

Notes and Comments

The players who came from Mo. Were poor, so they had to indo. Defeat. That's to say, they got beat, For they cannot play ball in Mo.

AFTER DRESS PARADE.

Captain Tukey: "We had the best line tonight, men."
 Captain Klinge: "We had the best line tonight, men."
 Captain Langer: "We had the best line tonight, men."
 Captain Barnes: "We had the best line tonight, men."

Manager Mike Henderson was among those who attended the ball game on Friday. No one saw him buy a ticket, but it is not for us to say that he was a D. H.

He took a great interest in the game, but seemed inclined to favor the visitors. Maybe he was interested in the result. Who can say?

When the score was several to one, and our team was still running around the diamond, Mike was heard to say to Dusty: "For goodness sake, stop scoring, or no a—blessed individual will come out tomorrow!"

But the players were beyond control, they had formed the habit of scoring and could not break it. "We'll beat them all to pieces," said the batter, as he swatted the ball a lick, which sent it over the smoke stacks.

THE SUN ECLIPSED!

"Last week," said the Agriculturalist, "I seen a sign over to Mechanical Artist's hall that said, 'Solar Eclipse by Professor Swezey Tonight,' so I went. It was all about the eclipse of the sun."

"He told how the people offered to pay to get inside the place where the professor was, and that he told them they could see just as much outside as anywhere. I know that's so 'cause I had to stay at home and plow when the folks drove to town to see it, and from what they told about it, I seen just as much from our back lot as they did right by the band stand. Al Smith, that works for old man Jessup, seven miles farther out than our place, seen near as much as I did."

"I slept through most of the talk he made, but he had some pictures that showed how the eclipse was run, but there was a big red barn in front of every picture. It was real interesting, but I think it would have been better if they had put in the carrier track other end to. I bet that barn would hold—"

"But you were telling about Professor Swezey's lecture," we remarked.

"Well, as I was saying, the pictures was about the eclipse. Then he showed some pictures of how it looked from the moon and how the world looked. He didn't say how they got up there, and I don't think they could do it. I wish he had told how the fellow got up there and took them pictures. I liked the talk real well."
