HALL HAPPENINGS.

By order of the Commandment!

Prof. Hodgeman's father has been visiting the University.

The Freshmen spent last Saturday afternoon at Crabbe's Mill.

The fellow who asked us whether we noticed how warm it was is now convalescent.

Ask French to tell you that joke he has been keeping on ice for the last few days.

G. W. Botsford of '84, who has been teaching in Florida, is around visiting old friends.

Miss Manley entertained a small party of friends last week. All report a most enjoyable time.

The Sophomores spent a pleasant evening last Saturday at the home of the Misses Bonnell.

Last Saturday evening was very pleasantly spent by the Seniors at the residence of Miss Smith.

The campus fences are being taken down, thereby improving the general appearance of the grounds.

The University nine won the game from the bricklayers' nine on Decoration Day, by a score of 23 to 7.

They say Dave got his foot—no, mouth—in it at the Sophomore meeting when he drank out of the finger bowl.

The students have acted upon our repeated suggestions and have held enthusiastic meetings of preparation for Field Day.

Several of the boys occupied seats—in the peanut heaven—at Funke's last week. Dutch opera was the attraction, wasn't it?

C. S. Polk is having a hard time of it. A few days ago he had to return home. The report is that he is slowly mending.

The matting on the two stair ways is in a horrible condition. If somebody trips and breaks his neck it will not cause much surprise.

Most of the boys are wrestling with the problem of how they can cram for the finals and play ball at the same time. Better play ball; you'll flunk anyhow.

Miss Moore started Tuesday to make an extended visit with friends in the east. Miss Moore has many warm friends here who will look for her return at the beginning of next school year.

Theo Westerman while in camp combined business with pleasure by calling on some young lady friends of his who reside in Weeping Water. Walters, however, not considering sparking a part of military discipline, went to the house and lead off our young friend to the guard house, notwithstanding the entreaties of the aforesaid fair ones. That man Walters has no soul.

The gods have again smiled on Kleine. Monday evening a party of burglars entered his abode and tried to find something worth carrying off. They succeeded in finding a watch and about four dollars in money from other inhabitants of the house. They made a bad mistake when they overlooked a vest which contained over a hundred dollars. Kleine came out without losing a cent, and was heard to exclaim "Blessed are the poor, for they shall not be robbed."

Fulmer's mother and father dropped in upon him one day last week to see how their little boy was getting along.

Stephens is the only cadet who covered himself with glory—and gore. We are glad to know that his eye is all right again.

John Green says he is going to whitewash all the tree stumps on the campus, so as to give them a gay appearance. True John, it will,—a graveyard gaiety.

Decoration Day on the campus was a grand failure. Quite a large audience came and took possession of the seats that had been prepared, and waited long, but no speakers appeared.

Those who wish to receive the commencement number of this paper must leave their address with the Business Managers, as it will not be out until about June 20th, and will have to be sent by mail.

The University nine are practicing every day now, and expect to soon be able to down any club in the state. Their proficiency is due, of course, to Mr. Paul Clark's excellent management. (This last sentence was inserted upon request).

(Scene, Union League). Young lady: "I'll take a dozen raw." Mr. S—p—k, her escort: "Why, Miss —, you don't want those; here's something nice, milk toast, just the thing." Note: Somebody lend G—e seventy-five cents.

The lady who was locked in the laboratory and found it necessary to telephone for the prof to come over and let her out, may be classed in the same category with that dignified Soph. who occasionally meanders out on South Tenth street to spend a happy hour with his lah-de-dah. We are told that at the request of an angry dog he spent three hours in the top of a tree last Sunday evening. Finally H. Peterson happened along and effected a rescue; but Mr. W—r did not go any farther that evening.
