

The management of the law department has arranged for several interesting lectures on various subjects by the present judges of our district court, Hall, Holmes and Tibbetts, Jno. C. Watson of Nebraska City and others.

W. W. Wilson was circulating a petition last week the purport of which was to change the hour of recitation of the Senior class which at present is from 4:30 to 6 o'clock p. m. This hour is of course very inconvenient for the foot-ball boys. It is understood that the petition was of no avail.

The new quarters for the law school are a great improvement upon those of last year. The library attachment is of untold value not only allowing law students exclusive use of the books, but saving much time and labor in turning to references during recitation hours.

The law department intends to make some of the academic students hustle for a place on the Kansas-Nebraska debate. It has given formidable representatives registered for the local contest. They are, A. J. Weaver, W. L. Williams, "Dad" Coleman, J. W. Rodgers, A. C. Mayer and Mr. Castor.

The Maxwell club held its first meeting last Saturday for the purpose of electing officers and arranging work for the ensuing year. Dean Reese and Judge Wilson were both present and favored the club with interesting addresses, impressing upon the minds of those present the importance of society work and the benefits resulting from early training in public speaking. The following officers were elected: President, P. A. Powers; vice president, Mr. Castor; secretary, Mr. Farr; treasurer, Mr. Koenigstein; sergeant-at-arms, A. C. Mayer. The meeting was quite well attended and the enthusiasm manifest indicates a successful year. It will be remembered that last year the club arranged for several joint debates with local debating associations, each of which was carried out successfully. Such a policy this year would undoubtedly be a beneficial one to the club.

The opening address to the students of the college of law was given Monday evening, October 7, by Congressman Hainer. He is an interesting speaker and his words of advice were keenly appreciated by his audience. Dean Reese made one of those characteristic speeches by means of which he long ago won the hearts of his pupils. Judge Webster and others followed in speeches full of advice and encouragement. The only criticism we have to offer is that the law boys are not loyal enough to events of this kind that occur in connection with their department. The attendance at this, the opening address, was not what it should have been. It is upon the interest the students take in the affairs of the college of law that its standing in the University depends.

The following resolutions were passed by the Palladian society last Friday night. Resolutions to the memory of W. H. Young by the members of the Palladian Literary society of the U. of Neb.:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our dear brother, W. H. Young; therefore be it

Resolved, That in his loss we recognize that we are bereft of a faithful worker and a true friend of the society.

Resolved, That we express our heartfelt sympathy with his parents in their almost inconsolable grief; and that these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Palladian society, published in the college papers and a copy be sent to his parents.

The following resolutions were unanimously adapted at the last regular meeting of the senior class.

Whereas, an all wise providence has taken from us our beloved secretary and fellow class mate, George Ernest Tufts; And,

Whereas, We recognize in Mr. Tufts, not only a painstaking and thorough student but a gentleman and a friend; Therefore be it,

Resolved, That we, the class of '96 of the University of Nebraska, extend to the parents and family of the deceased, our most heart felt sympathy in this their affliction; And be it further,

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the class, and a copy sent to the parents of our deceased member.

CHAS. C. PULIS,

MISS MARY HORNE,

LUTHER J. ABBOTT JR.
