The showing of the ball team in Saturday's game was a most creditable one. Nebraska may well be proud of her nine.

The final examinations with their troubles are again upon us. All there is to be said about it is "We are all in the same fix."

The cadets' encampment at Fremont was most successful. The sunburned faces are a testimony to drill and guard duty. This week of camp instruction is of more value than a month's drill. More than that, it adds a few days of pleasure and some traditions about which the alumni are willing to talk.

The annual election of Phi Beta Kappas brings out again more forcibly that it pays to commence early in your work. Of course, all the senior class can not be Phi Beta Kappas, but it will hurt no one to have a good record. The small number of boys is still noticeable, three out of seventeen. One explanation of this may be that the western boys spend much time in carrying outside work. Another may be that the girls are brighter and more able. Who knows which is right?

THE FOOTBALL TEAM. Prospects for Next Year and New Men Coming.

At the close of the school year every one is asking "What will our football team be?" A short resume will, no doubt, prove of interest to many.

Captain Westover is in better shape than ever before, and does not fear any trouble from his shoulder. During the last month he has had the men out on the field practicing in punting. Westover is a hard worker and sets a good example to his men by playing good football. He will play in his old position, right tackle, during the next season.

Koehler, center for the last two years, will be in school again next year and hold down his old place. He gained his reputation last season by holding down the big Gopher captain. Ringer will be out for his position at left guard and with the last two years' experience will make a good man. The other guard is open, but several candidates have appeared who will develop into good players. Dasenbrock, who filled the place in the Minnesota game, will be in school next fall. Left tackle, the position of Brew, last year's captain, is open. However, Kingsbury, an old player, will be out. Pillsbury may also prove a good man for the place. The ends on last year's team will be in school next fall. Cortelyou is now in California, working in the oil field, and will be in excellent condition when September comes. Ryons is not having any more trouble with his knee. Johnson, the substitute, will practice next fall. This summer he will try to grow some.

Behind the line, Drain at quarter does not know whether he will return next fall. If he does not, his loss will be greatly felt. He was a hard, heady player. For the backs, Crandall, Pillsbury, Bender, Montgomery, Eager, Cook, and a number of new men will make a group from which the coach should be able to pick three stars. Several good players will report in September from the high schools of the state. The football squad should number sixty or seventy at the beginning of practice.

Last but not least, we have Coach Booth for next season, and it is sixteen to one that we make a better showing than we did last year.

Nothing Can Be Too Neat

Here it's hard work to keep everything spick and span all the time, but that is what we're here for. Our business has kept on growing because we've been particular that every bot le, ever package, every process of compounding or manufacture, should be clean and neat. Bring your prescriptions to us, if you please. Perhaps it is cloudy when it should be clear in appearance. That sometimes happens when a prescription is not put up just right.
