LOCALS.

Maud Hazelt and Ada Butler were initiated into Delta Delta Delta last week. Fred S. Henery read the goat into Kappa Sigma.

The senior law class held a meeting last Saturday to discuss the question of whether the class should be represented in the Sombbrero. The question was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. VanTyle representing the firm of Wright Kay & company, fraternity jewelers of Detroit Mich., was in the city Saturday and Monday. He secured some good orders from the Greeks.

The Graham Taylor house is again reopened and all committees are again at work. Only a few mild cases of scarlet fever were reported, and workers need have no hesitancy in resuming duties, as the house has been thoroughly disinfected.

A number of the vocal pupils of the school of music will assist Mrs. Raymond in a concert to be given in the First Congregational church next Monday night. Director Kimball's private piano pupils will give a recital tomorrow evening in the university chapel.

Two hundred packages of garden seed have just been sent by Senator Thurston to the Graham Taylor house for free distribution. It is hoped that a donation of flower seeds may be secured and thus enable the board to furnish work and amusement to the boys and girls of the community.

George Constanter's barber shop is located at 1010 O street. Four of the best workmen in the city are to be found here.

Let Westerfield be your barber.

Cascarels stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe. 10c.

If you have tried him once you found that Westerfield did the right kind of tonorial work. He has been the students' barber for seventeen years. 117 North Thirteenth street.

A "University of Nebraska" tablet is the kind to use, when you write home. The Co-op has a large supply.

French dictionaries can be bought at the book department of Herpolsheimer and Co's, at very low prices.

Hayden, the photographer who is now located at 1029 O street, is again offering a special rate to students on all photographs. His name is a guarantee of good work.

The latest and preetiest store in the city is Bumstead and Tuttle's new furnishings and tailoring store at 117 So. 11th street. Call and see their beautiful neckwear.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

JAMES A. HERNE.

When James A. Herne was a young man and living in Albany, he joined the local stock company and gained a reputation as a character actor. Having lived and labored in Albany and its vicinity all his life, the manager of the theatre thought it would be a good idea to let the young actor have a benefit.

Mr. Herne was willing to take one providing he received one half of the gross receipts. The event was duly announced and the seats for the performance were turned over to Mr. Herne to sell. The father of the actor was very well known and exceedingly popular everywhere, and his son thought it would not be a bad scheme to get him to assist in disposing of the tickets.

Mr. Herne, the father, agreed to do all he could to sell them, and took possession of the entire lot.

The theatre and its associations never greatly interested the elder Herne, but he had good business acumen. With but very little effort he sold out the whole bunch of pasteboards, and returned home rejoicing.

"Well, Jamsie," said the father, "you will certainly have a big house for your benefit. I've sold every one of those tickets you gave me, and couldn't begin to accommodate the crowd."

"That's fine," said James A. "Did you get the cash for them or sell them on credit?"

"Spot cash for every one," replied the father.

"Well, let me have the money," said the son, "and I'll turn the manager's share over to him."

"Here you are" answered the father, as he pulled out a whole pocketful of silver and greenbacks.

"I sold the high priced ones first, and got as much as forty cents apiece for them. They were marked seventy-five cents, but I knew you would be satisfied to get half of that sum. Those that were marked fifty cents went like hot cakes at two shillings, and the thirty-five cent ones I let go at twenty cents."

The benefit was a howling success and cost the young actor a trifle over $12.00, and the "fun at my expense" of the other members of the stock company. The story traveled fast, and every stock company manager in America heard of it. However, it was a great big advertisement for the young actor, and through it he shortly afterward obtained a very good engagement. Father and son have often laughed over the affair, but since then Mr. James A. Herne has never had a benefit.

Mr. Herne's "Shore Acres" will be seen at the Funke Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee, March 12 and 13. Seats now on sale. Evening prices, $1.00, .75, .50, and .25. Matinee prices, $1.75, .50, and .25. Matinee commences at 2 p. m. sharp.
