One of the saddest accidents that we have been called upon to chronicle, occurred last Saturday. The Doane team was playing the Kansas boys at Lawrence. During the game, Bert T. Serf, Doane's quarter-back, made a very violent tackle. He was thrown backward, his head striking the ground. He never regained consciousness but died a few hours after the game.

Serf was an exceptionally gritty player and a manly fellow. His death has cast a gloom over Doane College that will not soon be lifted.

Three fatalities have resulted from injuries on the gridiron this season. One at Indianapolis last Saturday, another at the Shattuck Military Academy, Minn., about a month ago.

The debaters have chosen the following question for the final contest:

"Resolved, That the law-enacting power of Great Britain is superior to that of the United States."

They will speak in the following order, Maguire, Green, Dennison, Piper, Barr, Meier, Baker, Killen. The first speaker has the choice between fifteen consecutive minutes and twelve minutes for opening with five minutes for closing the debate.

The following lights were bid under the bushel of the legal fraternity last Saturday evening: J. D. Smith, Ward Hildreth, Fred Dufree, G. W. Green, Sidney True and Ernest Ames.
