

—A. H. WAITT gives students a liberal discount when they trade with him.

—Those great piles of stone and dirt that were around the University last term, are nearly all removed.

—That big Soph. who broke one of our window lights must put in a new one or the foreman will be after him.

—The Sophs. have been talking of challenging the Juniors and Seniors to a snow ball fight in front of the University, when the first snow falls.

—When you come to visit the University, be sure to call at Prof. Stadter's studio and see his beautiful paintings, and the work that his students are doing.

—A certain Soph., who has lately started a mustache, says that a young lady in the A—G— class kept looking at him so closely that it attracted the attention of the Prof.

—This number of the STUDENT was somewhat delayed by an accident at the office where our press work is done. One of the forms was pied, which caused extra work for the typos.

—If Prof. Woodbury's rhetorical classes are disturbed by the noise above, the Prof. will remember that a paper cannot be run successfully without a good deal of noise.

—One of the Preps., who is not addicted to early rising, in his haste to get to school forgot to put up his suspenders. His sad mishap was not observed until he had entered the University.

—We were wrongly informed about the University Union changing their name. This change was made in a committee of the whole, but when it comes before the society will probably not be adopted.

—Prof. Bailey has been absent from his classes for several days on account of illness. We hope that the Professor's illness will not be protracted, and that he may be with his classes soon.

—Mr. McLean, our janitor, has had much extra work since they commenced work on the University last fall. We sympathize with you, George; but toil on a few days more and you shall reap if you don't give out.

—A Prof., while lecturing his class on hygiene, said that if he had not observed the laws of health very closely, long since he would have been dead and—some-where else. Prof. did not tell where, and students are in doubt.

—Students and every body buy your candies of Tomson. They are so fresh, so sweet, so nice and can be bought at a very low price. Will have on hand in a few days a car load of fresh pine-apples and bananas direct from New Orleans.

—E. G. Clements has purchased all the NEGATIVES belonging to the gallery of V. H. Young and is prepared to take duplicate photographs from the same at low prices. Students and all give him a call, Photograph car, North-east cor. of square.

—The Editor has just received a very valuable present from the Union Society. A fine cushioned chair with one short leg is this valuable gift. If that leg is lengthened or the others sawed off, it will be a very comfortable chair. Thanks to the Society.

—Of all the pleasant places we have ever been in our sanctum far surpasses all. When one typo is singing, "Oh! dear what can the matter be," the other, "John Brown had a little Indian," and the devil yelling for more copy, the pleasure is indescribable.

We are glad to mention the call of Misses Holbrook, Johnson, Ransom and Hall at our sanctum. The editor's weary brain was rested for a while, and the devil himself, grinned slyly over his shoulder when the young ladies remarked that the type was all wrong side up.

—Two of our younger boys got into a dispute in chapel which ended in a regular knockdown after they went down into the basement. When the bell rang for recitation, the boys who were lookers
