R. W. Thatcher came up from Beatrice last week. He says the classes in chemistry and physics are large and flourishing. Mr. Thatcher registered for chemistry fifteen before he went home.

Miss Katherine Melick, well known for her work in English and English Literature at the University, returned for a few days from Red Oak, Iowa, where she has charge of high school work.

The Foot Ball Vaudeville, Chapel Dec. 9.

The rehearsals for the vaudeville show give promise of a splendid performance the night of December 9. The foot ball team is sorely in need of financial aid and the vaudeville will no doubt decrease the deficit largely. Everything will be strictly along vaudeville lines. Stebbins will give a startling exhibition of club swinging and juggling; Sumner and Sherman have a decidedly original act entitled "The Blind Bard and the Digital Draughtsman;" Cuscadden and Manchester have a good turn full of songs and hits. Lincoln will appear as premier dansense in a decidedly daring and striking costume. Besides these a trick bicycle turn, a ventriloquist act, a musical specialty and several other good things are booked.

The olio will bring out a full chorus. The scene is laid in a student's room and what plot there is hinges upon the result of the Kansas- Nebraska foot ball game. A full complement of the popular "rag time" choruses will be introduced and a challenge cake-walk presided over by Shorty Turner of foot ball fame. Don't fail to see the college vaudevillians.

Circumstances prevent our going to Manila this winter but Frank Roberson proposes bringing Manila to us on next Tuesday evening at the Oliver. He reached Manila September 7, having gone there for the purpose of securing material for an up-to-date, illustrated representation of scenes and conditions in the Philippine Islands. He returned to America on the Oriental liner Olympia, reaching Tacoma November 22 only a week ago. The material secured is exceedingly rich and interesting. He lunched with Admiral Dewey on board the flag-ship Olympia and will tell us of his talk, and impression of that hero; he was entertained on shore by General Otis and in the interior by the Filipino President, Paterno, whom he considers a most remarkable man; had interviews and photographed staff Generals and the rank in file of the insurgent troops; visited all the Spanish wrecks and photographed them; secured fine pictures of the Olympia and other American vessels; visited our own soldier boys from the different states and photographed them, secured views of the battle fields and was the guests of prominent Filipinos and has pictures of them and of their homes. He is prepared to tell of the customs, costumes, and the country in general and to picture all he has to tell. A group of Nebraska boys will be shown in which he thinks are some of our own boys from Co. D. The views will be projected by a first class double dissolving stereopticon, manipulated by an expert operator that Mr. Roberson has had with him in his various lecture tours for several years. The seats go on sale Saturday morning at 10 sharp and the capacity of the house should be taxed to its limit.
