Local Field Notes.

On Saturday, the 21st, the following records were made in the gymnasium. Some of these records are poor while others are good. It was necessary to hold the sports indoors on account of rain, and not all the contestants were present which accounts for the poor showing in several cases:

High kick—Lenhoff, 7 ft. 5 in.; Nelson, 7 ft. 3 in.
 Standing high kick—Thomas, 7 ft.; White, 7 ft.
 Standing broad jump—Thomas, 9 ft. 8 $\frac{3}{4}$ in.; White, 9 ft.
 Standing jump with weights—Thomas, 10 ft. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.; Chandler, 10 ft. 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.
 Putting shot—Flippin, 35 ft. 3 in.; White, 30 ft. 5 in.

 Running broad jump—Gerrard, 16 ft. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ in.; Chandler, 15 ft. 8 in.

On Tuesday afternoon the most important events were held. The races were especially good. The events and results were as follows:

One hundred yards dash—In the start Colson got a four foot lead. He was on the outside and the runners were cautioned to keep their positions of starting, but Colson made for the center, blocking Gerrard and Tefft. Tefft, 1; Gerrard, 2; Church, 3; Colson, 4; Shafer, 5; Talbot, 6; time, 10 2 5.

Three legged race, 100 yards—The harness of Lyons and McMullen broke when the men were about even:

The Story of the Specials.

Only specials with a weight of woe,
 That none but specials can ever know,
 'Tis a sorrowful tale, I must tell to you,
 It will not matter much if it isn't all true.

A long time ago, in the uni's green youth,
 Before it had e'en cut its first wisdom tooth,
 Two Eds (not co eds) with lips drawn and paled,
 First felt the dread force of that awful word—failed.

The co-eds cast on them most pitiful glances,
 And two papas at home cut down cash advances;
 But the regents declared, with a great show of prudence,
 "That the lads must remain and be special students."

The two bravely met their hard cruel fate,
 And solaced themselves by scratching the slate.
 They were granted two rights—not given to all—
 To skip class when they wished, and to talk in the hall.

I will not recount the whole evolution,
 For fear of a course of quick execution;
 But it was those two boys that bequeath us such woes,
 And I think it but right, a few here to expose.

The faculty never has bought us a yell,
 (A Cynic remarks that perhaps its as well,)
 The steward hasn't time to compose us a song,
 We could sing it at sight if the metre wasn't long.

We belong to no class, have no peaceful class meetings
 Where Gentile and Jew exchange such friendly greetings
 We have no Latin yell; still that does not bore us,
 For we're permitted to join in the "U. N. I." chorus.

The seniors look on us with top-lofty pride,
 For we'll get no sheep's skin with blue ribbon tied.
 All the rest—except those in whose classes we are,—
 O pine that our knowledge won't reach very far.

The profs all deplore our condition so sad,
 Yet declare that we've been the best students they've had
 For they know that no special e'er fail to pass,
 And though 'tis our right, we never skip, class.

The regents have hopes of improving the rest,
 By conforming their rights to those we've possessed;
 For all will be specials, deny it who can,
 When the University the Michigan plan.
