schofield will be held in the university chapel next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The following program will be rendered:

- 1. Toccata and Fugue—D minor..... Bach-Fussig
- 2. Peer Gynt Suite..... Grieg
 - a. Morning
 - b. Ases death
 - c. Anitra's dance
 - d. In the hall of the mountain king
- 3. Danse Macabe..... Saint Saens [For two pianos.]
- Miss Susie Schofield, Mr. Sieveking
- 4. Fire scene from the "Gottterdammerung"..... Wagner
- 5. Twelfth Rhadsodie Hongroise..... Liszt

In The Library.

Since the beginning of the school year, 1910 books have been received by the library. Of these books 218 have been gifts; and most of these gifts were from the government. This number does not include the January assignment.

Miss Jones lately received 41 volumes of an old magazine called the Merchants' Magazine. It began in 1839 and is devoted to commercial interests.

'B' WILL CELEBRATE

Last Year's "Crack Company" to hold a Military Ball.

ARRANGEMENTS BEING MADE

Committees Appointed and Other Preliminaries Settled—Battalion News of the Week.

As is probably well known to the University, the color company for this year is company "B."

Last June, before admiring thousands(?). Company "B" swept up the field of the competitive drills amid deafening applause, an easy winner. The Omaha cup, that beautiful trophy won by Company "A" in Omaha in 1892, was theirs. They had scored higher than any company had ever done. In other words they were right "in it". That night the company ate ice cream on Dixon the gallant captain. They smoked the peace pipe (Joe Beardley's) around the big boulder; they yelled; they went wild; they had spasms (of joy).

And the other cadets stood around in a daze and stared enviously at Co. "B."

Company "B" also won the artillery gun. This year there were promoted from Co. "B." two captains and two first sergeants, showing what the victory meant to the individuals.

And so the members of this year's company have decided to celebrate by giving a military ball at the end of this semester. It will probably be held on Friday evening, February 1, and it promises to be a very swell affair.

The officers of this year's company are as follows: Captain, Chas. Elliott; First Lieut. Chas. Hinds; Second Lieut. Art Weaver; First Sergeant, Chas. Schwartz; Sergeants, Adams, Barnes, Wilson, Bessey, Teele; Corporals, Saxton, Cutter, H. Wilson, Dales, Cuiver, Jones, Cameron, Reagan.

The committee consists of the following: Adams, Saxton, Riley, Robbins, and Jones.

Battalion Notes.

Lieutenant Pershing spent Monday and Tuesday in Chicago much to the delight of those who had not prepared their tactics' lesson.

For some unaccountable reason the plan for holding a military hop which the Varsity Rifles cherished for a few sweet moments has fallen through.

It was announced last Wednesday that hereafter there would be inspection of one company every Monday night.

The commandant has procured about 100 copies of the new artillery tactics, which Lieutenant Elliott has for sale.

The bond for 125 cadet rifles and accoutrements and for 4 breech loading cannons has been received by Mr. Dales and the articles mentioned will be here soon.

Mrs. Bryan will Speak.

At the present time a new charter for the city of Lincoln is about to be presented to the legislature. It is therefore opportune that the political economy club of the State University has secured two addresses on municipal questions to be given at its next meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 23, at 8 p. m., in room 3. The first address will be by Mrs. W. J. Bryan on "Efficiency of Municipal Government Abroad and at Home." This will be followed by a paper by Miss Mary L. Jones on "Corruption in City Government." All are invited to attend.

The Horticultural Exhibit.

On last Tuesday afternoon the meeting of the Nebraska Horticultural Society began its midwinter session in room 14, Nebraska Hall. Long tables were built and plates by the hundred were soon displayed containing apples of every description, color and size. There were yellow apples and red apples and speckled apples. Apples that made one's mouth water to look at. In looking at the splendid exhibit one would never suppose that there had been a drouth in the state. The tables looked like they had been set for a feast to Pomona. Beautiful palms lent a tropical appearance to the place, and the luscious fruit was tempting enough for the gods.

Apple-hungry people crowded the exhibit, and it was only by posting up signs containing the legend, "Yield Not to Temptation" and like admonitions that it was possible to retain the exhibit. Some waggish student, with no fear of consequences in his soul, wrote little signs, such as "Take One," "Help Yourself," and put them on the tempting plates of apples. Soon after these signs went up the overcoat pockets of some of the students bulged suspiciously when they left the room.

The sturdy farmers came with all their unsophisticated airs and discussed the weighty subjects of the manner in which to raise the different sorts of apples, how to prevent blight and disease from destroying the trees, and other matters interesting only to growers of fruit.

A few flowers were on exhibition along with a large collection of palms. After a prosperous and well attended session the meeting closed on Thursday night. The apples were packed away and the tables dismantled, and the exhibit was a thing of the past.

Historical Notes.

Mr. Barrett has just received a cane from John G. Goss of Bellevue Neb. There is nothing specially noticeable about the cane until its history is found out. It was carved from the wood of the old trading fort built at Bellevue in 1810. Mr. Barrett thinks it a valuable addition to the historical museum.

Henry Foutanelle, a brother of Logan Foutanelle the last chief of the Omaha Indians attended the meeting of the Historical Society. He was born in Nebraska in 1831.

The Old Way.

Since Maud learned to skate the "old way" I have heard the authorities say That, of course, it's all right But looks better at night Than in the broad light of the day.

TO MAKE A REVISION

Meeting of the Athletic Association Called.

TO CHANGE THE CONSTITUTION

Objectionable Features of Electing Officers to be done Away with --Everybody Come.

There will be a meeting of the athletic association Tuesday at 1 p. m. The object is to take some action looking to a revision of the constitution. This matter has been talked of for some time as a great deal of clamor and grumbling has arisen at various stages in the history of athletics in the U. of N. over the election of officers for the various associations. Some plan to take away the power of the college politician is to be devised, and anyone who has a plan is requested to make the same known.

One measure that has been proposed is to elect a board to consist of nine members, three from the students, three from the alumni and three from the faculty. This board is to have the say of "yes" or "no" to any action taken by the association or any of its organizations, or in other words, nothing can be legally done without its approval. These members are to be selected by a majority of the students present. Another plan is the adoption of the rules which were published by the NEBRASKAN as "suggestions" last December. There are quite a number of them but all will apply very fittingly to the condition of athletics in the Uni.

Another important thing to be decided is a date for the field day exercises, the appointment of committees, etc. It is thought every one can be present who will, at this hour, but there is so much to be done, it is feared that it will have to be protracted unless expediency is exercised. It has been suggested that many of these things should be considered before, so that all will be prepared for what is coming. Thus no objectionable measure can be railroaded through.

The Dramatic Club.

Arrangements are being made by the manager of the Dramatic Club to present "Chums" and "The Open Gate" in Ashland about Jan. 25, 1895. The former is a rollicking college farce, produced last year by the Harvard Dramatic Club in Boston, over which the critics raved. The latter is one of Charles Frohman's popular curtain raisers.

The affair at Ashland will be undoubtedly a social as well as a financial success.

It is to be hoped that when the club appears before a Lincoln audience, the entire student body will turn out and give the club the support to which it is justly entitled, as strictly a representative university organization.

The officers of the organization are: I. M. Bentley, president; Maud Shaw, secretary; Mrs. Manning, director; Fred C. Cooley, manager.

The Banjo Club.

The University has at last a real banjo club. It is not a club of two or three mandolins, a guitar, and a couple of banjos as was the club of last year, which called itself a "banjo club," but it is composed of two banjeanrires, five banjos, a piccolo banjo and two guitars. The men are all old players and their progress under Mr. Planque of the Conservatory has been truly remarkable. The glee club will have to look to its laurels in earnest, for the banjo boys intend to play second to no musical club in the Uni.
