Last Thursday, T. T. McWilliams '04, met with the most serious accident that has as yet occurred in the shops. While using the rip-blade of the circular saw for cross-cutting a small piece of wood, his left hand was suddenly caught and, within a fraction of a second, about half of his thumb and the first three fingers were cut off. One of his comrades at once applied a tourniquet to his arm, whereupon McWilliams calmly walked over to the armory awaiting the arrival of the doctor. Although his hand was terribly mutilated, it is very probable that he will still be able to continue in his chosen profession, civil engineering.

THE JUNIOR ANNUAL.

On March the 20th the Junior Annual material went to press. Without a doubt this annual will be the largest and best that has ever put on sale in the university. There will be over three hundred pages in all.

It might be well to let the public know that if they have any peculiar habits which are acquired habits and not inherited they will be sure to be advertised in the annual. It is too late to mend your faults now, it should have been done the first of the year. It will do absolutely no good to scold at the board for though they are to blame for a great number of the roasts others have been handed in by outside members of the university and accepted with thanks.

ON THE DIAMOND.

There has been no material change in baseball affairs during the past week. The snow-storm of last Tuesday stopped outdoor practice for several days. The boys are all anxious to begin regular practice. The men are being coached for their respective places. At present it can not be predicted who will reach the plums. Two of last year's team, Reeder and Ringer, got out last week. Reeder is working for his old position at second, and Ringer for the place of catcher.

KIOTE UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT.

Mr. C. I. Taylor, a student in the university, has purchased the Kiote from Messrs. Miller and Shedd. Mr. Taylor is planning to make several improvements in the magazine and it will probably become the recognized literary publication of the university. The editorial management of the paper will be in the hands of the English club who will elect the board of editors each year. With a daily newspaper, a monthly literary magazine, and a weekly journal devoted to the alumni interests, Nebraska's journalistic troubles will be amicably settled.

The Pershing Rifles will give an exhibition drill and spell-down preceding the basket ball game Thursday.
