

JOINT DEBATE.

The attendance at the joint debate in Union Hall the evening of November 2nd was not so large as the promoters of the debate desired. The snow storm, prep. socials, Uncle Tom's Cabin, and the adverse report from the Kansas City foot ball game, cut down the crowd at the debate to a half house. But the debaters had the satisfaction of seeing that none of those present demanded the return of their admission fee when the debate was over. The question was, "Resolved, that state legislatures should consist of one house only." Lambert, Williams and others of the Maxwell Club, spoke on the affirmative. Branch, Searson and other Unions spoke on the negative.

The general debate was witty and diverting, Maxwellians and Unions alternating in pounding each other into the earth. Mr. Wilson told a story of a whale—it was a "whale," which prompted Mr. Abbott to reply that lawyers invariably tell yarns when driven into a corner. One Lung, the Chinaman, was lugged into the debate and his heavenly virtues extolled. Mr. Cramb kicked foot ball with his customary vigor, and put in some solid shot for the affirmative. Hayward, McGuffie, Kinyon, Neal, Baker, Kuhlman and Short made telling speeches and received merited commendation.

Mr. Branch created considerable merriment by his closing speech in which he discussed with much vigor some phases of Nebraska politics. When he reached the climax of his eloquence and shouted, "I remember Patrick Henry," the effect was appalling. After a few words from Mr. Williams in which he reminded the audience what was the question under discussion, President Cain declared the meeting adjourned.

As one of the boys remarked after adjournment, "these here things are sort of interesting." Accordingly other debates will be held between the clubs during the school year. The embarrassment incident to the first debate having passed, subsequent debates will be held in the chapel if it can be secured, and co-eds will receive invitations tendered on silver salvers.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A.

Thirty-two members have been admitted to the Y. M. C. A. within the last six weeks.

Sunday, November 12th, the Y. W. C. A. held a special consecration meeting, led by Miss Mary Edwards.

John L. Marshall, '93, has returned from his work among the colleges of Kansas, and is now engaged in working up the Nebraska Y. M. C. A. state convention.

Miss Bouton led the regular meeting of the association on Sunday, November 5th. The subject was "The Model Association Girl." This was especially appropriate, as it was the first meeting which followed the convention.

Thirty-five of the members of the Young Mens' Christian Association have voluntarily banded themselves together as a "Morning Watch," promising to spend the first fifteen minutes, at least, of each morning in definite, earnest Bible study.

Over one hundred attended Prof. Sherman's Bible class last Sunday. The subject was the "Law of Survival." All students and their friends are invited to attend this class, which meets each Sunday at 3 p. m. in the chapel. Mr. Sherman will speak next Sunday on the "True Philosophy of Sabbath Keeping."
