Alumni Bulletin.

Miss Edna Polk, '98 is assistant in the Library at Lincoln, Nebr.

H. O. Senter and Harry Benedict of Omaha, and C. N. Hinds of Beatrice, visited the University at Charter time.

Ned C. Abbott in the Sunday State Journal, Feb. 18, reviews Dr. L. A. Sherman's Macbeth just published by Henry Holt & Co.

Horace G. Whitmore will leave Lincoln soon for Nebraska City where he has accepted a position on J. Sterling Morton's "Conservative."

Albert Fussey is now a prosperous man in Evanston, Ill. His name has appeared recently in a number of important transactions in Evanston realty.

Miss Jean Tuttle, '98, formerly a student at the University, was elected recently to the position of mathematics teacher in the South Omaha high school.

Memorial services for the late Dr. Leon M. Solomons, instructor in Philosophy at the University, were held in the Chapel.

Guy Livingston, a former student of The University of Nebraska, a member of Company M, First Nebraska, who was killed in the battle of Santa Mesa, February 5, 1899, was buried at Plattsmouth Saturday.

Over sixty new students entered the University of Nebraska the second semester. Six Seniors graduated at the mid winter Commencement, Charter time. There were nine who could have graduated at this time but preferred to remain and take their degree in June.

M. A. Miller, Law '97, is now County Attorney of Franklin county having been elected in November '98. He has lived in this county for twenty years, and one of his big cases was the Kriethbaum murder case. He writes "I have been in office, like the practice of law and recommend the U. of N. Law School."

Dr. Samuel Avery, '92, now professor of chemistry in the University of Idaho, reports that the regents have just made a large additional appropriation for chemical apparatus for his department. This coming so soon after his appointment is taken as a good indication that he is doing his work in a satisfactory way.

The University of Nebraska Club of Chicago has postponed its annual dinner until April 7th, at which time there will be a great love feast of University people in and around Chicago. It is hoped that a number of the faculty of the University, Ex-Regent Esterbrook, Acting Chancellor Bessey and others will be present. Mr. Harvey B. Hicks writes, "The delay does not mean a poor dinner—rather the reverse."

A. M. Keys, Law '93, would be pleased to hear from any of that class with whom he is not now in communication. He himself practiced in his home town, Cambridge, for three years after he left Lincoln, and then removed to Beaver City, Nebr., and formed a partnership with Mr. C. M. Kelley which still exists. He is married and has two children, a boy and a girl.

Ernest R. Holmes, writing from Paris to the State Journal of Feb. 18th, writes very entertainingly of the cost of a trip to Paris the coming summer. He says it will be more this year than in normal times and that there will be no chance to earn money, and that there is a general increase of prices in Paris already. The only safe plan will be to take enough money to pay all expenses.

Trained civil engineers from The University of Nebraska have been constantly in demand by the government and railroad companies. Among the undergraduates who have recently left the University to accept such positions are: Fred B. Ryons, who went to Havana, Cuba, to fill a position in the government corps of engineers; S. D. Clinton, A. T. Groff, E. S. Shinbur and G. H. Tinker, all of whom left to accept similar positions with the Burlington Railway Company.

Among the bodies of soldiers brought to San Francisco from Manila on the Peking last week were Horace L. Faulkner and Arthur C. Sims. Both were privates in Company F, First Nebraska. Adjutant General Barry notified Quartermaster Long at San Francisco to send H. L. Faulkner's body to his mother, Mrs. H. B. Wilkinson, at Western, Neb., and the body of A. C. Sims to S. J. Arnett, Madison, Neb. Both of these soldiers died of disease in the hospital at Manila in the fall of 1898.

The paper on "Literature of India," by Dean A. H. Edgren, Ph. D., of The University of Nebraska, recently published in the home study circle column of the Chicago Record, is of interest to all lovers of literature, and should be of interest to all students. The paper shows that although this literature is very old it reveals some beautiful sentiment. The Hindoo literature, though largely religious and philosophical, is also in no small degree secular. The poems which the people sang to their gods are good evidence of their aesthetic spirit.

University Charter Day.

The thirty-first annual Charter Day exercises were held February 14th and 15th. Wednesday evening Dean S. W. Williston, school of medicine, University of Kansas, gave the annual address before the society of Sigma Xi, in the University Chapel. Thursday morning the Phi Beta Kappa initiation and address by the president occurred in the parlors of the University School of Music. During the afternoon all departments of the University were open to the public. A concert was given by the cadet band, the Pershing Rifles were reviewed by the Governor and his staff, and afterwards gave a special drill. From four to six o'clock the annual indoor athletic contest and exhibition occurred in the Gymnasium. The programme Thursday evening at the Oliver theatre was as follows:

- Overture—"Poet and Peasant".....
University Cadet Band.
- Invocation.
- Overture—"Academic Songs," Suppe.
The University Orchestra.
- Charter Day Oration—"Facing the Twentieth Century".....
Ex-Chancellor Allen R. Benton.
- Violin Solo—"Grande Fantaisie," De Beriot..... Miss Silence Dales.
- Conferring of Degrees.
- Patriotic Hymn—"America."

Seven candidates received degrees at this time, the mid-winter Commencement.
