

Work of Cupid.

Mr. F. W. Faurot, a popular member of the class of '97, committed matrimony this summer. The other heart made happy was that of Miss Charlotte Burrows. Both claim Rising City as their home. They have the congratulations of a large circle of friends.

The Chancellor's Welcome.

Last Saturday morning the students were formally welcomed to the university, when the Chancellor gave his annual opening address. In a few well chosen remarks the Chancellor welcomed the students on behalf of the members of the faculty and then gave some advice as to the conduct of all students. He urged upon all the fulfilment of the bond which binds us together as an institution, the bond of honor. Honor is the watch word of the university, the motto of every student. He urged loyalty to our University, to our professors and to our work.

The change in the order of chapel exercises is most acceptable, and makes them much more attractive and impressive than they were ever before. As usual the students gave vent to their enthusiasm by clapping as the different members of the faculty entered at the new stage entrance. The exercises were closed with the college yell, given with a spirit characteristic of the Nebraska students.

Howard Posting under Caldwell!

A certain university publication which, but last year, aspired to be the "official organ" of the university, announced last week that Prof. Howard was here to take post work in American history under Prof. Caldwell. We do not give the following solely for the benefit of the staff of that paper, for it is possible it will be of interest to preparatory students and some of our eastern exchanges.

Prof. Howard graduated from the Peru state normal with the class of '71. He entered the University in 1872 and graduated in 1876. He went to Europe and studied at Munich university for two years. He returned to America in 1878 and began teaching history here in the university. In 1891 he was called to the head of the history department in Leland Stanford university. He is now away from there on leave of absence. Leland Stanford has a system that every seven years a professor may retire one year on half pay, provided he study. Prof. Howard is writing a book of two volumes on the "History of Marriage." He will use the library here for a while, then he will go to the congressional library at Washington D. C. and also to the Harvard university library.

Of Interest to Cadets.

Two hundred and eighty students have registered for drill. Of this number one hundred and fifty are new recruits.

A formal meeting of the Pershing Rifles will not be called until the organization of the Battalion has been completed.

Lieut. Jackson has obtained a list of all students who have neglected to register for drill and will report them to the proper authorities. Students will not be excused except for good reasons. Some students invent trivial excuses in order to avoid drilling. This is an injustice to the men who drill and will not be tolerated by the new commandant.

The number of old men registered in the different companies are in the order B. A. C. D.—or the same order as they ranked in the Competitive drill.

Bixby Slops Over.

The Chancellor has shown artistic skill
About the new chapel door;
Deep red, emerald green, blue and gold
Cover the soiled walls o'er;
Glittering colors meet the eye
Yet some the beauties will not share
For in all this great display of paint
They find no silver there.
