The cadet band is improving fast.

H. G. Barber spent Saturday in Omaha.

Prep, Doc, Up-heavism mean pompadour?

See our offer in another column. Here is your chance.

Yes, they got out in time to attend their own funeral.

Ask McDowel why the Hesperian is like a lot of drift wood.

Miss Lulo Paddock entertained a few friends very pleasantly last Thursday.

D. N. Lehmer '93, the famous whistler, is seen around the halls once more.

Miss Anita Muir spent Saturday in Ashland visiting the Misses von Mansfelde.

John Hay Kuhn went to Omaha last Friday to visit his parents. He returned Monday.

"Hello, Bob, taking photography?"

"No. Taking pictures."

Mr. Harry Shears left Wednesday for Omaha, where he will make his home for the future.

A letter received from Prof. Burnett from Albuquerque, N. M. says that his health is rapidly improving.

Why is it that everyone is humming, whistling, or singing "Still His Whiskers Grew" or "You Can't Change It?"

Fred Cooley's eyes had a narrow escape in the chemical laboratory last Saturday, a large flask of H₂SO₄ exploding in his face.

The two most prominent cadets opposing the adoption of white duck trousers for the battalion are Lieutenants Holmes and Hinds.

Prof. Chas. Sharer has entered the university for a short course in psychology preparatory to entering the Chicago University.

There is more than one way to get even with 'em. And so they say the rustling business manager of the Hesperian is boarding out a bill.

DID you know that the Foot-Form Store were getting their new Spring Goods. They are beauties.

YOU must cover your feet. Why not get something that is up to date? It costs no more than old style goods.

HAVE

your feet comfortable and your head will be clear. The only way is to have them shod with a shoe that

The same goods for less money or better goods for the same money. Let us prove this.

Miss Alice Maitland left for Denver Thursday.

Oury made a swift trip to Omaha Wednesday.

The Union society is preparing a "ghost" program to be given this evening.

Mr. Lien was elected to the secretaryship of the Political Economy club to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. P. Teelo.

Prof. Sherman in American literature: "When Thoreau died for the first time,—I say, for the first time his complete works were published.

Frank Woods, a former member of the class of '95 and of the Palladian society, is on the editorial board of the University of Chicago Weekly.

P. J. Maguire filled the chair in "Tariff History" during the brief illness of Prof. Taylor. P. J. is not a "doctor" yet but he has a few ideas on economics.

For some reason the attendance at chapel has fallen off materially within the past two weeks. The generous hearted are staying away to give the others a chance.

The legislature is good for something. It at least furnishes subjects for the public speaking classes. Just now the "oleo" bill is being thoroughly discussed and will soon be definitely answered.

George A. Davies a last year's freshman has returned to school this semester. He has been engaged in teaching the young idea how to shoot straight in Rising City, Neb.

Prof. Dann.—What are some words with the diminutive ending "Kin"? Lambkin is a good example. Who can think of another?

Piper—Pump-kin.

To have heard Charley Stroman grow eloquent over the "oleo-margerine" bill in public speaking was almost as good as eating some of your mother's home-made butter.

Chauncey Warren had an opportunity to attend the United States naval school, but after considering carefully decided to finish his electrical engineering course here.

Owing to the recital Thursday evening, the address of Mr. Albert Watkins on "Civic Federations" was postponed until next Wednesday evening. No one interested in economics should miss this treat.

Miss Pearl Woodmansee, '98, has been compelled to drop her university work on account of ill health. She leaves to-day for Colorado. Her many university friends wish her a speedy recovery.

There seems to be something peculiar with the weather. Not only have a great many students been confined to their rooms on account of bad colds and sore throats, but even the faculty has been affected. Prof. Fling and Prof. Taylor were unable to hear classes for a few days last week.

Owing to insubordination on the part of the electric lights at the home of Judge Pound, the fire department was called out Tuesday night. A fireman cut the wire and no damage was done beyond burning a small hole in the wall paper. Miss Olivia Pound covered herself with glory by extinguishing a blaze in the ceiling by throwing a cup of water on it.

"Jute" Field, a former electrical student who would have graduated with '97, has secured a position in an electrical plant at New Orleans.

W. Reed Dunroy has returned from Omaha where he held the first reading from his "Blades from Nebraska Grasses." He was greeted with a well filled house and the entertainment is reported as being "way up."

What will happen is yet to be seen, but that some great event will occur in the near future is assured. The senior girls actually had a secret meeting Thursday and have succeeded at this writing in keeping their secret!

Prof. Swezey has started a class in meteorology. Two divisions meet in room 14 Nebraska Hall each day. The most interesting feature of the work is a demonstration each day of the weather forecasting from telegraphic data received that day.

R. W. Thatcher has been called home by the illness of his father who will have to go abroad for his health, leaving his son "to run the ranch." Mr. Thatcher does not hope to be back again before the second semester of next year.

Ever since the skating has been spoiled the weary student has been longing for the opening of the boating season at Burlington beach. Then he may rest his tired brain and forget all about the cares of life while gliding over the quiet ripples.

The friends of C. A. Fisher '97, were much pleased to see him back in school the first of this week. He left very suddenly a week ago upon the advice of his physicians and intended to seek a milder climate. Favorable changes in the symptoms, however, have made this move unnecessary for the present.

Some facetious student "swiped" a bucket of red paint left over from the Co-op annual, and presented it to the English department one day last week. A little card bearing the words: "To the English department," was tied on it. The paint and brush are awaiting identification at the executive office.

The debate between the Maxwell's and the U. B. D. C's was well attended and hotly contested. Of course, as it always is, both sides claimed the victory. According to the Maxwell's but a part of one good argument was made by the opposition. The Union's say that the lawyers simply talked and said nothing.

New Books at Herpolsheimer's Book Department. "Our Fight With Tammany," by Rev. Chas. Parkhurst; "Madame Sans Gene" from the French of Victorien Sardou; "Echoes From Central Music Hall," by the late Prof. David Swing; "Ascent of Man," by Henry Drummond; "Billtry," a parody on Trilby by Mary Kyle Dallas; "The Manxman" by Hall Cain.

Another One Gone.

Miss Maud Berkeley, a former member of the class of '95, and of the Union society, died at her home Tuesday evening, after an illness of seven months. The following resolutions were adopted by the society:

Inasmuch as it has pleased the Divine Father to take from our midst our dear sister, Maud Berkeley, be it

Resolved, That in her loss we recognize that we are bereft of a faithful worker and a true friend of the Union society.

That we express our heartfelt sympathy to her parents in their almost unconsolable grief;

And that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Union society, published in the college papers, and sent to her parents.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Successor of the "Unabridged."

Standard of the U. S. Gov't Printing Office, the U. S. Supreme Court and of nearly all the Schoolbooks.

Warmly commended by every State Superintendent of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

A College President writes: "For ease with which the eye finds the word sought, for accuracy of definition, for effective methods in indicating pronunciation, for terse yet comprehensive statements of facts, and for practical use as a working dictionary, 'Webster's International' excels any other single volume."

The One Great Standard Authority, So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.
