

ORGAN TO BE DEDICATED.

Clarence Eddy, for many years acknowledged as chief among American organists, has, through his brilliant and wonderfully successful concert work in Europe in recent years, established himself pre-eminently among the greatest organ virtuosos of the world.

Of his playing no more need be said than was contained in the testimonial given him by the great German master, August Haupt: "In organ playing the performances of Mr. Eddy are worthy to be designated as eminent, and he is undoubtedly the peer of the greatest living organists."

Clarence Eddy was born June 23, 1851, in Greenfield, Mass., and began his musical education at the age of 11. In 1867 he studied under Dudley Buck at Hartford, Conn., and from 1868 to 1871 was organist of Bethany church, Montpelier, Vt. Then he went to Berlin and studied under August Haupt and Albert Loeschhorn. Returning to this country in 1874 he became organist of the First Congregational church of Chicago, and after two years went to the First Presbyterian church, where he was organist and choirmaster for seventeen years. In 1876 he became general director of the Hershey school of musical art at Chicago, and gave there his famous series of one hundred organ recitals without any repetitions. Mr. Eddy has played at the Vienna exposition in 1873; Centennial exposition, Philadelphia, in 1876; Paris exposition in 1889 and the World's fair at Chicago in 1893, and concertized in the chief American and European cities with distinguished success.

Mr. Eddy will dedicate the new university pipe organ in the armory of the university February 25. It is urged that as many students as possible will attend this opening, as it is hoped that the final payment on the instrument may come from the proceeds.
