EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is necessary for us again to beg the pardon our readers, and especially of the members of the biological journal club, for a typographical error in our last issue. The "intelligent compositor" made us talk about the "biographical journal club" when we had no knowledge of such an organization.

SINCE the non-partisan prohibitory amendment league has been organized among the students, it may not be out of place to speak of the advantages which may come from the organization. In the first place there is need for evangelization among our students. Though a large number are in favor of the amendment, many can not see the wisdom or expediency of such a move. There is need of both public speeches and private work to win these over to the great cause. The meetings at the University will attract outsiders and these will carry away influence with them to others. But perhaps the greatest results will follow when the students scatter to all parts of the state. The enthusiasm generated in the University league, the facts and figures, the arguments there obtained, as well as the practice in speaking on this particular subject, will follow each member to his home. Thus the good seed will be scattered broadcast over our fair state with the result of producing an abundant harvest of prohibition votes. We urge every student who believes in the amendment not only to join the league, but to regularly attend all its meetings. The movement needs you, and you need the help the organization will give you if you intend to stand by your convictions and do battle for the right.

IN account of the absence of the HESPERIAN force from the city up to the first of January no paper will be issued on that date. There will be then but one more issue of THE HESPERIAN under its present management. The election of the new board of editors will occur about the middle of January. We should like to offer a little advice to our readers. The paper has not been run in just the manner to best suit you. Now the thing for you to do is to see that an improvement is made under the new management. In the first place, elect no one who is not interested in the college paper and who will not
