

"A PROGRAM by the degenerates" says the Monitor,—which doubtless explains McNeal's anxiety to become a member.

Special attention given to hair dressing, shampooing, manicuring, and face treatment, for clear complexion, also a large assortment of hair goods, ornaments, back combs and side combs. 1114 O st., Mrs. Gosper.

Prof. Adams and the seniors held protracted meeting Monday afternoon. The professor does not want them to forget that there are such things as senior orations—three per year due as prescribed by the department. Directions were given as to what constitutes an oration.

Prof. Williams gave one of his entertaining recitals October 15, in the Y. M. C. A. hall. This is the first of a series of six which he proposes to give during the winter, opening each with a sketch of some noted orator and his style of oratory. The first recital included a sketch of Richard Beardsley Sheridan.

Mr. Bradt who is assisting Prof. Adams in the business management of the Nebraska Literary Magazine informs us that this publication is now in the hands of the printer. Everyone can feel assured that under the present efficient management, the magazine will lose nothing in appearance or literary excellency. This is the best advertisement the U. of N. has ever had and should be loyally supported.

Mr. Clarke, the manager of the race meeting to be held at Lincoln Park, October 28, 29, 30, 31 and November 1, informs the Hesperian that the registration of the very best horses in the United States is progressing. Everything now points to the best races ever held in Nebraska. The association recognizing the vast number of students in Lincoln and vicinity, has determined to have a students day, on which admission will be cut in two for all students. This would be a good occasion for the U. of N. to turn out en masse with scarlet and cream.

Mrs. Hendee, formerly Miss Elizabeth Russell of the U. of N., was a welcome visitor at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Sunday. Also Miss Metra Crandall, a former student and active Y. W. worker came to bid the Y. W.'s. good bye. She expects to make Los Angeles, Cal., her home in the near future.

For the first time in the history of our University one of its graduates has been given a position at Harvard. Mr. Geo. W. Botsford '84, has been appointed a lecturer in Greek history at that institution. Mr. Botsford was for some time a professor of Greek at Bethney, West Virginia, and his selection as one of the Harvard professors is only an acknowledgment of his conscientious hard work and the thoroughness of his preparation.

Mr. Emerson McNitt, whom students will remember as one of the strongest advocates for the University appropriation among the members of the last legislature, has his picture in the September Arena. Mr. McNitt was one of the leading workers for the social purity law which finally passed the legislature in a form entirely satisfactory to the league which has this work in hand. It is in connection with this bill that a very complimentary sketch of him is given. We should all feel proud of Mr. McNitt for he was one of us a few years ago.

"What on earth! Gee whiz! Blow me if it ain't a regular Frankenstein!" exclaimed an explosive youth as he saw a strange, wierd object coming down the sidewalk toward him. He got behind a tree, and Nebraska's amateur Thespian, Legal Light, Social Struggler, Gilded Fool, Banjo Fiend, Shy Youth, Quarter-back, Princess Pocahontas, Polite Maid and Musical Genius, all boiled down into one large bumpy gob, lumbered facetiously past, smoking a composite cigarette.
