

Personal Paragraphs,

B. W. Holt, '85, will not be with us this year. He goes east to study piano-tuning.

Taylor, of the farm, occupied himself awhile in Illinois and returning, stopped in Omaha.

Ex-Principal Palmer has "found a job." It is a professorship in Antioch College, Ohio.

Tris, '83, is once more under parental watch and care. His parents have moved back to Lincoln.

Miss Cora Doolittle went east as far as Illinois and spent a month with relatives at Bloomington.

J. H. Holmes, '84, will pedagogue during the year. His school is located a dozen miles east of the city.

E. P. Holmes, '78, for several years in the law business in Lincoln, has started a bank at Pierce, Nebraska.

Chancellor Fairfield preached several Sabbaths in the Congregational church at Denver, and travelled about the state.

Miss Emma Richardson is soon to start for New York where she will study painting for a year in the Art League.

Dan Wheeler was for two months a secretary at the great Denver exposition, and then opened up the State Fair at Omaha.

The first term lasts from September 12 to December 22; the second from January 3 to March 23; the third from April 4 to June 13.

Bion Culver was another pilgrim to Colorado. He went to Leadville and bought mines. He's got a lot of 'em in his pockets.

Clem Chase took in Colorado, climbed Pike's Peak, did Denver with his twin, Wheeler, and then went on the Omaha Herald as city editor.

Miss Josie Chapman visited a sister at Red Cloud and had opportunity to meet many Lincoln people who passed through there on their way to Denver.

Howard Caldwell, '80, has resigned his position as principal of the Lincoln High School and will enter upon a two years course of study at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

A. B. Christian who went from the University to Notre Dame Academy, last year, has completed a commercial course there and returned to take a position in a store at Fairmount. He called on us last week and expressed a determination to again be a student here before the year is over.

Mr. J. O. Breech, a student of last year, has become possessor of Geo. McLean's old shoes—i. e., the janitorship of the University building. He swings the broom and dust-pan nearly as gracefully as the omnipresent George himself, and in time may become as popular among the young ladies.

George McLean, so long connected with the University and so thoughtfully identified with it as to be generally regarded as a part and parcel of the institution, has bid adieu to the classic walls and turned his face to the northward. He is now seeking wealth in the golden grain fields of Minnesota and declares that he is there to stay. George is missed—sadly missed—by scores of students who have found in him a "friend which sticketh closer than a brother."

Mr. A. E. Sheldon of Doane has matriculated here this year. He enters '85 and will be a valuable addition to that pugnacious class. A rumor is afloat that a number of Doane College students contemplate bidding adieu to Crete and casting their fortunes with the University.

Clark, '84, was retained during the early part of the vacation as Professor of Horticulture at the Lincoln Floral Conservatory. In other words, he trimmed hedges over at Sawyer's greenhouse. Later in the season he spent a month at Woodville, where he struck something funny called a "Go devil." He wrote us about it.

Urban Meanderings,

Large stock new books at FAWELL'S.

Novelties in fine stationery at FAWELL'S.

All the students buy their books of FOX & STRUVE.

University books and student supplies at FOX & STRUVE'S.

What relation is a university to an ordinary college? It is a step-fa(r)ther.

The organization of a driving park association is now under consideration by enterprising Lincolnites.

The east wing of the Capitol approaches completion. An appropriation for the main building is next in order.

Member of Astronomy class—"Equinox, let me see; it's derived from equus, a horse and nox, night; it means the nightmare."

Say that you are a student when you buy boots and shoes at Goodrich Bros. and you will get them at ten per cent. discount.

Work is now in progress on the fine new Temple of the Masonic order and three business blocks, all located on Eleventh street opposite the Court House.

Free delivery of the mails in Lincoln was commenced September first. This is a great convenience, of course, and will be appreciated by Universityites.

Prof. in Logic—"If I should cut the hardness, smoothness, redness, roundness and cedarness off this pencil what would remain?" Student—"Goneness."

Lincoln is to have telephonic communication with Omaha and every town of importance in the state. The Nebraska Telephone Co. has the scheme in hand.

The weeds on the streets have become an abomination in the sight of those who dwell in the city. The attention of the officials is most respectfully directed to this matter.

Bicycling is the latest rage in the capital city. Graceful riders in uniform may be seen on the streets every pleasant evening. A number of University students are reported "gone" on the fascinating but expensive wheel.

The city directory just issued is largely the work of University boys. Wood and Marshall, assisted by a Nebraska City man, engineered the enterprise. They also compiled a directory of Atchison, Kan., during the summer.

At Crete there are five girls named "Minnie." The other night one of them said her prayers, and for fear that they might be credited to one of the other "Minnies," added after the Amen, "Minnie No. 4, and don't you forget it."