

Churchill, 33003—9. Hastings, 04434—15. Munro, 44434—19. Olmstead, 34422—15. Lieut. Webster, 34415—20. Average, 14.5.

Lieutenant Webster got away with his command on the Creedmoor practice. He scored 20. Myers, Knight and Cheney loomed up in Company A, and Hawley, Munro, and Frankforter in Company B, but none of them came up to Lieutenant. The most even score made was by "Conny Mac," 30000.

An old-time student, who was out in Silvernail's surveying party last summer, up near the head waters of the Missouri, says that John was an assiduous collector of specimens. He had the University museum in his eye, it would seem. John picked up every old rock in the whole country 'round that looked queer and piled them into a sack. At last the sack became so heavy that no one would carry it and when camp broke to go over the mountains, Silvernail had to hide his collection in an old mill, where it is to be hoped it may be found on the return tour. We may expect to see John trudging into Lincoln next spring, his eyes blood-shot, his face haggard, his splendid hair bleached out by exposure, and his manly shoulders bent under an enormous load of old stones, each one labelled, "Presented to the University Museum by J. S., B. S., '81."

THE SOCIETIES.

The exercises of the Palladians, on the evening of the 7th, were good, though the audience was small, possibly on account of the rivalling attractions of Barnum's circus. Miss Parker recited "Our Folks," Mr. Conrad read an original poem, Mr. Lamar an essay, Mr. Davis spoke impromptu on the circus, Mr. Chase read a humorous sketch of a mail cat. The debate was excellent, well led, and participated in by the whole audience. The proposition to hold society meetings Saturday evening was voted down, notwithstanding the earnest appeals of Juniors and Seniors who have recitations on Saturday.

THE NEW REGENTS.

Mr. Fifield, of Kearney, who has served the state as regent of the University for the past six years, in which he has always given the business brought before him searching attention, was renominated from the fifth district by the State Convention last week, and has accepted. From the sixth district in place of Mr. Adair, Mr. Isaac Powers was chosen, a gentleman, as we understand, of liberal education and fine points. He is state senator from Dakota and Burt. In classifying the new regents—according to the only manner in which university regents are classified nowadays, that is on a religious basis—

Mr. Powers must be placed on the broad guage side and Mr. Fifield remains what he was before, and as his ministerial habit would signify, a Fairfield man, that is—to enlighten the uninitiated—a man on the board of regents who will support the administration of Chancellor Fairfield, as against the attacks of the peculiar party who are trying to overthrow that administration. This gives the "radical" party the majority on the board now, four to two, and what the result or results may be is a speculation to be entered upon with the most intense caution. That the nomination was a matter of importance to certain University professors was told from their presence on the floor of the convention at 2 o'clock in the morning.—Omaha Herald.

IN MEMORIAM.

On Friday evening of last week the University Union society held special services in memory of their late member, Mr. Harrington, of Salem. The exercises were begun by a short but feeling prayer by Rev. Lewis Gregory, followed by a very acceptable rendition of "Nearer my God to Thee," by Mrs. Hohmann. The following resolutions were then introduced by Mr. Pierce, a former room mate and class mate of Mr. Harrington, and adopted by the society.

WHEREAS, In the wisdom of our heavenly Father, H. Walter Harrington has been called to his eternal home; and,

WHEREAS, Recognizing in him the sterling worth and the abilities that promised a future of useful labor, we are called upon to part forever with one whom we destined for noble purposes in life; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Union society, bow in humble submission to the will of God, we none the less mourn the loss of him, who, by years of diligent work, had endeared himself to us.

Resolved, That in his death the University loses a student and this society a member, whose manly deportment and gentlemanly bearing gained for him the respect and admiration of professors and students alike.

Resolved, That this society expresses to the stricken parents a sincere desire to share the burden of grief which has so suddenly fallen upon them.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in each of the Lincoln dailies, in the Falls City Globe-Journal, and that one be sent to the family of the deceased.

Resolved, That, while we bend to a will higher than our own, we give expression to deep grief at our greatly lamented loss and,

Resolved, That as a class we extend to the bereaved family our earnest sympathies, and,

Resolved, That the Palladian Literary Society of the University of Nebraska, through their Secretary, assure the bereaved parents of Mr. Brown of their true sympathy with them in this act of Providence, and do hereby instruct said Secretary to print and forward these resolutions.

Dave Mercer has at last realized his dream; he is in the law department of Ann Arbor. We're going to publish a letter from Dave to the STUDENT, soon.

The last new dirge of the Cadet Band would make a cat shed tears. Of course the cat must be a whole-souled feline with an ear for symphony—and sympathy.

W. K. Hutchinson, of Ashland, was in the halls of the college a few days ago, showing signs of illness, we are sorry to say. "Hutch" will not enter school this year but seek health and strength by a visit to Western Nebraska.

In order to catch Messrs. J. B. Trickey & Co. (our popular jewelers) for an advertisement, we would suggest that our students making purchases of these estimable gentlemen, to gently intimate the fact that they are students.
