The dedicatory exercises of the new chapel will probably not take place until Charter day, when the new pipe organ will be formally presented and dedicated by the alumni association. It is intended to make the latter event one of considerable moment in the University circles.

The Y. M. C. A. has organized a special membership committee of twenty-eight men, whose duty it will be to try to secure one hundred and fifty new men by Christmas. If this number can be secured our University Y. M. C. A. will then rank second in the United States.

The cold weather and the snow ended the golf season. Many University students have been among the best players. Edwin Morrison, '98, lately made a score of 41. The best woman's score so far is 53, made by Miss Louise Pound, who never handled a golf club until this fall.

Fines are now imposed in the shops and are deducted from the deposits when students are careless in putting away tools and cleaning up the work benches. The results are very satisfactory. Benches are kept neater, tools are less liable to be injured, and the students learn to be orderly and systematic in their work.

The last number of "Archives de Parasitologie," a scientific magazine issued in Paris, contains a biography of Dr. Joseph Leidy, by Dr. Ward. Dr. Leidy is one of the most famous of American comparative anatomists. The article is illustrated by a full page portrait and contains a fac simile of a letter written by Dr. Leidy.

Professor Barbour delivered a lecture on the Yellowstone Park, at Humbolt, Saturday evening. It was given under the auspices of the High School Athletic Association of that place. Mr. Hunter accompanied him and had charge of the lantern. The lecture was similar to the one given in chapel last Thursday evening.

Henry Pochon, a University student was arrested last Tuesday charged with larceny. For some time past, the students in the Mechanical Engineering department have missed articles of value from clothes. Much of this has been traced to Pocon, and he admitted his guilt. He was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail.

The Nebraska Art association has secured about one hundred pictures for the exhibition which will be held in the art rooms during the holidays. About thirty of these will come direct from the Paris Exhibition, and the remainder from Chicago and New York. Among those from Paris will be a collection by Alexander Harrison, who is known as one of the best marine painters in the world, and a number by Gari Melcher of Holland. The association held a meeting Friday night and decided to make an effort to increase its membership to one thousand. To this end a committee was appointed to canvass the city. It was decided to open the exhibition December 26, with a reception.
