EDITORIAL.

OUR esteemed contemporary took occasion, early in the year, to indulge in characteristic pleasantry over the non-appearance of a number of THE HESPERIAN. The "esteemed" missed publication last week entire. "Editors flunked, F. T. R." Judge not, lest ye be also judged.

FROM indications at the present writing it appears that the University will be granted an increase of income of about $60,000 per annum, by the present legislature. This is not nearly what we had hoped for—hardly more than will suffice during the next two or three years for the completion of the new library building. It is, however, much better than nothing, and so, "For what we are about to receive let us be duly grateful."

WE regret extremely our inability to publish the orations written by request by several representative students. They were crowded out by the necessity of printing Mr. Crawford's most excellent "open letter," which, we feel sure, will be an explanation entirely satisfactory to their writers. As to Mr. Crawford's letter, read it carefully. It comes from one who has had much experience in athletic matters, and who has the welfare of our University at heart.

THE HESPERIAN wishes, and wishes hard, that every man, woman and child, every professor, co-ed., senior, junior, freshman and "prep." in the University, and every alumnus out of it, that owes it a dollar or a half dollar on subscription, would settle the
