Mr. E. Nicholson is at the University of Minnesota this year as instructor of chemistry.
"No," says E. H. Haughton: "It's one of the football kind, eleven on a side, you know."
Shuff, Mapes and Miss Ena Ricketts made up Virgil his summer under an instructor.
H. G. Barber succeeds F. F. Tucker as chemical professor of the Nebraska City high school.
W. Reed Dunroy will not return this year—at least not during the first part of the fall term.
The students are returning this year with a good stock of energy and enthusiasm on hand.
Low Ricketts is making himself felt as a manipulator of law in the office of Ricketts & Wilson.
With a great deal of regret we learn that Carl Burnham, '97, will remain in California this year.
Miss Maud Shaw returned to her home in Boise City, Idaho. Her many friends will miss her.
Stanley Pickett is this year aiding his father in running that bright little paper—The Wahoo Wasp.
Dr. Lucky—I will give you several reference books so that you will be able to find one in the library.
Prof. Bates popularity is still increasing. His eleven o'clock class in Freshman rhetoric numbers 81.
Walter Vanfleet Hoagland, '95, is a nominee for county superintendent at his home in North Platte.
Geo. Johnston, '96, is putting in an electric plant in California so he will be missed by the U. of N.

Mr. J. M. Howie has secured a fellowship in the University of Wisconsin and will pursue his studies in mathematics.
A. W. Carpenter will pursue his studies in Cornell this year. He expects to take his degree from that institution.
After a business trip to Chicago, W. H. Oury spent three weeks at one of the delightful watering places of Minnesota.
Mr. F. L. Wright will not be in school this year. He has accepted a position from Uncle Sam as postmaster at Gering, Neb.
L. A. Bumstead, the genial manager of the well known clothing firm, was married to Miss Julia H. Prescott, '97, August 21.
The Phi Psi boys are exhibiting Clint Norton as a sample of what they expect to present at the whiskers' club exhibition.
Mr. Ward Hildrith, who has been keeping the chemical store room, will help in the executive office this year and study law.
L. H. Robbins, one of the business managers of The Nebraskan last year, has entered the sophomore year at Princeton.
George Sheldon, '92, and Miss Rose Higgins, '92, married at the bride's home, Sterling, Ill., the early part of this month.
The registrar's desk has been made quite exclusive by a neat partition setting it off from the other part of the executive office.
Mr. C. R. Weiden, '95, stopped in the city for a short time last week. Mr. Weiden goes to Morgan park to study for the ministry.
Gace Morgan, '95, is training the young idea in the way they should go at the Saratoga school, this city. She has the fourth grade.
Miss Bessie Tuttle is now one of the faculty of the Lincoln Polytechnic institute after three years' study in the Chicago art institute.
E. Abry of Denver, Colo., is taking the E. E. course. Mr. Abry is a stenographer and will probably have charge of Prof. Owens' stenographic work.
The Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority set the ball rolling by holding the first fraternity initiation. As a result Miss Mabel Richards is wearing a key.
Theo. Brugger, '92, and E. O. Seward, '94, have gone to Germany, the former to study Germanic philosophy, the latter to prepare for a literary career.
W. W. Marshall, the stenographer having his office last year in the co-op is now executive clerk of the experiment station, vice C. Y. Smith, resigned.

Dr. Caldwell—I am sorry that I cannot assign any reference books, because of the condition of the library, but will earnestly endeavor to make it up later on.
The new students still get confused in going "through the mill" of registration. This is largely due to the fact that they do not read the directions given them.
Rufus Bentley, '94, and Miss Ella Hart were married at Hastings, September 18. Mr. Bentley will be an instructor in the psychological department the coming year.
Lewis Davenport and Jesse Cleland are two boys who will be missed from the Omaha crowd this year. Twelve new students are registered from this burg, however.
Mr. E. C. Elliott, '95, will have the chemical preparatory students in charge during the coming year. Mr. Elliott gets the fellowship which was held by Mr. E. Nicholson.
"They can raise something in Nebraska, even if there is a drought," remarked the bench-work fiend as he watched many of his former friends stroking fondly their upper lip.
Mr. Wm. Pillsbury and Miss Helen Wells were married the 10th inst. Both parties are well known to the students of the university. We are glad to learn that they will reside in the city.

Our friend, G. H. Rose, has been raising onions this summer out near Grand Island. The stewards of the clubs will please take notice that the early Rose onions are of double strength and are to be had only of G. H. Rose, care of "Jimmy Searson."
A new feature in the department of elocution is a course of oratory for young men. Everything pertaining to forensic oratory will receive special attention. This course will be hailed with delight by those young men interested in oratorical debates.
A noticeable improvement in the physical department is the new office of the physical director in the gymnasium gallery. It is large, light and well ventilated, and will give opportunity for better work. Students will be welcome there. Office hours will be announced later.
L. C. Smith will be the only "man" that will be in the employ of the library department. It pays to be a hustler in this world. Just at present there are about one hundred and fifty young men who are envious of Mr. Smith. We might as well own up that we are one of them.
Prof. Bruner had charge of the university exhibit at the state fair, which means that it was a success in every particular. A register was kept of the university students that visited the fair and the names of students that were in the university as far back as 1877 appear on it.
Mr. Avery, who has been pursuing his studies at Heidelberg, Germany, will return next summer and take the degree of Ph. D. In the meantime he will be retained by the university as instructor in chemistry. Mr. Senter will continue his work in Germany and will take his degree next summer.
The manual training department has at last got an engine large enough to run their machinery. It is a new model of the Weston high speed engine, and is a beauty. Prof. Richards bought the engine while in the east this summer.

C. F. Tucker, our musical genius, is teaching music to large classes in Seward.
The new library building will be completed and ready for occupancy in about three weeks. The books are all removed from the old crowded quarters to the new commodious one, in the north wing. The reading room is not yet completed, but lights and tables have been placed in the library room, temporarily. The law books have been left in the old east library room, which the law department will occupy.
