

Ed. Churchill, '85, gave us a call last week. He also favored Missouri with a visit.

Warner, '85, has gone back to Johns Hopkins. He seems to like Baltimore oysters.

John Hartman, our John, was a prominent figure at the convention of the g. o. p.

Miss Nora E Gage, '86, is assistant principal of the public schools at Hebron this year.

Heffleman, Eagleson and our Editor-in-Chief all bring brothers with them this year.

Elton Fulmer, '88, has secured a position as principal of the schools at Talmage, Otoe Co.

W. H. Lichty, '84, took in Lincoln last week. Once he was fat, then he was fatter, now he is fattest.

Gambec the Graceful will not be back this year. When last seen he was pounding the musical tinware.

If you come down at once you will see the office as it appears just after its biennial sweep. Great sight.

The Scientifics are tickled over the final completion of the chemical laboratory. Well, it's enough to tickle 'em.

Dean Smith now regulates the weather at the University Weather observatory, vice, Oscar V. O. Stout, resigned.

The Misses Pollard, Applegate and White, and Messrs. French and Langdon are with us again after a year's absence.

It's encouraging to see so many literary students taking electives in science, since the completion of the new building.

O. V. P. Stout is out of school for a year and has a position on the U. P. R. R. between Laramie and Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Kathan will graduate, so says the faculty, and it knows. He will also hold down his charge at Waverly the coming year.

Miss Cramphorn, '89, is managing the "wee uns" near Waverly and shows already the effects of her sojourn in the country.

W. P. Sullivan, '84, carries the work of education into Kansas this year, and will aid many Kansas youths in their search for knowledge.

Prof. G. E. Barber is the new dean of the Academic department, and performs the duties of Chancellor in the absence of Chan. Manatt.

New students, we intend to made it to your interests to subscribe for the HESPERIAN. It will furnish college news when there is none to be had anywhere else.

A large beard was wandering around the halls the other day attached to the face of Elton Fulmer. It—the beard—will be principal of the Talmage schools this year.

Ladies and gentlemen, allow us to present to you our Bus. Man., G. W. Gerwig. He is energetic, wants your subscription, and besides has a prosperous pair of burnsides.

Hold on there now! That fellow with an interrogation point for a smile of greeting is our local editor and he has our permission to find out all he can from you.—Manager.

The third year German students are struggling with Ahn's German Method—the same as the first year class are using. Such is the proficiency of this celebrated German class.

It is humiliating to the political economy class to dwell so long on the meaning of wealth. It is bad enough to be without it and a great deal worse to have it constantly brought to mind.

The HESPERIAN can dispose of a subscription to the Scientific American. Some student who takes an interest in such reading can get one cheap by applying to the Bus. Man.

Students have entered the N. S. U. from the following institutions: Haverford College, Marietta College, Ill. Industrial, Iowa Industrial, Chicago University and Iowa Wesleyan University.

Our renowned janitor hints to ye editors that he has a rich joke on somebody that he is keeping against a "failure of crops" in that department of agriculture. Of course he'll keep it all right.

David Dryden Forsyth acts in the capacity of high monkey-muck of the cadet band. David is coming up in the world, and we hope some day to see him act as chancellor of some flourishing university.

Miss Hearn, '86, has been delayed in taking charge of her school by the prolonged sickness of and finally the death of her sister. In behalf of her many friends in the U. of N. the HESPERIAN extends sympathies.

It is nearly time to organize the Athletic Association again. This has been done yearly ever since the University began her glorious career, and should not be neglected now,—all new students will pay—it's just like 'em.

Everybody, except Dean Smith and one or two others, boards at Mrs. Binn's, and the crowd is so dense there that it reminds one of a side show at Barnum's circus—or at least reminds Wiggenghorn of such an occasion.

Our intelligent (?) compositor put in his vacation wrestling with a fever. For a time the prospects were that it would down him, but he showed the badge of the class of '89 and the fever fled. O.i.c. is now able to be out in the night air again.

Our military organization is flourishing. The muster roll now numbers over one hundred. By the way, they need to spruce up. By the new enactment, they will soon be visited by a regular inspection officer. But they will be in good trim in a week or ten days.

The Sophomores have elected the following officers: Pres., William Logan Stephens; Vice Pres., David Dryden Forsyth; Sec'y., Miss May Tower; Hist., Miss Laura Haggard. No trace of the treasurer could be found, and it is supposed that he has gone to Canada.

It is not news to say that the marriage fever ran riot among the tutors this summer. Every one knows that. But not every one knows that it is to be kept up by those yet unmarried. All we wish to say is watch and wait. You may learn something—and you may not.

G. W. Botsford, '84, who has been spending the summer with his parents at Palmyra, this state, was with us a short time recently on his way to Florida where he goes to take a new position. Last year he was Prof. of Greek and Latin at St. Charles college, Missouri.

The class of '90 was the first to hold a class social. It was at the request of Herbert Marsland that they met at his home last Saturday evening. A most enjoyable time is reported by those present. Freshman socials are always the best in our experiences, aren't they? Answer, class of '87.

With characteristic Freshman promptness, the class of '90 meets three times each week. The officers selected for the term are as follows: Pres., Frank Almy; Vice Pres., Miss Annie Childe; Secretary, Sarah Sewhab; Treasurer, Thomas Hall; Historian, Geo. Spurlock; Sergeant-at-arms, G. A. Beecher.
