Last Saturday's State Journal contains an able editorial concerning the deterioration of the Yellowstone national park, based upon the observations of Prof. E. H. Parbour. Last season he made one of his numerous trips to that wonderland, and was surprised to find that some of the most striking displays of five years ago had dwindled away, while others were not nearly so energetic as before. He advises all who do not want to miss too much of the beauty of the geysers to visit them within five or ten years at most.

PALLADIAN BOYS' PROGRAM.

Last Friday evening Palladian hall was filled to hear the annual boys' program. The whole affair was well planned and successfully carried out. Papers and original poems were read, the best being a poem on soldier life by Mr. Hunting. The quartet sang a few special songs for the edification of the girls. Interspersed throughout the program were phonograph selections consisting of songs, talking records, and instrumental pieces. These afforded endless amusement and made a long program seem very short.

At the conclusion of this literary and musical feast, the surprise of the evening was sprung. Refreshments were brought out from an adjoining room and a regulation "feed" was enjoyed till only the wreckage was left of a large amount of ice cream, cake, oranges and candies.

We are now teaching Gregg Shorthand by mail, giving two lessons per week for four months for $15.00, and we furnish all books required. In this length of time students are expected to be able to write at least one hundred words per minute from new matter, something which would require eight or ten months time in any other standard system. For particulars write the Omaha Commercial College, Omaha, Neb.

FACULTY RULE OF COLLEGE DISCIPLINE.

Two students concerned in a disturbance on the evening of February 24, have been placed under college discipline for the remainder of the academic year.

The faculty rule relating to discipline is as follows:

"A student under college discipline shall not be allowed to hold a scholarship, to compete for prizes or other college honors, to hold a position in connection with the college periodicals, to take part—either with students or with other persons—in any public theatrical or musical performance or any public athletic contest, or to hold any official position in connection with any of the dramatic, musical or athletic organizations. —Brown Herald.

In two years from now there will be a large percentage of practical stenographers using Gregg Shorthand, simply because it is so much easier than any other system to learn, and because of its simplicity, legibility, and speed. Students are able to write from 100 to 125 words per minute in three months in Gregg Shorthand. It is now taught at the Omaha Commercial College, Omaha, Neb.
