EDITORIAL NOTES.

Will instruction in boxing and fencing be given this year? Quite a number of students are anxiously awaiting the decision, which, if it is in the negative, will be a sore disappointment to them.

We wish to correct an error that occurred in the last issue of THE HESPERIAN. Professor Ingersoll comes to us from the chancellorship of the agricultural college at Fort Collins, Col., instead of coming from the University of Colorado. The agricultural college at Fort Collins is one of the best agricultural schools in the country.

We are extremely glad to announce that at last the athletic association has been completely and radically reorganized. Out of the chaos of former rules and traditions a good constitution has been adopted, and the affairs of the association have been put upon a much firmer financial basis. The systematic work in track athletics will improve our work in track athletics, and with our foot ball and base ball teams in constant practice we will soon be ready to meet the teams of institutions like the Minnesota state university or the R. S. U. Just wait 'til we get at 'em.

The opening of the law school marks an important event in the history of the University of Nebraska. Its faculty is composed of some of the ablest lawyers of the West. This department is thoroughly organized and will compare favorably with any of the law schools of the West. A small tuition fee of $35 per year is charged in order to defray the incidental expenses of the department, which fee, although small, will in time perhaps be dispensed with. The importance of such a department in the university is evident to every one, for it affords an opportunity for every young Nebraskan to gain a thorough knowledge of law, a thing which every citizen should have. What is an education without a general knowledge of the fundamental principles of law and of their applications? Those who have received their education and those who will receive their education at this institution are destined to rule this state, if not as legislators, yet as citizens. It is all important for the best interests of the state that such a department has been established and that it should receive
