

Call and see the new fall suits at T. Ewing & Co's Clothing Emporium.

The best judges of artistic work go to Kelley & Co for Photos. No. 1026 O street.

Students of music will find it to their advantage to call at 458 N. 12th. St. before making engagements for lessons in either singing or piano.

Students desiring club rates for tonsorial work should call on Sam Westerfield, the best barber in the city, located on the corner of 12th and O.

All students wishing their last year's file of the STUDENT bound in neat and durable binding at the lowest possible rates, should call immediately at the office and report to the Bus. Man.

The STUDENT office will be open from 9 to 12 A. M. During this time all visitors, whether for business or pleasure, will please call. The comps must not be disturbed while at their work.

We wish to repeat, for the benefit of new students, to always trade with those who advertise in our columns. Those who care so little for the students as not to advertise deserve no custom from us.

We state officially that the well on the north side of the University has been cleaned and a pump put in and now contains drinkable water. Water pity, that these improvements have not been attended to sooner!

We understand that the Band boys have obtained the services of Prof. Weber, of the University, as their leader and instructor. Besides being an able pianist the Professor is an unusually fine violinist and cornetist.

The Freshman class, with much pluck, have organized and intend firmly to run affairs in their sphere to the best of their ability. At any rate, so it seemed on Thursday last, judging from the unceremonious ejection of ye local from their caucus.

The janitor has removed to new quarters in the basement, and we think he has as cozy a room as any person of moderate wants can demand. With bell-rope, telephone, and all other "modern improvements" close at hand, we fear he may become lazy.

The number of new students this year is encouraging to our future success. Over 100 per cent more new students are enrolled this year than last. All we need now is a chancellor and a steam heating apparatus, and we can hold our own with any institution.

The aged cow which walked away last spring came wandering back through the campus one night last summer. On its return it was received by a committee from the debating club and ovated to its heart's content. It is now safely stabled in the medical room.

The drill this year opens with a much larger number on the roll than has been in ranks for two years previous. About 70 have registered, and these, too, from the University and of a size fit to make a presentable appearance in line. Let all who have time register for drill.

Why can't the boys organize a gymnasium? It seems as though there was enough latent energy among the students at least to kick the distended foot ball on the new mown campus and put a new moan in the mouths of the possessors of the many swollen shins that would result thereby.

Our Dormitory, formerly known as the sacred evening resort of the industrious students, has changed its character, and is now occupied, managed and directed by the "Sisters of the Sacred Heart."

The following dialogue was audited in the halls the other day. Confident Sophomore to Bashful Freshgirl: "Miss — will you accept my company for Friday eve?" B. F.: "Well, I don't know—I think so, but I guess I'll have to ask my ma." And C. S. thinks next time he will ask "ma" first.

The Studio under the direction of Misses Davis and Painter opens what promises to be a very busy year. The Studio is already filled with pupils. The water colors by Miss Painter, and the crayon and oil work by Miss Davis are admirable pieces of art. All interested in fine art should visit our Studio.

The societies held a grand opening on the evening of the 14th. The halls glittered in their new decorations, and the puzzling question of "Which is the better?" was frequently asked, but seldom answered. A great number of the new students were in attendance and, we hope, became well acquainted with our school and societies.

Only a puddle
In the street.
Man in a muddle,
Don't watch his feet.
Only a slip
An unwilling seat.
Only an urchin,
Thinks it's a treat.

At the commencement of the year we would respectfully announce that among the things considered as public nuisances, are "Pansy Blossom" and "Peek-a-boo." If any one attempts maliciously and with forethought to whistle, sing, hum, or play either of these, the faculty have unanimously decided to bounce him without mercy. So beware.

At a special meeting of the Palladian Society, June 4th, the following officers were elected for the fall term: President, Clara Parks; Vice President, Sigel Polk; Treasurer John Mockett; Secretary, Will O. Jones; Corresponding Secretary, Will T. Mauck; Historian, Mary Jones; Sergeant-at-arms, W. H. Lichty.

At a special meeting of the Union Society, on June 4th, the following officers were elected for the fall term: President, E. O. Lewis; Vice President, Lulu Miller; Secretary, Geo. B. Frankforter; Assistant Secretary, Sophia Meyers; Treasurer, Dell Stratton, Critic, J. H. Holmes; Sergeant-at-arms, A. A. Munro.

A lecture room for the medical faculty has been fashioned from a part of the old Palladian Hall on the ground floor. The seats for the pupils have been raised in tiers so all can see the lecturer who has his station within an enclosed space at the north of the room. Dr. Mitchell claims it to be the best class room in the building, and we think all will agree with him.

The societies have been on the alert this Summer in decorating and otherwise improving their halls. New chandeliers, and elegant wall paper, and, in the Palladian, a new carpet, comprise the improvements. The only thing lacking at present is a change in the pictures which line the walls of the respective halls. The fact of it is, the pictures do not look essentially in harmony with the rich wall paper and carpets.
