

THE HESPERIAN
BIXBY'S RETREAT.

Oh yah! oh yah! oh yah! oh yah!
I've shust bean ovah to Omaha!

I've been to see the world boiled down,
I've been to Omaha,
I'm now the wisest man in town
I've been to Omaha.
I paid to enter at the gates;
I've been to Omaha,
(Please notice if the paper states;
I've been to Omaha.)
I've seen our worthy President,
I've been to Omaha,
And Cairo's oldest resident,
I've been to Omaha.
They say I've fallen in awful pits,
I've been to Omaha,
They say my head is full of slits (Schlitz)
I've been to Omaha.
There's pain within my wrinkled brow,
I've been to Omaha,
Don't ask me for my board bill now,
I've been to Omaha.

IN THE FALL.

Like a pall,
Some folk find this russet season
Full of gloom
Tattered raiment all trees on

And a loom
Weaving shrouds each passing breeze on—
Summer's doom,
In the fall,
But for all,
Here between my face and paper
While I grind,
Fancy sees the wood-leaves caper
Down the wind,
And I deem the Royal Shapes
Wondrous kind
In the fall.
Sunflowers tall
By the roadside stark and blackened
Stand and nod,
On the hills with pulses slackened
Golden rod,
Yellow, gleams o'er driest 'track and
Searest sod,
In the fall.
Wild fowls call.
Overhead the V of geese is
And a haze
Dims the sun and sweltering ceases
And I gaze,
Rich as ever Old King Croesus
Through the days,
In the fall.
