

Campus Canards.

Did you pass? "Naw."

What will a "set phrase" hatch?

Large stock of fine stationery at Fawell's.

Buy your Boots and Shoes of O. W. Webster, O at Academy of Music.

"There is 'boom' in us and we are going to boom." Warner's inaugural address.

Prof. "In what condition is ice the coldest?" Junior "Why, in a frozen condition."

Students are invited to call and see D. & C. L. Baum's new stock of fine holiday goods, before purchasing their Christmas presents.

Several of the students, fond of the "mazy ring," were present at the grand capital ball at the capital in the Capitol.

Should the Freshman Howl Club be tolerated in singing a "nigger" song in the University?— that is the question

Another improvement in the drill is the bulletin board and a box for excuses which has been placed in the University hall.

The mind of the average student needs inflation sadly to contain all that he has to attend to during the term examinations.

O, Charley, where are going? O down to D. & C. L. Baums to buy one of those beautiful pearl handled knives they just received.

The east wing of the Capitol is finished. On the eve of Dec. 14th the Pleasant Hour Club held a reception in it as a formal opening.

"All must die" bears no truer significance and sinks scarcely less deep in the heart of a student than, "All must be examined."

A young lady in first year German class translated, "I am quite tired," "Ich bin mude ganz." The Professor made some corrections.

More young women than ever will enter the Harvard Annex this year. How long before the University will open its front door to them?

Prof. McMillan has been adding to the decorations of his room by placing his busts on pedestals instead of the old tables on which they formerly stood.

The Iliad class were struck with wonder and awe at finding the previously considered modern phrase "You can't come it over me" flourishing vigorously in those prehistoric times.

Where did you say George Hitchcock has gone? I said, he has gone to Minnesota. Wonder what important business calls him away up there. Don't know, you must ask him when he returns.

Boy prepie to girl prepie: Why wer'nt you to singing last evening? Girl prepie to boy prepie: Because I'm not going to stroll away up there through the night all alone, that's why.—Innuendo.

The Physics class seems to be quite productive of brilliant remarks. The other day one of the Juniors asked the Prof. whether fans were not used to evaporate moisture. The Prof. said "Partly I fan-cy."

If any one wants to see a large book let him peruse Stephan's Thesaurus which has just been added to the library. It is in 4 vols. and contains just 11,251 pp.

Our University building is getting pretty nearly filled up. We understand that Prof. Nicholson is to have another room in the basement fitted up; this makes the fourth room in the basement now in use.

* Could the Regents not dispose of the Chapel as a city refrigerator? It certainly would make a good one. The only extra expense would be two or three more stoves. Without them it would be too cold even for this.

* Miss Minnie Parker, who, it is well remembered, so ably aided in representing us in the contest at Crete last May, is with us again. She has just returned from Chicago, where she has been attending a school of Elocution.

* Mr B. H. Culver has tendered his resignation as editor. Who will be the next to be initiated? It is hoped when the year closes that every member in the University will have had some experience with the STUDENT affairs.

Mrs. Dearborn delivered a reading before her elocution class. The reading was an extract from a Norwegian Saga translated from the original by Prof. Sherman. The translation was very fine and Mrs. Dearborn did justice to it.

The scarlet fever has made its appearance in one or two families in this city. That of Mr. A. Humphrey is in the worst condition, there being five sick. They are taking much precaution and there does not seem to be much danger of its spreading.

Misses Godding and Aldrich were welcome callers at the STUDENT office last week. Strange to say the co-eds very seldom visit this gloomy apartment. If they could conceive how well their calls were appreciated they certainly would come more frequently.

Now that the skating has commenced in earnest perhaps the Profs. can obtain a clue for the lack of preparation in the class room. It is very difficult for any student to skate all day and night and know much about the less interesting subject of his lessons.

On the 6th the Union Society for a change had what was called a quotation match. Three boys were pitted against three girls. They kept things lively for about an hour and a half throwing quotations at each other. In the opinion of all the boys were badly beaten.

The Palladian society elected for the ensuing term the following officers: B. H. Culver President; Miss. Mary Campbell Vice President; A. G. Warner Secretary; Elton Fulmer Treasurer; A. E. Sheldon Corresponding Secretary; Miss. Josie Chapman Historian; R. L. Marsh Sargeant-at-arms.

At a special meeting of the Union Society Dec. 15th. the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President B. F. Marshall; Vice President Geo. B. Frankforter; Secretary Miss. Hearn; Assistant Secretary H. T. Conley; Critic G. W. Botsford; Treasurer W. S. Sullivan; Sargeant-at-arms Minnie E. Godding.

About the toughest lie on record is that of a Dakota farmer who seeing that a blizzard was approaching, tightly nailed up his barn and shut himself in his house. After three days he came out finding the barn full of snow. He searched carefully and found that all the snow came through two nail holes from which he had carelessly extracted the nails.
