WHEN THE MAN IN THE MOON GOES TO SLEEP.

The following song, composed and sung by "Bob" Manley at the glee club concert, made quite a hit, and we take great pleasure in publishing it:

A great many strange things I'm sure we will meet
When the man in the moon goes to sleep;
In the street cars the girls will thank you for your seat,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
In the class-rooms professors will let in some air,
Keene Abbott will get a new cut on his hair,
And Lincoln will get the Nebraska State Fair,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.

CHORUS.

When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
I say but its queer all the things that you hear,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
In summer the students will keep off the grass,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
We'll all go to chapel and never skip class,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
The Freshmen who live on the farms by the Platte,
Won't always be hoping that they'll be a frat,
And in winter McNeil will not wear a straw hat,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.

CHORUS.

When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
'Twill knock all the starch from the Honey-moon March,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
The girls will choose street cars instead of a hack,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
In foot-ball Dean Gardner will play quarter back,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
The blooming "high private" in the rear rank perhaps,
Wont wear his duck pants with a fur winter cap,
And the ball team at Wahoo won't get in a scrap,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.

CHORUS.

When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
When the man in the moon goes to sleep!
Your white ducks I think when they wash will not shrink,
When the man in the moon goes to sleep.
