

LOCALS.

We showed 'em.

J. W. Crabtree made a flying trip to Ashland Tuesday.

R. W. Thatcher, formerly '97, promises to be back next year.

Frey & Frey, the popular florists, are located at 114 So. 12th street.

J. R. Hook spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Winona, Neb.

Clint Norton went down to Peru Friday for a few days' visit at his home.

Miss Edith Patterson, who was in the University last year, is visiting in the city.

Ernest Wigginhorn and George Shedd spent Sunday at their homes in Ashland.

Fountain pens at all prices, from $1 to $4.50 at Herpolsheimer & Co's Book Department.

Edgar Cramb went home to vote Tuesday. That's right; help a good cause along.

Miss Ellen Heilman spent a few days this week at her home in Missouri Valley, Ia.

The students recital at the Conservatory of Music has been postponed till Wednesday, Nov. 14.

If you trade with Frank DuTeil, news agent, cigars, etc., you will receive generous treatment.

The Philharmonic orchestra organized last Friday and meet tonight for practice at the Conservatory.

If you have trouble with your eyes, see Dr. Magee at once. No charge for examination. 11th and O streets.

Bradt cannot fail to appreciate the disadvantage of being a Y. M. C. A. when he is hustling for the new magazine.

J. R. Burks became aware of the fact that his vote was needed at Beatrice and governed himself accordingly.

The cadet uniforms were to leave the Henderson-Ames house Wednesday and will be a couple of days on the road.

A report is afloat that H. A. Seuter, '93, who has been studying in Heidelberg, is now on his way home as he is seriously ill.

Professor Edgren has a class of three in beginning Sanscrit. The lessons, however, are not in proportion to the size of the class.

"Go to the Owl!" was the notice that thirsty people met Tuesday, when they went to the corner where the ice water tank is usually found.

The cop at the B. & M. depot got exceedingly fresh Saturday night. He is a good officer, but he was in the wrong crowd that time.

The political talk that Prof. Caldwell gave in chapel election morning was interesting to the young men, but the girls knew it was no use.

Students of the University school of law were allowed a few days' vacation this week in order that they might go home and vote.

Encourage the debates by your presence next week. The questions are such as everyone are interested in, and your time will be well spent.

Regular Y. M. C. A. devotional meeting Sunday, November 3, at 4 p. m. in Palladian hall. Mr. John Boose will lead. Subject, "Praise," Psa. 100.

Several students have left Cotner and entered the State University, because they feared that the financial part of that institution would not carry it through this year.

See our line of Overcoats.

Said one Kappa to another Friday as the boys marched out of the chapel singing "Oh, my! Oh, my! How we'll, etc." "what chant is that the boys are giving?"

Fun is all right, but when the cackling becomes so extensive that the halls partake of the properties of a southeastern poultry show it is time to call a halt.

If you want a vest-pocket Testament, printed on India paper, but one one inch wide and half an inch thick, just look over the stock at Herpolsheimer & Co's.

A great deal of commotion and embarrassment was caused in the young ladies' gym. class Friday, when they discovered that their efforts were being appreciated by a small audience of young men.

"Why Am I a Christian?" is the subject for the devotional meeting of the Y. M. C. A., Palladian hall, Sunday, Nov. 10, 4 p. m. Mr. W. H. Rhodes will lead. Reference: John 1: 28-35.

When the good news first arrived Saturday night about a dozen boys were standing in front of the Co-op. Dr. Clark stepped up and the boys immediately gave vent to their feelings by tossing him.

It has leaked out that Doane is doing everything possible to obtain our code of signals, and they are now working over what Mains learned at the Missouri game. This is the style at this highly religious institution, but—

And now, Prof. Wolfe is wondering what his class really knows about psychology. An examination Wednesday brought the average down as low as the sudden change of weather affected thermometers.

The Fresh-Soph social will be held at the University Conservatory Saturday evening, Nov. 9 at 8 o'clock. There will be music for the dancers in the lower parlors, and other amusements in the other parlors.

The Missouri team is doubly sore over its defeat. A promise had been made that, should they win every game this season, a game with Stanford on the Pacific coast would be arranged. Prospects are now bright for Nebraska to secure this reward.

Heretofore we have felt the need of some means of spreading the news of victory accurately and speedily. The powerful signal light fills this want perfectly, spreading the news in an instant as far as Waverly and other surrounding towns.

New books at Herpolsheimer & Co's Book Department. "The Heart of Life," Maartens; "The Gods," "Some Mortals" and "Lord Wickenham," John Oliver Hobbs; "Stark-Munro Letters," Conan Doyle; "Out of India," Kipling; "Harvard Stories," Post.

The freshmen boys have organized a foot ball team, with Lew Ryan as manager. Fifteen men were out to practice the first day and some half dozen more were ready to play, but could not scare up suits. They expect in due time to challenge the sophs. That's the proper spirit.

The mighty Turner stood his massive frame on a small platform at the bonfire Saturday night and said it should not be thrown on, and it took two elevens to convince him differently. Oh, ye hercules, the curse of all loyal students will be upon you if you don't come out and play foot ball.

Professor Barbour is making his geology class one of the most interesting in the University. He uses an electric lantern and illustrates nearly every point by this means. He makes many of the slides himself, and the result shows that he is an artist of no mean ability.

Mr. Jean Cummings of Omaha will be the director of the Banjo club. Mr. Cummings has an international reputation as a musical director. The club has twelve members. Most of them are very proficient, as having played in clubs before. During Christmas the club expect to make a tour of Nebraska.

A report of an earthquake at Falls City elicited many causes for the shock among students from that city. Shue had been coaching a foot ball team there, and he thought they had lined up rather suddenly. Art Weaver had arrived in town just the day before and many were of the opinion that Art had been attempting one of his famous political speeches.

A student passing within two blocks of the Funke theater, might have heard some very familiar tunes, played in a very familiar way Monday night. It was our cadet band, hired to dispense some populist enthusiasm to the unprotected and propertyless of Lincoln. The money the boys received will go toward the purchase of uniforms for the band.

If an old boss worth about fifteen dollars was left out a stormy day like yesterday it would be an unpardonable sin, and he would be a fit subject for the care of the humane society. But about two or three thousand dollars' worth of bicycles must be left out in the rain and snow with nothing to protect them from rust and destruction except that gas pipe out on the campus, and nobody thinks anything about it.

Prof. Ward has been appointed a member of the committee to arrange for the fifteenth annual jubilee given in honor of his old professor, Rudolph Lauckart of Leipsic. This is a big celebration to be held the 15th of the coming December. There are 150 of the most prominent zoologists in the world on the committee and only six of these come from the United States. It is an honor, both to Prof. Ward and to the University.

Professor Keffer, assistant chief of the division of forestry at Washington, D. C., arrived in Lincoln Wednesday evening. He will speak in the University chapel Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on "Forestry as an Economic Problem." Professor Keffer was many years ago a student of Dr. Bessey. He was afterwards professor of horticulture at the agricultural college in South Dakota, and later in the university of Missouri, when he was called by Professor Fernow, the chief of the division of forestry, to the position which he now holds at Washington. The lecture Thursday evening was free to all and well attended.

The red signal light which carried such good news all over Lancaster and he surrounding counties last Saturday night is a ship's anchor lantern fitted with a red lens of peculiar construction. Inside is an immense incandescent lamp. The lens itself is built like the lens of a light house—the outer surface being cut with deep grooves and known as the "Fresnel" construction. It is mounted in heavy brass, giving the whole a beautiful appearance. It is the property of the University. Hereafter the night after a day of University victory it will be at the top of the flagstaff of the main building. Next week it may be seen at the Historical society library in the Library building.
