

Two Young Men Farmer Boys

decided to better their lot in life. One wanted to be a business man, the other an educator. Preparation was necessary of course. They

Invested $140 Each

at the Western Normal College, Lincoln, Neb. This sum paid the school expenses for one year of forty-eight weeks. They Secured A Good Education.

This was a life endowment and besides the pleasure, comfort, satisfaction and mental discipline to be derived from the education itself, it elevated them in the eyes of their fellow men.

They Now Earn
$2,000
A Year Each.

One as cashier of a national bank, and stockholder in two banks,—the other as professor in a leading western college. Both are model young men and have the confidence, respect and esteem of the business men, students and all classes of people with whom they are brought in contact. They attribute their success to the training received at the Western Normal College. This college has done a like service (in a greater or less degree) for its 12000 graduates. It can and will do it for you.

Are You in a Rut?

If so get out of it. For particulars as to when and how, send for portraits and histories of the above mentioned young men and many others. Make your decision to-day. Write at once.
