ACCOUNT OF COLLEGE SETTLEMENT WORK.

What the Board is Doing and What is Expected of the Students And Friends of the Movement.

The long awaited promotions were read before the battalion on last Monday evening. The corps of cadets have been in rather an unsettled state during the illness of Commandant Weeks, but now that he has returned to take up his duties battalion affairs will move along smoothly. It seemed like all times to see four long companies of seven sets of fours each lined up in perfect dress on the armory floor. What with such a number drilling, such fine promise for an excellent band and with a commandant who is a cadet, the corps of cadets has a bright outlook before it. The appointments were as follows:

FACULTY RECEPTION IN CHAPEL.

Mr. Henry Ennos, director of the pianoforte department of the university school of music, gave the first of a series of faculty recitals in the chapel last Wednesday evening. Mr. Ennos has just been made a member of the corps of teachers this fall. He comes from Chicago and this is the first time that he has appeared before an audience of Lincoln people. For this reason the hall was crowded with an expectant gathering to see what he could do. The most excellent recommendations that had preceded him were fully realized. From the very first number he was a favorite with the audience. His remarkable power of expression, his graceful and natural posture, his ease in the execution of the most difficult passages, showed him to be an invaluable addition to the musical circles of Lincoln.

Plans for the Yale football season are being rapidly developed by the management. Word has been received from James O. Rodgers, last year's captain, that he will probably enter the Yale law school this fall. To do so he was again he found at Yale's left tackle, as he has only played three years and is eligible for this season. Rodgers has coached Yale's championship freshman crews for two years, and is a prominent candidate for coach of the 'Varsity and freshman crews next season. The preliminary practice of the football candidates for places behind the Yale line has been begun at Kennebunkport, Me.

Manager Bischof is trying to arrange for an excursion to Lawrence, Kas., on November 5 to the Kansas-Nebraska game. A rate of one fare for the round trip can be secured provided fifty people will go. If one hundred or more will go it is quite certain a lower rate can be secured. The fare our way to Lawrence is $5.70. The excursion would leave some time Friday evening and arrive at Lawrence Saturday morning. Returning the train would leave Lawrence Saturday evening and reach Lincoln Sunday morning. Arrangements can be made for a stopover at Kansas City to all who wish to see the game. Between Nebraska and Kansas City tickets on November 7. All persons contemplating the trip should leave their names with the Nebraskan or with Manager Bischof at once so that definite arrangements may be made as soon as possible.

A PRACTICE GAME WITH TARKIO

The Representatives of the Missouri School Failed To Score Against the 'Varsity With Four New Men Playing.

FOUR TOUCH-DOWNS FOR NEBRASKA'S TEAM.

Captain Melford Does Not Miss a Single Goal—Nebraska's Work, However, Lacks Ginger.

The winning streak set by the 'Varsity in the game with Hastings at the beginning of the season was kept up last Saturday, when eleven husky Trojans from Tarkio College were sent down to defeat by the score of 24-0. Taken as a whole it was a good exhibition of the great American college game. The visitors put up a good, snappy specimen of ball and one of which they can well be proud. When it is considered that there are only about two hundred students in the Missouri school and that of these a majority are of the weaker sex, the result seems all the more remarkable. The fact that they can come here and pay our team, a representative one of an institution ten times the size of their own, shows that they have a great advantage over us in some respect. The manager of their team was kind enough to explain to the Nebraskan how they could do it. He said that there was not a man in the institution that had not been out at some time during the fall with a foot ball suit doing his share for the honor of his school. This is a good place for some of our students to take a beneficial object lesson. If one fourth of the students here would do that, there would be such a revolution in the ball as has never been seen in the institution before.

In the beginning of the game, Tarkio took the ball and made a good kick, which Nebraska returned in the same manner nearly to their goal. This forced the Missourians to kick again, but it was a weak one and Cowgill had the ball and was torted back with it before they had time to collect themselves. They soon downed him, over which Benedict, Kingsbury, Pillsbury and Erwin were all given a chance to show what they could do. Each made a good gain and then Kingsbury was pushed across the line for a touch down. A murmur went among the bleachers and an occasional cry of "Hastings again!" was heard. Melford kicked goal as usual and the crowd took stretch No. 1.

The second touch down followed close upon the first and in about the same manner. This time it took just three minutes for the Nebraska boys to cross the enemies goal. I was made mostly by bucking the line and a few runs around the end. After "Uncle" Bill had gone through the regular side play that always nets one point, the score stood 12-0 in favor of the home team. The third proved to be of a more interesting character. Tarkio again had the kick off, in as much as we had been kind enough to score. For some reason, possibly because they had not forgotten the return kick which had been previously sprung upon them, they only gave it a small shove of ten yards, where Kingsbury had been waiting for it. Erwin now went at center in his usual feindish manner for a good gain. Cowgill kicked fifty yards which gave Tarkio the ball. They were unable to gain anything so resorted to a kick. Cowgill took it in like a fly goes at sugar. For some time after this neither side seemed able to do anything definite and the play was mostly in the center of the field. The 'Varsity finally succeeded in making another touch down by some fierce playing. From this time until the end of the half, the most noticeable feature of the game was the way in which Tarkio began to brace up. They put up a much stronger game from this time on and the spectators found that it was not Hastings after all. The half was called before any further scoring was done.

In the second half the improvement of the visitors was still more apparent. They continued to grow better until the end of the game. Time after time they struck our line for good gains. At the same time the playing of our team grew noticeably weaker. They seemed to be unable to hang together and their defensive work was far from good. Before the half was out they collected themselves enough to make their fourth touch down. This, with the goal that Melford kicked, ended the scoring of the game. Final result, Nebraska, 24; Tarkio, 0.

The Nebraskan is sorry to say that it must maintain that something is radically wrong with the team. Never before has such an abundance of good material been on hand as during the present season. We can not think that it is the coach, for never before have we had a more enthusiastic man to make our team. We say this latter with due respect to the men who have led our boys to victory in the past, Mr. Robinson, during his two seasons work here, won for himself a place in the hearts of every loyal Nebraska student. Being of such a different type of gentleman, from Mr. Yost, however it is almost impossible to compare the two. But the fact still remains that the team will have to learn to play together or we will not be able to keep the pennant in Lincoln another year.

The lineup of players in the game was as follows:

| Nebraska. | Position. | Tarkio. |
|-----------|------------|----------|

ATHLETIC BOARD.

At the last regular meeting, the athletic board called the attention of the foot ball committee to the rules adopted last year.

The honor of the University is pledged to the strict enforcement of these regulations. Nebraska stands alongside of Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and seven other leading institutions of the Middle West, bound as are the rest by the signature of her chief executive.

The rules are to be found on pp. 303 and 304 of the University Calendar.

For the guidance of the foot ball committee the board defined under rule 1:

"A bona fide student doing full work" to be a student carrying at least 14 hours. Such a student must have been doing this work for at least the first game in which he participates. This latter requirement could not be made retroactive.

Attention was called to rule VI also, a regulation which has been observed by the University in previous years before the adoption of these rules by the athletic board. The foot ball committee were directed to conform strictly to this rule.

It is the intention of the board to render the name of Nebraska synonymous with the word Honor, in sports as well as in all things. Finances have been put upon a strictly business basis, the make-up of teams will be maintained upon a basis as absolutely fair and equitable. In sports as elsewhere in the University upon solid, steady, strong intellectual work. We have no place here for sporty lounging triflers with University work. Places on teams belong to strong students and their rights shall not be interfered with. We can not imperil our University honor with other institutions by any slightest taint of professionalism or unfairness.

Half as many more men would have elected physical training but for the ultra strict enforcement of the rule as to the number of hours allowed.

Students recognize that physical training assists them in carrying their work. One of the ablest students in the University, physically and mentally, a man carrying two extra hours, not long since remarked that "he could carry twenty hours and physical training easier than sixteen without." Last year students were allowed to carry, this in addition to physical training, regular hours of mental labor. Last year the value of the health of the student was thus recognized. Why should it not be so this year?
