

...doing so. Cuscadden and Manchester who followed gave the crowning point of the show in fun. Miss Manchester, in her sweet soprano, sang the beautiful ballad "Ben Bolt" while Mr. Cuscadden called on Professor Frye for a smoke. They were repeatedly encored and kept the crowd in a roar during their act.

The closing number "Olio" had its scene in a fraternity's rooms where the boys had wagered all their money on the Kansas foot-ball game. They were in hot water over their debts but avoided most bills by referring the collector to the college settlement. The chorus was good and Messrs Mueller and Reed made a hit in the song, "Let Me Bring My Clothes Back Home."

Mr. Turner, the handsome red headed coon presided over the cake walk. Miss Walsh, the landlord's jaunty daughter, deserves special mention in the cake walk.

Men in athletics are now being examined with the new dynamometer.

C. M. Barr was elected track manager at the last meeting of the athletic board.

F. L. Rain has resigned as base ball manager and his successor will be elected next Monday.

A game was scheduled for tonight with Doane but was forfeited to us because the only available hall in Crete could not be secured.

Hastings Y. M. C. A. ball team wishes to play a game at the University en route to Omaha where they will play the Y. M. C. A. team.

The challenge for an indoor athletic contest has been received from the Omaha Y. M. C. A. and will probably be accepted. It will take place in Omaha.

The second preliminary athletic contest took place last Saturday. The winners in standing broad jump were Pillsbury 9 feet 1 1/2 inches; Cowgill 8 feet 11 1/2 inches; Hoard 8 feet 8 1/2 inches.

The next basket-ball game in the Triangular league will take place at Wesleyan next Monday evening. It is to be hoped that a good sized crowd will go out to represent the University on the benches.

The first game of the Triangular basket ball league was played in the Armory between Wesleyan and U. of N. Tuesday night. The University won by a score of 37 to 5. The game was not so one-sided as the score appears, for the Wesleyan boys put up a brisk game. The line up was as follows: Wesleyan: forwards, Wulff, Clark; center, Slater; backs, Smith (Capt), Ohlston. U. of N: forwards, Story, Cortelyou; center, Moore; backs, W. E. Andreson (Capt.), R. D. Andreson.

The Palladian Alumni Program.

Regardless of the merry making in the chapel, many people climbed the stairs and crowded Palladian hall Friday evening. The occasion was the annual program given by the Alumni members of that society. Mrs. A. W. Field presided over the meeting. Mrs. Allen sat at the secretary's desk, while Professor Fossler posed as critic. The numbers ran with wit, yet there was a seriousness and a meaning underneath it all which gave every number its right to exist. Mr. Barrett opened the program and carried the audience with him into the past. He then brought out Vol. 1, No. 1 of the University Hesperian Student, published many years ago by the members of the Palladian Literary Society; a little four page paper it was but the forerunner of a weekly, college journal. Judge Eolme's speech had for its theme "The principles we stand for." Among other things he said "I am proud of my membership in one of those societies which have ever stood for the people of this commonwealth." Mr. Will O. Jones spoke on the "Pall Slate." He had first seen that interesting member in the fall of 1882. The following spring he had charge of that valuable sheet and he described minutely one adventure with it that brought repeated cheers from the audience. At the end he toasted the slate "A long and healthy life." Carl Tucker of Omaha sang and responded to the encore "Because I Love You, Dear."

Mr. T. F. A. Williams in his inimitable manner gave the valedictory, "Over the Alps lies Italy." Professor Fossler took advantage, although there was no reason for his doing so, of his place on the program and got a last word with the speakers of the evening.

Mrs. A. J. Morris and Miss Clara Dimick were with us, each rendering a very beautiful and difficult composition. Walter's Prize Song, Wagner and Rubenstein's Kammenoi Ostrow.

Librarian Barrett of the Historical Library, received a fine collection from Ed. Whitcomb, editor of the Friend Telegraph, last Saturday. The collection was exhibited in the Nebraska building at the Omaha exposition. It consists chiefly of war relics together with some Indian relics collected around Friend. The exhibit will be of special interest to the G. A. R. as it contains some good war remembrances. Among them is a mourning badge worn by the secretary of war for sixty days after Lincoln's death. Limbs of trees taken from the battle fields show how effective and plentiful bullets were.

Miss Mabel Tuttle and her mother left Wednesday for New Mexico to spend the winter. Miss Tuttle's health has been very poor for some time, and she has recently been compelled to give up her position on the Northwestern Journal of Education, where she has been employed since she left her place in the executive offices of the University. Miss Tuttle for eight or nine years was connected with the University, and in such capacity she became known and loved by each and every student who had occasion to ask her aid and advice. The good wishes of the student body go with her on her present trip. May she return to us invigorated by the change of climate, and made well and strong.
