We think it was a senior girl who with mind on the exam's wanted to know if tomorrow (February 2) will be "sundog" day.

The Sigma Alphas will give a party in March. As they are making arrangements for it now they will surely make a success of it.

Miss Althea Roberts, a former university student, is teaching in York, Neb., where she has a position as assistant principal.

A box of books, weighing about 200 pounds, has been received by the state historical society. It will be opened as soon as Mr. Barrett returns.

Misses Cole, Pollock, Mills, Bloomingdale, Alice Craig, Mary Craig and Messrs. Warner, McCormick and Root have joined the Delian literary society.

A visitor being shown about the campus, noticing the windows of the building across the street south, asked if it was the city steam laundry.

With the opening of the second semester, the two divisions of Anglo-Saxon, meeting at 11 o'clock were united. Professor Sherman takes the class.

If you are going to the junior prom, don't neglect your footwear. 25 per cent off on all shoes, including patent leathers. Sanderson, Shurman & Davis.

A penny collection is being taken among the girls to secure money enough to buy a mirror to be put in the girls' cloak room. All girls are asked to contribute.

Carlisle Tucker is trying to organize a quartet from the material offered by the Glee club. The probable members are Messrs. Gillespie, Langworthy, Matthews and Lansing.

An effort is being made to organize an advanced Anglo-Saxon class. Miss Pound has consented to instruct a class if a sufficient number of students desire to take up the work.

Professor Burnet has been asked to send an extract of his paper on Carlyle's English, read at Chicago university last summer, for publication in the Central Modern Language Association.

Professor Wilson's Virgil classes have abandoned Allen and Greenough's Latin grammar for the present and are doing work in Bennet's, the new one just being introduced into the university.

Our professors are in greater demand than ever to deliver lectures at county institutes and teachers' meetings. The people of the state are undoubtedly becoming more and more interested in the university.

Some of our little boys will have to come in at 8 o'clock in the evening now that the city council has passed an ordinance to the effect that all boys under fifteen must not be seen on the street after 8 o'clock in the evening.

Regent Morrill has returned from the east where he has been the past two weeks. He dined with Chancellor and Mrs. Canfield at Columbus, O., and reports both in good health with our ex-chancellor's fame and popularity growing every day.

Mr. L. J. Simmons, editor of the Sioux County Journal, while in Lincoln during the recent meeting of the state press association presented the state museum with a box of fossil nuts to crack. He collected the nuts himself in the Holt creek valley.

By request of President Pollard of the Nebraska Institute our professors have been doing some lecturing lately. February 4 Professor Fling lectured at Elmwood, on the 6th Professor Wolfe at Alvoe and February 11 Professor Fosher will give an address at Murdock.

Mr. Charles Riedel of Loup City sent down a black-footed ferret to the state university for identification. It was found to be the Putorius Nighnipes. It is the first of the kind sent to the state museum. It is known as the farmer's friend, because it feeds on the prairie dogs.

After three attempts to get a quorum the athletic association met Tuesday and adopted the amendment as printed in our last issue. This gives the university athletic board the power of electing the football manager which will probably be done tomorrow afternoon.

The literary societies are greatly agitated over the question of allowing members of the scholarship fraternity to be members of the societies. The next thing we know some of the hard skull barbarians will be frats in spite of themselves. It is yet to be seen how these students who work on such a broad-minded plan will decide this question.

There are several university girls who borrow college papers of their gentlemen admirers from the mail boxes. Then in about a day those same gentlemen are kicking the different editors for not sending to them the papers. Now if those young ladies do the right thing they would subscribe for the papers themselves. And if the young men would do the right thing by their girl friends they would present them with a paid subscription for the remainder of the year.

A new case of minerals for students has just been placed in the state museum, without expense to the state. State Superintendent Corbett furnished the case without cost. The lower part of the case is filled with a collection of minerals representing the Dana system, which was prepared in Germany by Krantz. The upper part of the case is filled with models of crystals representing the crystallographic system in connection with natural crystals.

Miss Mary Tremain again offers the course—the status of woman—to the students of the university. This course is one of unusual interest, the first part treating of the position of woman in Europe, the second of woman in the United States and the relation of woman to institutions, is taken up in some detail. The course is open to students who have had work in history. This is but the second year it has been offered. It was very favorably accepted two years ago and Miss Tremain will make no changes in presenting the work again this year.

The Philharmonic orchestra of the university conservatory is preparing a program to be given in a short time which will be of great interest to the musical people of Lincoln. The beautiful Don Juan overture by Mozart will be presented. Mrs. Herzog will give one piano number, Mrs. Lippincott will sing and a quartet composed of Mrs. Lippincott, Miss Getner, Mr. Seaman and Mr. Kettering will have a selection. Not the least interesting part of the program will be the numbers by Mr.

Item taken from a local paper February 1:

We have heard of gold, railroad trains and small American republics being stolen, but it would seem impossible that a thief could manage to make off with a newspaper office. Nevertheless that is fact for yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock the Nebraska office was stolen from the university. The police have no clue.

Later—The reported theft of the Nebraska office is a fake. The co-op was swept and when the editor came in he failed to recognize his den.

Charles Hagenow, who has recently returned from Chicago.

A very queer mistake was made at company B's dance last Friday night. It was during the interval between dances when the young people were enjoying short tête-à-têtes; in one secluded corner an extremely earnest conversation took place. "Yes," he said, as he looked with unconcealed admiration at his fair partner, "yes, I will call and bring some Phi Psi with me." Now the laughing and talking of the other dancers became so loud that the young lady misunderstood the gallant youth, thinking he said some fresh cider instead of some Phi Psi, "Oh," she exclaimed, "all right, do bring some fresh cider when you come."
