

prayer-meeting and the Sunday School "Love thy neighbor as thyself," and "Love your enemies." It is refreshing to turn from the crabbed and cranky demagoguism of the Niagara Index or the insolent infidelity of our exchanges to the serene though oftentimes insipid Asbury with its "love feast" aspect redolent of the amen corner. The poem on the "Dream of Youth and Age" was written in a semi-archaic style with a touch of latent sadness that was perchance more affecting to the writer than to his readers. The arguments advanced in the paper on co-education were very trite, but we appreciate the writer's difficulty in saying any thing new and original on so old a subject. The objects of the Monthly as stated by the editor are indeed awe inspiring. He says they propose to encourage, exercise, cultivate and develop literary genius among the students; transmit important news; and strike at every evil that may exist. We wish them all success in their arduous undertaking.

The Cornell Graphic is the only exchange which has a musical department. The Graphic is to be congratulated in the possession of so valuable a department and in its present condition is a credit to the paper. We think the editorials in the last number were lacking in power and interest. The locals were very poor. The question as to whether or no Major Andre was a spy was well presented and in a logical way that marked its author as an experienced debator.

Rutgers has conferred the degree of Ph. D. on T. H. Edison the inventor.

Dartmouth has had an endowment of $10,000 to found a chair of Anglo-Saxon.

One of Bowdoin's professors has held his position in that school for fifty five years.

Professor: "What is the universal negative?" Student: "Not prepared."

There are more students in Germany from America than from any foreign nation.

William and Mary College have suspended operations for want of necessary funds.

Virginia University groans under the weight of Greek letter fraternities with a total membership of 172.

The Faculty of the University of California have very sensibly abolished all secret societies existing among the students.

Since Booth and so many of the great men of Europe have been shot at, the president of the Freshman class is afraid to go out on the streets alone.

"Nature abhors a vacuum" remarked a philosophic prep, as he quickly stuffed his inner man from the Prof.'s back fruit orchard. "Force is an agent that causes motion," murmured the Prof., as he rose out of the weeds and quickly elevated the prep. over the ten foot fence on his pedal tip.—Ex.

Scene in Mathematics:— Prof. "You may not have time, gentleman, to carefully work out all these problems but you can at least follow out the line of argument in each one." Soph. (innocently): "Prof., on what page is the line of argument?" Prof. (sternly): on the page of common sense." General roar, and Soph. (sotto voce): "Prof., have we had that page yet."

The human lungs reverbrate sometimes with great velocity;

When windy individuals indulge in much verbosity.

They have to twirl the glottis sixty thousand times a minute,

And punch and punch the diaphragm as though the deuce were in it.

Chorus: The pharynx now goes up;
The larynx, with a slam,
Ejects a note
From out the throat
Pushed by the diaphragm
