

LOCAL.

The Senior caps and gowns are here.

Miss Pfeiffer visited friends in Wilber.

Miss Gardner made merry with friends in Omaha.

Miss Treat visited friends in the city after the holidays.

Misses Bruner and O'Sullivan made West Point rejoice.

Miss Heise spent the holiday recess at her home in Nebraska City.

Miss Gray welcomed New Year's callers at her home in Fremont.

Francis Tucker left the French class he loves and came home for the intermission.

Miss Loughridge spent the holiday recess with Miss Hopper, at her home near York.

Friday, January 11, Professor Sherman will give his lecture, "Spiritual Law in the Natural World," at Nebraska City.

Hoagland has been attending the legislature lobbying for a bill to compel the U. P. Railway to stop its tains at North Platte.

The problem of string to tie up history note-books was solved by an enterprising Senior girl who applied to the Chancellor for a supply of red tape.

The joint debate between the Maxwell Club and the Union Boys' Debating Club comes off Saturday, January 12. The question: "Resolved that the Initiative in Referendum, Modeled on the Swiss Plan, Should be Adopted in Nebraska," will be defended by Messrs. Edwards, Williams, Hatch and Paul, for Maxwell. Unions on the negative, Messrs. Lien, Baker, Newbranch, Maguire. This is to be a hot contest. You cannot afford to miss it.

Professor Burnett went to Texas to recuperate his strength during the intermission.

Union officers for this term: Miss Pound, president; Mr. Hoagland, vice president; Mr. McGuffey, secretary; Mr. Cameron, treasurer; Miss Melick, critic.

Palladian officers for the coming term are, viz.: Miss Gray, president; Miss Bell, vice-president; Miss Thompson, secretary; Mr. Moody, critic; Mr. Reed, treasurer; Miss Pollard, music secretary.

Glory "comes high" in more ways than one to the class in colloquial German. Up among the clouds they sit, on examination day, and recite five advance lessons, that the next year's class may read the record: "We finished the text-book before vacation."

At a meeting of the baseball team composed of last years' players, Barnes, Randolph, Packard, Benedict, Heald, Raymond and Hayward, Heald was unanimously elected captain for the coming year.

Wednesday evening, December 19th, the Glee Club gathered together in the chapel and gave the Dairymen an entertainment that was heartily appreciated, as the students who were trying to study in the library testify.

The Union Musicale was a tremendous success. The societies appreciate the readiness of conservatory students to comply with their frequent requests scarcely less than the excellence of their work.

A beautiful oak panel has just been placed in the Conservatory, over the front door, with a carved inscription which does great credit to those who performed the work. It was done under the direction of Misses Parker and Barbour, with the assistance of the Misses Haws, M. Cornell and Rogers. It will long remain in its present position as their tribute to art, and is highly appreciated by the conservatory.