

OUR COLLEGE NEWS.

Box.—That Soph is getting along finely in the art of boxing; he drew blood from the nose of one of the Prof's the other day.

TALLY.—One of the students in a discourse on boxing said, it is a splendid thing for a person; after he gets all bunged up, he gets in a good humor.

RUSH.—Doubtless a number of our students are regretting the growth of trees on our campus, because it will exclude us from having the usual "college rushes."

TREKMAN & SIZER have succeeded Lantz, Donovan & Freeman in the Real Estate and Loaning business, and can be found at the old stand, 28 east O street.

PLUCK.—We admire the pluck of that student who continues to practice the manly art of boxing, even though he sheds his nose-blood for the glorious cause.

QUEER.—How strange it is, the influence a lady has over a man! Why, we know of a case where a professor left his class twice during recitation on account of a young lady.

DREW CUTS.—Some students have pluck, but we really can't tell what made that Fresh back down when he drew cuts for a girl and after getting her backed down and wouldn't go.

ASTONISHED.—A certain gentleman was astonished a few days since, when a Soph asked him for some "hellish indigo blue." The Soph was astonished at the gentleman for knowing so little of chemistry.

SCENE IN CHEMISTRY CLASS.—Prof. asks the symbol and occurrence of water.

STUDENT. H'm it is H₂O and is rather frequently met with in the various undulations of the terra firma.

CALL.—We call the attention of the Palladians to the sarcastic (?) local of our Editor-in-chief at the head of the last column on the fourth page. Advertisements on our page forbid further mention in this issue.

HARD.—We know of a Prep, who went to see a Prepress a few nights ago; and each caught such a bad cold that neither could put in an appearance at chapel for several days. Of course true love never runs smooth.

We were surprised on looking over the stock of goods kept by Jacobs Bros. & Oakley, and at the extreme low prices at which they hold their goods, and think it will pay every one to give them a call before purchasing. (If)

AID.—'Tis true a great many people in this State have suffered from the grasshoppers and will need aid, and some of our Freshmen will need considerable aid before they are able to go over the horizontal bar in the gymnasium.

BEHOE.—No doubt ere long we will have a society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals, introduced in our midst; we are judging from the fact, that one of the students is endeavoring to stock the dormitory with all the "yaller purps" in town. He has made a good commencement.

BIBLE.—A Fresh is industriously engaged in searching the Scriptures ever since he heard the Chancellor tell of Oliver Cromwell, while he was reading the morning lesson in chapel. He has not yet found the passage referring to Cromwell, and thinks his edition of the Bible and that of the Chancellor's is different. The Chancellor referred to Cromwell when he read a passage telling of monarchical governments.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's parents, on the 12th of this month, Miss Lou Keefer to Mr. J. F. Lange, ticket agent of the M. P. and A. & N. R. R. companies, Rev. O. T. Conger officiating. They left on the same day for a trip to Indiana. "May they live long, and be prosperous, and bein happy."

RELICS.—We have secured another relic. This time it is a round piece of wood neatly covered with velvet. When we try to name it we are nonplussed and give it up; but our relic was surpassed by one which we saw one of the Prof's carefully handling. The memento was a handsome velvet sack, in which was a pretty little handkerchief. All attempts to find out how he got it were futile, and we left him alone in his glory.

WHY.—At the meeting of the Students' Gymnastic Club, a committee was appointed to take charge of the gymnasium room and we presumed that it would lay down some rules for the government of the Club. If nothing is to be done by it would it not be a good idea for the Club to meet and adopt some rules, and have a time fixed when we all would know that the gymnasium was open? We ask why something is not done?

JOKE.—Is it not rather curious, that when a fello v goes to see his girl, that his friends must play some joke on him. We fully sympathize with the student, who having left the company of the fair sex, found himself locked out of his own room. While we were pitying the door we were surprised at his remarkable agility which he displayed by running out of doors and climbing up the lightning rod and darting in through the window.

DARING.—One of our juniors, who saw some of our preps vault the fence which surrounds the campus, conceived the idea that he would display his agility to a small, but appreciative, audience. Accordingly he made a terrible rush for the fence, but somehow the top board had a decided attraction for his feet, and after spinning around on top of the fence a few moments, he laid on his back at a convenient distance—and watched the beautiful stars.

PITY.—We sincerely pity the student who was inveigled into taking a girl to church last Sunday night and left a Fresh to take her home, as the young lady thought he was afraid of ghosts and would be afraid to go home alone after leaving her. We are quite sure that he is as brave as a lion and no modern spirits can scare him, though we've known many a man to be easily scared when he had too much of those ancient spirits aboard.

SPIRIT.—A few evenings ago Dr. Sanborn lectured on Spiritualism, and at the close of the lecture described ten spirits which he saw floating around in the room and all except one were recognized. A Prep, however, who was in attendance and believed himself a sceptic in this "ism" was considerably surprised on his way home, by seeing the ghost of his grandfather rise before him and vanish mysteriously as he came. There was a joke about it and the spirits are being discussed by the students and doubtless they will soon have seances.

LECTURES.—Prof. Pepper lectured on Chemistry a few evenings ago, and a large number of students were in attendance. The first evening of his lecture, the great object of interest was the ghost. The next and last evening we had a ghost of a lecture.

Grace Greenwood lectured to a good audience a few evenings ago, and a great many of the students were in attendance. All were well pleased with the lecture and truly the Lecture Committee of Lincoln has the sincere thanks of the students for bringing such good lecturers here. There were many good things in Grace Greenwood's lecture, that will long be remembered by all who were present.
