

OUR COLLEGE NEWS.

IN the future we shall endeavor to keep our exchanges on file in the Reading Room.

IN the absence of W. C. Showalter, Amos E. Gantt is writing up the local department.

WE miss those agricultural books from the library, since they have been taken out to the Model Farm.

AS is usual at the beginning of the term, a large number of visitors are inspecting the museum.

THE "chinnners" of that Sophomore are only equalled by the luxurious burnsidies of a University student.

THE appreciation of the students for fine music was evinced by the large number that attended the Opera of Martha.

"CHEESE IT" has been the motto of the students this term in regard to the famous Henry Ward of Plymouth Church.

A SOCIABLE would be a good thing to get those sub-freshmen, who cast sheeps-eyes, acquainted with the young ladies.

THE grass-hoppers made a severe raid on those beautiful trees, that our public-spirited students planted on the campus, last Arbor Day.

THE Hebrews of this city held religious services in our chapel during the first week of school, their New Year's occurring on Sept. 12.

IT was very amusing to see gentlemen who attended last year, watch every young lady that came in the door, to see whether she was an old student.

PROF. Bailey rooms on the third floor of the University. The preps will be deprived of their sport on that floor in the future.

THE boys in the physiology class grip the bony phalanges of that skeleton, and with a shake assert their fondness for anatomy.

A BASE rumor has been circulated that one of the Sophs took a particular fancy to Nancy in the Opera of Martha. In short, that he fell in love.

HOW is that secret society, which the students spoke of so highly last year, progressing? Queer that our students cannot support at least one secret society.

A NUMBER of students, regardless of appearances, have "set their upper lips in business" during the past summer. There is something very suspicious about it.

CUSTARD pies are very nice, at least so think seniors, but a printer's pi is not desirable. Please don't lay your books on our "forms" when you come to see us.

THE Palladian society held a very lively meeting the first Friday evening of the term. The new officers took their places, and presented a very dignified appearance.

THE new students should not be at all backward in subscribing for the STUDENT. All who wish to keep posted in our University affairs should immediately subscribe.

WE are pleased to note the fact that C. J. Dilworth, candidate for prosecuting attorney in the 1st Judicial District, is the paternal relative of our old friend, Will Dilworth.

Mr. W. C. Showalter, our local editor, has not yet returned from Plattsmouth, and the readers of the STUDENT will therefore make allowance for the locals in this issue.

THE students on the Agricultural Farm are going to put on a great deal of style, as they will have a special coach run for their benefit, between the University and the Farm.

ONE of the preps after reading one of those neat dictionaries in the library, was seen rushing around with the vain inquiry: "Have we a prospective 'glue-pot' among us?"

PLEASE take notice that the subscription price of the STUDENT has been raised to one dollar. Even this is much less than is charged by most college papers of the same size.

A FEW nights ago a new student in the dormitory was heard in the wee small hours singing: "Oh! write me a letter from home." It was so plaintive that it was distressing to listen.

A PREP in the English Composition class, while gravely advising a comrade, was heard to remark, "A revolving fragment of the paleozoic age collects no cryptogamous vegetation."

YOUNG ladies should not get their heads so near young gentlemen's neckties; we saw a hair pin in a sophomore's vest pocket. The owner can have the same by calling at the STUDENT office.

FROM the large number of new students in chapel a person would think that the grasshoppers flew around this State instead of eating up so much of the corn. The attendance is very favorable and is increasing every day.

THE classes in Geometry and Trigonometry have made an attack on those works of Loomis' that is fearful to contemplate. We are in hopes that the vigorous onslaught on these popular works will forever continue.

ALL students who desire to have their linen as clean as the cleanest should call at the "Students Laundry," on 11th street between P & Q. Mr. Burns warrants satisfaction, as well as white garments. Be sure and give him a call.

PROF. W. E. WILSON will have charge of the Normal School until next term, when Rev. A. Freeman, L. L. D., principal of the seminary at Greenville, Kentucky, and formerly president of the University situated at Lincoln, Ill., will assume charge.

DURING vacation the heart of our "typo" was made glad by a number of young ladies who called to see the modern engine of civilization—the press. We are not certain that "press" was a civilizer, as there were several "forms" in the room, yet we always send our "forms" to "press."

"Where, oh where are the Hebrew children?" don't bother us very much, but we would like to know where the members of the class of '74 are, and what they are doing. The last report we had from Stevenson he was in the west end of Cass County seeking a desirable farm.

WHERE are the muscular students that are going to throw those Indian clubs, of Prof. Bailey's, around? Also, where is the man that wants to fence, as our professor has brought a couple of masks with him? Just in connection with this we would like to ask if the Faculty will open the gymnasium this term.

IT is very suitable that we should warn the students, who have come in this year, of the existence of a "Black List" in this city. As far as we have been able to ferret it out, billiards is the only folly in which the nice young men are allowed to indulge. This "Black List" is kept up by the young ladies, but how they ascertain their news is a mystery to the wisest of us poor mortals.

IT is all well enough to find curls, braids, etc., near the close of a term, but we must protest against these young ladies commencing in the first week. We have a very neat braid of hair, from the head of a blonde, in our sanctum, that was found on the floor, in the room of Prof. Hitchcock. The lover of the young lady can have the same by identifying it and paying damages. There is something very green about it.

HOW THEY PASS.—Greeny goes tremblingly into the room of Prof. —, who is busy with a class.

PROF. Well what do you want?

GREENY: To be examined.

PROF.: Can you write?

GREENY: Y-yes.

PROF.: Do you know any grammar?

GREENY: Y-yes.

PROF.: There that'll do. Go down into the Sub-freshman year.

WE are pleased to announce that all who desire can have an opportunity, this term, of taking lessons in oil painting and pencil drawing. Mrs. S. C. Elliott will commence classes at the University on the 16th inst. Those desiring to avail themselves of this opportunity can learn terms etc., by calling at the University, or at her residence, corner M and 14th streets. Mrs. Elliott needs no recommendation, other than the paintings and drawings she has executed, to assure all of her knowledge of this finest of arts.

"LITTLE Prof." in company with a brother attorney, hired a team to take them out several miles into the country to try a case before the squire. Arriving at their destination, "Little Prof." commenced to spout his lawyer-like speech, but Demosthenes or any other man could not contain himself under the circumstances, for looking out of the window he espied his legal brother in vain pursuit of the vicious horse, that, kicking his heels towards the heavens, made a bee line for a livery stable. They say he won the suit but walked home.

MARRIED.—Oakley, Owen.—On Tuesday morning, Sept. 15, at 9 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. R. C. Talbot, Mr. Roland H. Oakley and Miss Ada, only daughter of S. G. Owen., all of Lincoln.

Mrs. Oakley for eight terms was a member of our University, and though we suffer a loss, we extend our congratulations to Mr. Oakley in his fortunate choice. The wedding was one of the most fashionable that ever occurred in this city: the happy couple were married at 9 o'clock A. M. and two hours afterwards were en route to the principal cities of the east, which they intend visiting on their wedding tour. A large number of valuable presents were given to Mr. R. H. Oakley and wife ere their departure, consisting principally of silver and gold.

THE following are the officers of the literary societies for the present term.

PERSONAL.

"Deacon" Sweet is working in the Blade office.

"Rev." Shanks is welcomed back again. He'll "pass."

G. A. Watson is out again, after a severe attack of fever.

Miss Rosine Hubner is in Columbus, Ohio, visiting relatives.

J. H. Worley will commence teaching about the last of this month.

Tom Worley has become a theological student at Evanstown, Illinois.

"Sam Paine" is back again and declares that he was not cut out to be a granget.

Cassius Cropsey is now in Switzerland recruiting his health after a severe illness.

Miss Alice Frost, after teaching for the last four terms, has returned to the University.

It was pleasing to the old students to meet our genial Janitor, Mr. McLean, on their return to school.

Rob. Little believes that he has enough surveying for a few years, and has reported at the University.

Frank H. (Brigam) Young is county clerk of Phelps County, and also ex-officio county superintendent.

D. J. Brown, after a long trip through Kansas, Missouri, Texas and other parts in the south-west, has returned.

H. H. Wilson has suffered a great deal from the grasshoppers this year, and probably will not return this fall.

Dr. C. C. Bruce, formerly a student but now a practicing physician at Bennett, paid us a pleasant visit a few days ago.

J. M. Irwin will not attend school this term, but will continue to sell boots and shoes for Webster, at ruinously low prices.

Gen. T. J. Morgan has gone to Chicago, but ere he left, appreciating our good paper and labors for the same, he sent us his subscription to the STUDENT.

Joseph F. Hobbs has gone to Ann Arbor to enter the Law School. Success to you, Joe, and if we never see you here again, may we "meet around that great white throne."

Among the new students in the Freshman class, are the Misses Emma Funke, Theresa Graham, Flora Alexander and Mr. Samuel English, graduates from the High School in this city.

Prof. W. W. Jones, late of the Nebraska City High school, is the Supt. of the Public Schools of Lincoln. We know the students will like him as he is a first-class teacher and a good base ball player.

Geo. E. Howard, editor-in-chief of the STUDENT, is confined to his room by fever. His many friends will be glad to learn that there is a prospect of his getting out soon. Such an active, energetic worker can not long be spared, and we hope soon to see him in the sanctum again.
