

The short musical given in the chapel last Friday morning was well attended. All the numbers received deserved applause. Those who rendered the program were Silence Dales, Eleanor Raymond and John Martin.

The department of zoology has received a consignment of microscopes from E. Litz & Co. of Wetzlar, Germany, and also another consignment of miscellaneous apparatus from Drs. Peter and Rost, Berlin.

The Union literary society gave a Kipling program last Friday evening. Some very fine selections were rendered and many new and valuable facts concerning Kipling were brought out. During the program E. A. Boostrom rendered the "Recessional."

Professor Fossler has given to the university library a set of Goethe's works in twenty volumes and of Schiller's works in twenty-four volumes. Gifts of this kind from members of the faculty and alumni are not so numerous as would seem natural.

The law students of both classes met in the lecture room Tuesday night to practice the law school yell. They then proceeded to the Oliver theatre, where a republican ratification meeting was in progress, and concluded their noisy demonstrations of enthusiasm.

The members of the preparatory chemistry class unanimously voted to deduct ten cents from the deposit of $6 made by each member for the purpose of buying reference books. As the class is very large the fund will be sufficient to secure several very helpful books.

New shelving has been put in on the north side of the library, where newly bound copies of the following magazines have been correctly catalogued and arranged: Quarterly Review, London literary magazine, Edinburgh Review, MacMillan's and the Fortnightly Review.

The greatest feast of musical and intellectual good things ever seen in Lincoln is offered in the Y. M. C. A. course. The famous London glee singers and the Boston ladies' symphony orchestra of twenty-three members are among the attractions. One dollar for ten numbers.

At a meeting of the Maxwell club Saturday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: A. I. Boys, president; E. R. Morrison, vice president; C. J. Platt, secretary; N. C. Abbott, treasurer; H. C. Traphagen, sergeant-at-arms. The meeting was called to order by Vice President O'Conner. Much enthusiasm characterized the meeting throughout.

Wayne A. Larrabee, who was in the university from 1895 to 1897, died Wednesday morning at San Francisco of smallpox. He was a corporal in Company M, First South Dakota regiment. He and the late Captain Jonas Lien were the only university students who were in the South Dakota regiment. Mr. Larrabee's home is at Rapid City, South Dakota, but his body cannot be sent there for burial.

The Union Boys' Debating club held a very interesting debate Saturday evening. The question discussed was, "Resolved, That the action of the British in South Africa is justifiable." The leaders on the affirmative, Messrs. T. Maxwell and Fox; on the negative, Hawxby and Phillips. The Palladian boys sent in several baskets of apples during the meeting, for which, after much discussion, the U. B. D. C. refused to return thanks.

A meeting was called for Friday evening to organize a non-partisan Reese club. A large number of students met in the law room to discuss the situation at the time named and a ticket was finally elected. Later in the evening certain members considered that the election had not been exactly
