

THE OMAHA BEE

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We do not desire any contributions whatever of a literary or poetical character; and we will not undertake to preserve, or to return to the author, any such matter. Our staff is sufficiently large to more than supply our limited space in this direction.

REAL NAME OF WRITER. In full, must be given in every communication, and every communication of what nature ever. This is not intended for publication, but for our satisfaction and as proof of good faith.

OUR COUNTY FRIENDS we will always be pleased to hear from, on all matters connected with the county, and on any subject whatever of general interest to the people of our State. Any information connected with the election, and relating to floods, accidents, etc., will be gladly received. All such communications, however, must be brief and to the point, and in all cases, be written up to the date of the issue.

ALL ARTICLES submitted for publication, whether made by our friends, or whether as 'non' or 'con' contributions to the Editor, are (until nominations are made) simply personal, and will be charged as advertisements.

NOTICE. On and after October twenty-first, 1872, the daily circulation of the OMAHA BEE is assumed by Mr. Edwin Davis, and no subscription will be paid at the office will be payable, and when all receipts for subscriptions will be counterchecked.

WHAT does the Omaha Herald think of the financial plank of the platform put up yesterday by the Indiana Democracy?

It is now estimated that the loss to the spring wheat crop of the country caused by the drought, will be at least equal to fifteen million bushels.

The Carlists have a very effective way of keeping newspaper correspondents out of their camp. They shoot them as fast as they catch them.

WHAT will become of the country if Uncle Spinner should carry out his threat to resign. Is there another man in the United States that can furnish such a handsome vignette for Uncle Sam's fifty cent stamp?

The National Council of Sovereigns of Industry, is just being held at Chicago. This organization originated in Massachusetts, and is in no way connected with the great order of Kops, brought to life by Johnson, Dudley & Co.

The Indiana Democracy made what might properly be termed some right smart nominations. B. C. Smart is their candidate for State Treasurer, and J. H. Smart is their nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The political cauldron in Utah is beginning to boil. Some of Brigham's young bloods are said to be arraying themselves in opposition to the great prophet, and the indications of a general revolt among the faithful are becoming more definite every day.

The Indiana Democracy have spoken through their regular State Convention, and they declare for Pendletonian repudiation in its most obnoxious form. They propose to repeal the law which assumed the payment of the fifty-two bonds in money, and demand their payment in other paper promises.

The Chicago Tribune characterizes the latest great fire as a cheap penalty for a great folly. In reviewing the causes and consequences of this folly the journal in question says:

"The predestined fate of every wooden building in a large city is to be burned some time. We have now offered up thirty acres of our combustible as a sacrifice to the genius of free institutions—meaning thereby the freedom of every man to keep a tinder-box and an oil factory where he pleases, and an oil best. Would that we could say this is the last of such folly. It is not. Chicago still has thousands upon thousands of wooden shanties to need future fires; and go down they will all in good time. The utmost we can do is to prevent our stone and brick edifices from going down too. There is nothing like experience to teach us how to build, and where to put our property."

Few persons who have not personally lived in, or traveled through the districts in Massachusetts that have in the past few months suffered from reservoir and mill-dam disasters, have any definite ideas as to their cause. The following explanation from an eastern contemporary will enable our readers to comprehend the situation:

When New England was first settled its villages were built on the tops of the hills. Perhaps because "hill" is a very familiar spiritual word, expressing all that is beautiful and desirable for location—the hill of the Lord; the hill of God; the hill of frankincense; city set on a hill that cannot be hid, etc.—in course of time when manufactures sprang up the water courses only were supposed capable of propelling machinery. Steam power was not known or when known as applicable to purposes of navigation, it for a long time could not support, in the opinion of manufacturers, water power. And so New England gradually slid down into the valleys, the building of railways, too helping the transition. But Yankee industry and invention were too much for nature, and the flow of water became insufficient, at certain seasons of the year, for mechanical demands. And pre-judiced still against steam power, a resort was had to artificial reservoirs and the consequence is, in certain portions of New England, the people are constantly subjected to floods from the broken dams carrying everything before them. So that in passing up the water for use in a dry time, they have penned up destruction that, sooner or later, is sure to escape and carry devastation in its path."

GRANGE POINTS.

Forty-one Granges were organized in Virginia in May. There are 144 Grangers who want to run for Sheriff of Cass county, Indiana. A Grange has been organized at Horseshoe Bend, Boise county, Idaho. Mr. Shelton, Deputy Grand Master of Granges in Idaho Territory, has organized seven Granges in that Territory.

The Grangers at various points of Williamson Valley, Oregon, have gone to the butchering business, and are retailing meats at six cents a pound. Better than farming—Last year the National Secretary of the Granges, at Washington, received nearly $7,000 salary and arrears, besides other perquisites.

The Rice Co., (Minn.) Grange-Mill Company has purchased six acres of land in Fairbairn, paying $3,000, and work has already been commenced upon the mill.

The Grange mill at Janesville, Wis., has just received an order from Kentucky for the shipment direct to a Grange in that State of a car load of flour.

The Sacramento Council of P. of H. has formed a Joint Stock Fruit Drying Company, with a capital of $50,000, and will erect suitable buildings at once.

The Kansas Executive Committee warn those who organize Granges in occupied territory that in the future they will have to consolidate with other Granges or surrender their charter.

The Kansas Farmer objects to the Order taking so much money out of the State, and shows that if the disbursement fee were $5 instead of $15, the sum of $14,000 would have been retained in Kansas.

The Order is prospering wonderfully in Texas. Already 40 are expected that fully 1,000 Granges will be represented in the State Grange, which meets in August.

The jewel implement and regalia question still continues to excite no small talk in Kansas. It is far where certain officials are accused of co-operating with Eastern monopolists in attempting to force upon the Granges interior and expensive articles.

The business men of Dixon, South County, Cal., each received a card on Saturday last, of which the following is a copy: "At a meeting of the Grange held July 4, 1874, at Dixon, the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That this Grange will withdraw their patronage from all business houses keeping open on Sunday."

The spirit of all secret orders is to foster a sense of mystery, and to take the place of that purer, higher, and more noble sentiment of fraternity upon which all secret orders, and especially the Order of Patrons, have been founded. It is the moral instead of the mental facilities—the heart instead of the head—should guide and govern the thought and action of the Order. It is for a greater degree than they do. We do not fulfill our solemn obligations voluntarily taken, when we go through with all the forms and ceremonies of the ritual, there is or ought to be, a holier motive for our actions than the sordid gain or excellence in prescribed formalities.—Our Home Journal and Rural Standard.

A Patron gives this advice to his brethren: "Do not trouble with any business you know nothing of. Have order, system, regularity and promptness. Do not kick every stone, unless they lay directly in the path. More miles can be made in a day by going steadily on, than stopping by the wayside. Endeavor to avoid all hard words and personalities. Scan the eye of No. 1. Do not be snapping it out dog-fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully. A Grange of honor respect their word as they do their bond. They will not be deceived. Pay as you go. Never fool in business matters. Have no confidants; at least, the fewer the better. Learn to think and act for yourself. Thoroughly investigate before going into any business of great importance. Keep your tables and stands well filled with journals of scientific matter."

If the Western Grangers are not becoming potent in a political way, they certainly exhibit a wonderful activity, collectively, in pushing the individual interests of the farmers. This is especially true in Iowa, where the hayseed elements have carried the Grange system into more branches of every day than in any other State. The Order has attained immense strength in the State. A recent meeting for business showed that Councils are in operation in each county, and the total membership something like 200,000. Under these, forty-one county Councils have been organized to attend to the purchasing of supplies for the different Granges and to assume the management of the co-operative stores, mill, manufactories, etc., already begun. A law was passed at the last session of the Legislature enabling the Councils to organize local fire insurance companies, of which twenty-nine are already doing business. They usually include about four civil townships in each assigned territory, giving the offices of president and secretary to some local members, and charge only from one to three mills on the dollar, and as yet there has not been a failure to meet a liability. Several of them are carrying from $400,000 to $500,000 each in risks, and the fact is reported universal.—Nashville Banner.

Sunday School Statistics. Attention is directed to the following: STATISTICAL SECRETARY'S OFFICE, FREMONT, NEB., July 1, 1874. TO SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS: Important changes in the Constitution and plans for working in our State Association, require early attention.

The Executive Committee have a large work before them, in arranging and carrying out the plan of the State Association, viz: to form a County Association in each County not already provided with such an organization.

Can not Christian brethren in such Counties, begin the work without waiting for the Committee, sending plans and wants to them, and asking for what assistance is indispensable? The Committee will respond to the extent of their ability, giving all possible assistance and co-operation.

There are nearly fifty counties with no County S. S. Society yet formed. How many less shall there be next year? The form for reports from schools to the State and County Societies has been revised. That you may know what items of Statistics will be called for, and so arrange your records as to be able to give accurate, intelligent answers to each question, the following quotation from the Constitution is made. Will County Secretaries and Superintendents and Secretaries of local schools notice the items relating to each of their departments? It is desired to ascertain:

1 The total population of his County by Precincts. 2 Number of persons between the ages of 5 and 21 years. 3 Date of organization of first Sabbath School established. 4 Present number of Sabbath Schools. (The above for County Secretaries.) 5 Number of Officers and Teachers enrolled. 6 Number of Scholars enrolled. 7 Total enrollment. 8 Total average attendance. 9 Number of Scholars in Infant classes. 10 Number of Scholars in intermediate classes. 11 Number of Scholars in Bible classes. 12 Number of volumes in Library. 13 Number of Children's papers taken periodically. 14 Number of Teacher's papers taken. 15 Number of Schools sustaining Teachers' meetings. 16 Number of Schools open Summer and Winter. 17 At what hour held. 18 Number of collections for Missionary and other purposes. 19 Number of Conversations during the year. These are simple questions. If you are not now able to answer them all, make your records so as to be able to answer as many as you can next year. Few of the schools in the State have this classification of reports from one-quarter or one-half of the number. A corresponding meaning should be given to number 14. Numbers 15 and 16, changed to meet a single school should read, "Does your school sustain a teachers' meeting? Does your school hold open summer and winter? Try to be able to answer next year with an emphatic yes."

The above reports are required to be ready at least one month before the annual meeting. Blanks for this purpose will be forwarded to School Secretaries in ample time. A report from one-quarter or one-half or even three-quarters of the schools in the State, is of little value. Do not think your report will do us no good. Do not think you will be benefitted by sending one. Let our watchword this year be, "a voice from every county, and from each school in the county. County Secretaries will confer a favor by sending me the proceedings of the County Conventions, as published in your county newspapers, or by your association. Any posters, circulars, programmes of Conventions, or Institutes, and other appliances which you may make use of from time to time, will aid me in learning the history of Sunday School work in Nebraska, for our State Convention in 1875. Now a word of caution and encouragement. Each County Secretary will find it an invaluable aid in gathering statistics to have a blank book in which to enter every item of information concerning Sunday Schools in his field. Enter these items as they come, and NEVER LOSE ONE. If you can not visit all the localities in your county, inquire of your county Superintendent of Public Instruction, or the clergyman you confide in, concerning them. Often much valuable information may thus be secured which otherwise would remain in secret. A postage stamp will directly in the path. More miles can be made in a day by going steadily on, than stopping by the wayside. Endeavor to avoid all hard words and personalities. Scan the eye of No. 1. Do not be snapping it out dog-fashion, but say it firmly and respectfully. A Grange of honor respect their word as they do their bond. They will not be deceived. Pay as you go. Never fool in business matters. Have no confidants; at least, the fewer the better. Learn to think and act for yourself. Thoroughly investigate before going into any business of great importance. Keep your tables and stands well filled with journals of scientific matter."

John Bright has gone a fishing. His is terrible now. Occupied by the Florence. Mme. Adeline Patti is engaged for the next season of Italian opera in Paris. Jules Janin is reported to have died in the arm-chair where he lingered expired. Chief Justice Waite is rusticated at Put-in-Bay. He needs a treat for his old bones. Ex-Governor Warrmouth has left New Orleans for New York City, where, it is announced, he intends to make his "temporary residence."

The King of the Sandwich Islands is expected at Paris. Since Rochefort's notice of his government they will appreciate the news. The Crown Prince of Germany has been reported as being in the city of Bremen, in company with Prince Albrecht, and Generals Von Blumenthal and Von Trescow. It was generally expected for the Burgemeister, Gildemeister, and other ministers. Of the group of seventeen ministers who took the oath of allegiance to Queen Victoria on her accession to the throne thirty-seven years ago, two lived to participate in the recent anniversary celebration. Lord Russell, now in his eighty-second year, and Earl Gray, who is ten years younger.

The question "What's in a name?" has been repeatedly asked, and usually answered in the affirmative. To receive the name of "Snooks" from one's ancestors we cannot but regard as a personal misfortune, and there are other names equally unpalatable. But how can we appreciate the misfortune of a Millenarian preacher who baptizes people in the chill waters of Lake Okauchie, Minnesota, and who is neither more nor less than the Rev. Mr. Dem-it.

Ex-Postmaster General Crewell, it is announced, has decided to connect himself with the new National bank to be removed from Hagerstown, Md. to Washington. His uncle, a Mr. Tome, is the principal stockholder and manager of the financial adventure. The new concern is to be kept for quarters, and has made an offer to purchase or rent the building formerly occupied by the exploded Cooke's bank; falling in this it is probable they will secure the Freedman's bank building.
