

NOTICE.—As we were carrying the forms to press last Monday an accident occurred which caused the "ploing" of a large portion of the type. Owing to this mishap we are compelled to skip the issue that should have been out on the first of February.

BUSINESS MANAGER.

Several of the co-eds are almost Ma(r)shed,
All paid up and no fun, either. Too bad!
Our "devil" has left us. And be the devil he's gone.
The physiology class can boast of one Christian. Isn't that Gay.

A problem for the "prodigy," Have the Pals got a stove yet?

Of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these—"left again!"

Students, it will pay you to get your Photos made at Kelley & Co's. University panel gratis.

Prof. Thomson is at present lecturing the novice teachers concerning the grading of schools.

Now the anxious Juniors and Sophs are slyly inquiring for Valentines. We wonder who got them.

Hic, hæc, hoc, hug-us, hug us, hug us, is the way a few of the feminine Latin tyros persist in declining it.

Now that the Senatorial contest is over what will the students do when they want to jump a recitation?

Since the convening of the Legislature Myron Wheeler has been spending a portion of his time at the reporters' desk.

We are grateful to the Representatives for their kindness in recognizing the STUDENT in makin' out their lists.

The boys at the HESPERIAN Office had a large "pie" given them last Monday. This accounts for the delay of this issue.

Paul Clark is the most outrageous punster in the University. If you want any puns, real, first-class ones, call on Clark.

Miss Edith Doolittle has been very ill with scarlet fever. She is now rapidly recovering and will soon be in her classes again.

E. P. Unangst ('81) now in Ogden, Utah, sends a dollar to renew his subscription. We would be glad to see others of the alumni do likewise.

The rough students of the University ought to have a sitting down on at present. It would do them no harm to behave themselves a little.

Our old business manager, B. F. Marshall, contemplates starting a Sunday morning paper in Lincoln. We wish him and his partner abundant success.

What unfeeling clods of humanity some of our students are! The other evening a sleigh load of them drove up to the house of one of our young lady students and sang "Come to the window," etc. She began to tell them to wait a minute and she would be there, when off they drove!

Gen. Manderson was elected U. S. Senator on the 31st ult. The applause on the announcement of his election was deafening. And thus ends the senatorial deadlock.

The University is getting a musical reputation. Besides the Minstrels we are informed of two permanent clubs. We heard a rehearsal of the younger of the two; in our opinion, they do finely.

During the balloting for United States Senator in Colorado one Representative voted for the devil. Perhaps it was with a view to having their mining interests better protected and looked after.

"It may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless true" that the co-eds have had a secret society all this year. A Junior who tried to fathom its depths found their motto to be; "No gents need apply."

It is a remarkable fact that since the senatorial contest began there has been an unusual demand for lead pencils in Lincoln. The University students alone have used several bushels. There was bound to be a fair count.

Some of the Johnson county solons want the University to be closed. Before that happens we would like to see some of their sons and daughters coming to our college so that they might inform their parents better with respect to it.

The Cadets may obtain quite a little information from the "Ordinance Notes," just received in the Library. The "prodigy" of the Junior class would do well to look at the mathematical problems to be found therein.

On the 24th ult. Rev. Mc Kaig, of the M. E. Church, lectured on his prison and fugitive life. The audience almost felt themselves going through the vicissitudes which he described. It was pronounced by many as one of the best lectures of the season.

One hundred copies of the STUDENT are distributed at the Capitol each issue. This shows that a few of our legislators at least have a spark of college spirit. We return thanks for their liberal patronage, and trust they will continue to read the STUDENT, thereby growing wiser.

A few weeks ago when the mercury was trying to find the back door of the thermometer and had got down to 25° below, a Freshman dreamed that he was the North Pole and that James Gordon Bennett was trying to cut him down. When he awoke he found that his roommate had kicked him out of bed. He comes to school on crutches now.

The other day one of the brightest of our college luminaries went out walking and (wonderful to relate!) gray-tated at the house of one of the co-eds. He got to talking, and becoming quite enraptured in his conversation, forgot to take his leave. The co-ed became tired, and when 12:30 arrived, she started up and said in tones of affright: "E—, didn't you hear the fire bell?" He took the hint and left at a 2:40 rate. N. B.—He has not been heard of since.
