The editors are in receipt of a communication from Prof. Sherman in which he says that the Hesperian was mistaken in referring to him as being responsible for the idea of instituting a holiday in honor of our college settlement. We are glad to be able to make the correction. Dr. Sherman says that he is responsible for the suggestion that each student of the university make a five cent contribution to help carry forward the settlement work. He says that many students have already responded to the call of the committee upon this plan, and he wants to know if the HESPERIAN will spare space to make the movement more widely known. This the HESPERIAN most willingly consents to do.

U. B. D. C. versus Doane.

The first contest in the series of debates with Doane college, will be held on Saturday night in the university chapel.

This will be an interesting debate on a live question,—Resolved: "That a written constitution will subserve the welfare of a nation better than an unwritten one." Our boys will put up a strong debate, and we expect to meet able representatives from Doane. The U. B. D. C. is represented by Chas. Kuhlman, H. A. Meier, John Maguire and R. S. Baker.

Two of these men have a record from the Kansas-Nebraska preliminaries and all of them are strong men in the club. Those who have heard these men in other contests know what they can do under fire, and may expect to see their metal tested by worthy opponents. The two debates held with Doane last year were a success, and we have reason to expect still better work this year.

A few numbers of good music will be given, so the program will be both interesting and instructive.

We believe there is a true college spirit aroused in the interest of debating; let us keep it up and welcome our visitors with a large and appreciative audience. The debate will begin promptly at 8 p. m.
