

taken sitting in those new chairs which grace the rooms of our professors of Latin and of Greek.

Boys! Visit Ewing's, and notice his fine line of ulsters overcoats also, his new stock of caps neckware from New York City.

The new society halls are marvels of loveliness now. It is hard to tell what they will be when their furnishing is completed. Members seem disposed to surpass the magnificence of the halls in the brilliancy of their literary performances. Let the good work go on.

If our readers do not believe that it is embarrassing for the male members of the music class, when they get their mouths open wide enough to admit the passage of their whole fists, to have the ladies execute a left face and look and marvel, let them put themselves in our place.

From latest advices it appears that, if a student is a regular Senior, and the Faculty finds out that, when he attended "deestrick skule," he was ever promoted from the Primer to the Third Reader, if he can't pass an examination in that omitted Second Reader, he can only be classed a Junior.

The old French proverb, "Don't be afraid to give a piece of cake to him who has a pie in his oven," may be very good advice for some, but it leaves the Dormitorians at sea. A liberal reward is offered anyone who will make a proverb whereby one can get a piece of that pie when he has no cake to offer in return.

Two or three young gentlemen (?) of the University still need the maternal apron string. When the fact exists that a lady cannot be in the company of a gentleman without imminent risk of being insulted by one of these mis-called gentlemen, it is high time that the matter came before the proper authorities. Let those to whom these remarks apply mend their ways or they may find out their mistake when it is too late.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Col. Philpott, Sept. 28 by Rev. Lewis Gregory, Mr. James H. Worley, '80, and Miss Genie Field were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The newly-wedded pair have gone to Nebraska City to attend the M. E. Conference. Mr. Worley will there be appointed to a pastorate. We wish them joy, and may their boat keep clear of all shoals and quicksands which so often wreck married happiness.

A few days after our last issue, Prof. Woodberry—for the benefit of the Rhetoric class—discussed the STUDENT as a literary curiosity. We believe (we are not positive) that he came to the conclusion that it marks an epoch in the history of American literature. That's right. Whenever any of the professors wish to use the modest articles in this great scientific journal for the purpose of promulgating any great moral or intellectual doctrines, they are at perfect liberty to do so. All we ask in return is to be excused from essay writing.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Palladian society on the mournful event of the death of Wabern R. Hedges:

Whereas, In the inscrutable ways of Providence, our worthy friend, Wabern

R. Hedges, has been stricken down by the hand of Death, in the full prime of life, and,

Whereas, He was a kind friend and student, a faithful worker in the Palladian society, and always willing to lend a helping hand in time of need, therefore be it

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the parents and relatives of the deceased in this their great affliction.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the records of the society, a copy be furnished the family of the deceased, and that they be published in the HESPERIAN STUDENT.
