Friday evening the Union Society gave an enjoyable reception in their hall. Many new and old students were there and among the latter Mr. Geo. L. Sheldon. It did the old members good to see George again, and they found him as jolly as ever. The Unions all seemed to have a good old fashioned time and adjourned to meet next Friday.

Did it ever occur to you that we have right here in Nebraska the finest system of stores in the country outside of New York? We refer to Herpolsheimer & Co. A few years ago it seemed a great mistake, but they have built up so good a trade that they have over one-half of the Exposition building, rent free, thus enabling them to save this great item of expense in conducting a business.

The independents have bulided themselves a monument more lasting than brass in the unfinished library building which stands upon the campus like some Old World ruin or a last surviving relic of the Chicago fire. It has been made somewhat less of an eye-sore by the new roof, but is still a lasting reminder and memorial of the consummate meanness and sublime pig-headedness of the last legislature of the great People's Party.

Our New Professors.

The personnel of the faculty has been greatly changed during the past summer. Thirteen new professors and instructors have been engaged, some to fill vacancies, and others to occupy new positions made necessary by the increased attendance at the University. The board of regents are to be congratulated upon the wisdom of their choice, for, by selecting such able and enterprising men, the institution will stand more firmly in the front rank of western colleges. There is no better evidence of substantial growth in an educational institution than the addition of men of reputation to the faculty.
