

THE DAILY BEE. EDWARD ROSEWATER, Editor and Prop'r. Office—No. 125 Farnham street, betw. 13th and 14th.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: One copy, one year, in advance, $7.00; six months, in advance, $4.00; three months, in advance, $2.00. If not paid in advance, $8 per annum will be collected.

FREDERICK. GEORGE FRANCIS proposes to take a trip to the other side of the world in order to get another sight at the comet's tail.

LEADING HATTER! Best Goods, LOWEST PRICES. Farnham St.

OMAHA BUSINESS DIRECTORY. OMAHA MANUFACTURER. OMAHA AND PICTURE FRAMES.

CONFECTIONERY. H. L. Lacey, corner 12th and Douglas streets, in manufacture and wholesale. Fine confectionery. Country trade solicited.

COLL DEALERS. Poland & Elliot, coal, lime, cement, etc., 124 Farnham st. Tel. 103.

PAW BROKER. J. A. R. Orr, 220 Farnham st. Tel. 103.

LAUNDRY. A new laundry opened at 1113 1/2 st. bet. Farnham and Douglas. Fine washing and ironing will be done in order, first class work.

PAINTER. J. L. Lacey, corner 12th and Douglas streets, in manufacture and wholesale. Fine confectionery. Country trade solicited.

ESTABROOK & FRANCIS ATTORNEYS AT LAW. OFFICE—Creston Block, Omaha, Neb.

DEXTER L. THOMAS, Attorney and Counselor at Law. OFFICE—Room 30, Vinton's Block, OMAHA, NEB.

JOHN W. LITTLE, Attorney-at-Law and Solicitor in Equity. OFFICE—Over First National Bank, OMAHA, NEB.

PARKE GODWIN, Attorney at Law. (Campbell's Bldg.) 503 1/2 THIRTIETH STREET, OMAHA, NEB.

JOHN C. COWIN, Attorney, Solicitor and Counselor. OFFICE—CRESTON BLOCK, OMAHA, NEBRASKA.

T. W. T. RICHARDS, Attorney at Law. Office 510 13th St., bet. Farnham and Douglas, Omaha, Neb. P. O. Box 80.

Ballou & Glasgow, ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office in Creston's block, southeast corner 13th and Douglas, Omaha, Neb.

SAVAGE & MANDERSOHN, Attorneys at Law, 202 FARNHAM STREET.

N. J. BURNHAM, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, No. 130 Farnham Street, OMAHA, NEB.

JOHN E. KELLEY, Attorney & Counselor at Law. Office—Room 3, Douglas Block, - OMAHA, Neb. and 1013 1/2 Douglas St.

W. J. CONNELL, Counselor at Law and District Attorney for Second Judicial District. OFFICE—South side of Farnham, between 13th and 14th streets, opposite Court House.

J. S. SHROPSHIRE, Attorney-at-Law. Room No. 1, S. E. Corner 13th and Douglas Sts. OMAHA, NEBR.

SPAUN & PRITCHETT, Attorneys and Counselors at Law. Office, 202 Farnham St., Omaha, Neb.

G. W. AMBROSE, Attorney-at-Law. Office, 202 Farnham St., Omaha, Neb.

REDDICK'S OPERA HOUSE. OMAHA, NEB.

OMAHA has just discovered that she has a silver-plated postmaster. THE comet has given way to the dog star.

On for a hand organ to relieve our dry good's clerks from monotony.

GEORGE FRANCIS proposes to take a trip to the other side of the world in order to get another sight at the comet's tail.

WITH a three thousand pound fire alarm bell Omaha will be comparatively safe against over-sleeping in case of a midnight fire.

No wonder Yost was ready to fight Sperry's battles, as long as Sperry was willing to put money in his purse by signing fraudulent payrolls for him.

AN assault upon the city editor of the Nashville Banner, resulted in a rush for a thousand extras, and the publisher has issued an invitation to the man with the iron fist, to call again.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

MR. PATTEE is an eminently practical philanthropist. He has a happy faculty of regulating his memory according to circumstances.

VERY LATEST! MIDNIGHT. THE EAST.

The Beecher-Tilton Scandal.—Mrs. Tilton's Statement.

NEW YORK, July 23. The following is the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton:

To pick up anew the sorrows of the past ten years, which I had daily schooled myself to forget, and to make this an imperative duty, as called forth by the malicious statement of my husband, the saddest act of my life.

As I have not thought following my Master contradicts this act, my pen and sense of perversion, my life and faith almost compels me to stand aside till God himself delivers me from this man.

Touching the alleged sorrow of my husband concerning compulsory revelations, I solemnly avow that long before the Woodhull publication, I knew him, by insinuation and direct statement, to have repeated to my very near relatives and friends the substance of these insinuations which shock the moral sense of the entire community this day.

Many times, when reading that certain persons had spoken ill of him, he has sent me to chide them for so doing, and then when I learned that he had been before me, with his calumnies against myself, so that I was speedily, "The repetition in his statement that he had repeatedly striven to hide these so-called facts, is utterly false, as I have said before."

Mr. Beecher has existed for many years, as I have said before, in the great aim of his life. Again, his perjury to the holiest love of his wife has been discovered in his publication of the same.

Most commonly is my letter quoted, reading like Griffith Gaunt. Had Mr. Tilton read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

My husband, in his confession with me, I told him that I had read of the pure character of Catherine, he would have seen that I lifted myself beside it as near as any human being could affect the ideal; but it was her character, and not the incidents of fiction surrounding it, which I have read.

Two years ago he came to me at midnight, saying, "Elizabeth, all the letters and papers concerning my difficulties with Mr. Beecher and Mr. Bowen are burned and destroyed, no copy remains, except for I have been able to defend myself with. Did you believe that?" said he. "I certainly did, implicitly," I said. "Well, let me tell you all my life; no one is to say if this was said to intimidate me, it had quite the contrary effect. I had never been so fearless, nor seen so clearly before, and I was not a little startled. Coming to me a little later, he said: "I want you to read it; you will find it a complete vindication of yourself. You have not stood before the public for five years as you now do." Roused still further by the wickedness he had never so false a mask, I replied, "Theodore, understand me, this is the last time you will call me publicly to walk through this filth; my character needs no vindication at this late hour from you. There was a time, had you spoken to me clearly, truthfully and manfully for me, I would have been grateful, but I shall now speak and act for myself; also, that if in the future I see a scrap of paper, or any other man being, however remote, which it seems to me you might use or pervert for your own ends, I will destroy it, and I will not have a battle on your part, then," he said. "Just so," I replied. I write this because these words of mine he has since used to my harm. The next morning I went to my lawyer and told him that I had decided to act in this matter; that I had been treated by my husband as a nonentity from the beginning; a plaything to be used or let alone at will; that I always seemed to me I was a party not a little concerned. I then showed him a card I had written for publication. As to my motive, he still advised complete silence on my part. I yielded so far as to my appearing in the public prints, but counselling with myself and no other, I determined to meet among the members of my own communion, I might be heard, and not knowing any of the church committee, I asked the privilege of an interview in the parlors with those who had always been our mutual friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ovington then learned for the first time that I was coming to meet that night, and advised me to see those gentlemen, as perhaps they were the best persons I could select. I accordingly did. There, alone, I pleaded and the result of my husband and my children, were moved in sympathy for my family, the feeling, the pang, shared for years, for which I was now suffering. On going home, I found my husband reading in bed. I told him what I had been. I did not conceal anything from him, as was his habit from me. He asked who the gentlemen were. He said no more, and then dressed himself, and said his good night to me forever. At midnight the following night I was awakened by my husband standing by my bedside. In a very tender and kind voice he said he wished to see me. I rose instantly, and followed him to his room, and, setting on the bedside, he drew me onto his lap. He then said he wished to see me. He said that nothing ever gave him such real peace and satisfaction as to hear me well spoken of at that meeting; that he had been mistaken as to my motives, and that he had been thoroughly wretched since his rash treatment the night treatment the night before. Then and there we came to an understanding of our hearts and lives. I most utterly renewing trust in this one human heart I had loved, and how happy we were together. The next day Theodore wrote the statement to present to the committee, and to all of which I heartily assented. This document I read, and I know, was a true history of this affair, completely vindicating my honor, and the honor of my pastor. In the afternoon he left me to show it to his friends, and I returned early in the evening, and we passed the happiest hours I had known for years, he assuring me that there was no rest for him away from me, that he would never leave me, and that he would never again be separated from me. I would not then have received the oral blow which made me mad outright. The very next morning he called upon me, and we went to Washington, and while there, with shocking bravado, began a wicked tirade, adding, with oaths, shameful slanders against Mr. Beecher. In the afternoon of the next day he showed me his invitation from the committee to meet them that evening. I did not show any hurt, but carried it heavily within, calmly without, all night and till the next morning. On reflection this scene at Mr. Ovington's convinced me that, notwithstanding my husband's recent profession to me, he had never been unchanged, and that his declarations of repentance and affection, were only for the purpose of gaining my assistance to accomplish his ends in his war against Mr. Beecher. In the light of these conclusions, my duty appeared plain. I rose quietly, and having dressed, roused him, only to say, "Theodore, I will not take another step by your side. The end has indeed come." He followed me to Mrs. Ovington's to breakfast, saying I was unjustly excited and that he had been misrepresented, but leaving me as determined as before. He went to account for the change which twenty-four hours had been capable of working in his mind, then fixed for many years past, I leave for the eternities with their mysteries to reveal. That he is an unreliable and unsafe guide, whose idea of truth-loving, it is my misfortune in this late sad hour to discover. (Signed) ELIZABETH R. TILTON.

NEW YORK. The Public is Indebted to the Faithfulness of a Reporter for the Publication of Tilton's Statement.

Tilton is Indignant, but it Can't be Helped.

NEW YORK, July 23. Wall street markets were depressed yesterday, and small transactions in stocks, which continued weak throughout.

BROOKLYN, July 23. It will be several weeks before the Beecher's investigation committee will be able to report, as Tilton's statement has rendered it necessary to call a large number of witnesses.

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 23. Some time after midnight last night, all the prisoners, four in number, confined in jail in this city escaped. They removed a stone in the wall, and by twisting ropes out of the blankets descended to the ground and escaped. No clue to them has been found as yet. It is believed that they had help from the outside.

BOSTON, July 23. Jesse Pomeroy, the city marshal, has made another confession. He admits that he murdered little Horace Muller, whose body was found at Dorchester Marsh two months ago. He cut his throat and stabbed him in his bowels and chest, afterwards mutilating the body frightfully. Further convictions as to the fate of his other victims may be expected.

NEW YORK, July 23. The prosecution in the case of E. K. Winship, defaulting salary broker, closed this morning. The referee announced that he wanted to reserve his decision until Tuesday next.

A new pound has been ordered for the slaughter of dogs, and the 18th ward market will be taken for the purpose. Dogs are to be drowned, and for redemption, each thousand dogs have already been killed.

WASHINGTON, July 23. Two hundred and fifty-four thousand dollars in national currency notes were received at the treasury today for redemption. A number of bids have been received for the new five per cent bonds. They will be opened at noon to-day, but no announcement will be made in regard to the matter until Secretary Bristow has consulted with the president. For this purpose he leaves Washington for Long Branch tonight, taking the bids that have been made with him.

NEW YORK, July 23. The Golden Age, formerly Tilton's paper, now edited by W. T. Clark, in its issue to-day has an editorial on Tilton's late statement. It sympathizes with Tilton and breaks his marriage, and bears the burden of wrong so long. It says it is an awful sorrow that covers the land to-day. One of the most popular best loved men in America is stricken down with what is a thousand times worse than the dagger's stroke or disease; if he survives it will be the shivered and blasted oak, its every limb revealing the effects of lightning. What answer he can make to this simple, consistent and apparently truthful statement, backed by convincing evidence, it is impossible to say. It is believed that he can possibly make will lift him to the pedestal he has fallen from. The sorrow of the community is too deep for condemnation; the pity he has profound and unutterable and the pain. The statement clears the air of smoke, and must, after public estimate of an injured and trusting man, the delicacy of reticence, the nobility of his forbearance, and his generosity towards one whom he carried in his arms till he broke out of them, and leaped into another's, will touch every soul that can appreciate such qualities.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH. New York Money Market. NEW YORK, July 23. Money—Easy at 2 1/2 per cent. Exchange—Dull but firm 4 1/2 @ 4 3/4. Gold—Firm; advanced to 110; now selling at 10 1/2. It is said 900,000 of the new loan will be bid for by foreign bankers. Government sold one million of gold today at 106 1/2 to 106 1/4. Governments—Firm but quiet; 10-40, registered, 1 1/2. Stocks—More active and firmer; Erie advanced from 21 1/2 to 22; U. P. 21; Erie 21; U. P. 21; P. M. 4 1/4.

New York Produce Market. NEW YORK, July 23. Breadstuffs—Quiet. Flour—Dull; superfine State and Western 4 1/2 to 5 1/2; extra 5 1/2 to 5 3/4; No 2 Chicago 1 28 @ 29; No 3 Milwaukee spring 1 21 @ 22. Corn—Firm; Western mixed about 70 @ 80. Oats—Firm; Western mixed about 64 @ 67. Rye—1 09 for State and Pennsylvania. Provisions—Quiet. Pork—New mess, 12 00 @ 21 25. Lard—Steady, rendered, 12 1/2 @ 13; kettle rendered, 1 1/2 @ 1 3/4; primo city, 1 1/2 @ 1 3/4. Leather, Iron and Wool—Quiet.

Chicago Produce Market. CHICAGO, July 23. Flour—Dull; shippers offer 5 00 for good shipping extras; superfines wanted at 5 06 1/2. Wheat—Unsettled; July 1 08; August 1 06. Corn—Steady; cash, 64; August, 62 1/2. Oats—Firm; cash, 56; July, 52; August, 54; September, 34. Barley—Quiet; September 1 02. Highwines—65. Pork—Firm; August, 29 88 @ 29 90; Sept 23 00. Lard—Quiet; cash, 11 1/2.

TELEGRAPHIC. 4 O'CLOCK P. M.

Special Report for the Omaha Daily Bee by the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Co.

NEW YORK. The Public is Indebted to the Faithfulness of a Reporter for the Publication of Tilton's Statement.

Tilton is Indignant, but it Can't be Helped.

NEW YORK, July 23. Wall street markets were depressed yesterday, and small transactions in stocks, which continued weak throughout.

BROOKLYN, July 23. It will be several weeks before the Beecher's investigation committee will be able to report, as Tilton's statement has rendered it necessary to call a large number of witnesses.

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 23. Some time after midnight last night, all the prisoners, four in number, confined in jail in this city escaped. They removed a stone in the wall, and by twisting ropes out of the blankets descended to the ground and escaped. No clue to them has been found as yet. It is believed that they had help from the outside.

BOSTON, July 23. Jesse Pomeroy, the city marshal, has made another confession. He admits that he murdered little Horace Muller, whose body was found at Dorchester Marsh two months ago. He cut his throat and stabbed him in his bowels and chest, afterwards mutilating the body frightfully. Further convictions as to the fate of his other victims may be expected.

NEW YORK, July 23. The prosecution in the case of E. K. Winship, defaulting salary broker, closed this morning. The referee announced that he wanted to reserve his decision until Tuesday next.

A new pound has been ordered for the slaughter of dogs, and the 18th ward market will be taken for the purpose. Dogs are to be drowned, and for redemption, each thousand dogs have already been killed.

WASHINGTON, July 23. Two hundred and fifty-four thousand dollars in national currency notes were received at the treasury today for redemption. A number of bids have been received for the new five per cent bonds. They will be opened at noon to-day, but no announcement will be made in regard to the matter until Secretary Bristow has consulted with the president. For this purpose he leaves Washington for Long Branch tonight, taking the bids that have been made with him.

NEW YORK, July 23. The Golden Age, formerly Tilton's paper, now edited by W. T. Clark, in its issue to-day has an editorial on Tilton's late statement. It sympathizes with Tilton and breaks his marriage, and bears the burden of wrong so long. It says it is an awful sorrow that covers the land to-day. One of the most popular best loved men in America is stricken down with what is a thousand times worse than the dagger's stroke or disease; if he survives it will be the shivered and blasted oak, its every limb revealing the effects of lightning. What answer he can make to this simple, consistent and apparently truthful statement, backed by convincing evidence, it is impossible to say. It is believed that he can possibly make will lift him to the pedestal he has fallen from. The sorrow of the community is too deep for condemnation; the pity he has profound and unutterable and the pain. The statement clears the air of smoke, and must, after public estimate of an injured and trusting man, the delicacy of reticence, the nobility of his forbearance, and his generosity towards one whom he carried in his arms till he broke out of them, and leaped into another's, will touch every soul that can appreciate such qualities.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH. New York Money Market. NEW YORK, July 23. Money—Easy at 2 1/2 per cent. Exchange—Dull but firm 4 1/2 @ 4 3/4. Gold—Firm; advanced to 110; now selling at 10 1/2. It is said 900,000 of the new loan will be bid for by foreign bankers. Government sold one million of gold today at 106 1/2 to 106 1/4. Governments—Firm but quiet; 10-40, registered, 1 1/2. Stocks—More active and firmer; Erie advanced from 21 1/2 to 22; U. P. 21; Erie 21; U. P. 21; P. M. 4 1/4.

New York Produce Market. NEW YORK, July 23. Breadstuffs—Quiet. Flour—Dull; superfine State and Western 4 1/2 to 5 1/2; extra 5 1/2 to 5 3/4; No 2 Chicago 1 28 @ 29; No 3 Milwaukee spring 1 21 @ 22. Corn—Firm; Western mixed about 70 @ 80. Oats—Firm; Western mixed about 64 @ 67. Rye—1 09 for State and Pennsylvania. Provisions—Quiet. Pork—New mess, 12 00 @ 21 25. Lard—Steady, rendered, 12 1/2 @ 13; kettle rendered, 1 1/2 @ 1 3/4; primo city, 1 1/2 @ 1 3/4. Leather, Iron and Wool—Quiet.

Chicago Produce Market. CHICAGO, July 23. Flour—Dull; shippers offer 5 00 for good shipping extras; superfines wanted at 5 06 1/2. Wheat—Unsettled; July 1 08; August 1 06. Corn—Steady; cash, 64; August, 62 1/2. Oats—Firm; cash, 56; July, 52; August, 54; September, 34. Barley—Quiet; September 1 02. Highwines—65. Pork—Firm; August, 29 88 @ 29 90; Sept 23 00. Lard—Quiet; cash, 11 1/2.

CABLEGRAMS. More Troops to be Sent to Cuba.

Carlist Atrocities.—They Shoot Every Tenth Prisoner Taken.

Republican Victory at Salvanca. They Release 700 Prisoners Held by the Carlists.

President McMahon Speaks His Mind Plainly on French Affairs.

MADRID, July 23. Senator Marilla has been appointed Spanish minister at Washington.

LONDON, July 23. At the Lord Mayor's banquet, Desiral, in reply to a toast, said he would endeavor to redress the grievances of the people, and improve their condition.

BERLIN, July 23. Provincial correspondence of the semi-official organ congratulates King Louis on the establishment of most cordial relations between Bavaria and other States of the German empire.

MADRID, July 23. Dispatches received by government state that one hundred Republican troops held as prisoners by the Carlists at Olat have been shot by order of the Carlist commander. The appointment of Senator Mantelina as Spanish minister to the United States is announced.

LONDON, July 23. The Lord Mayor's banquet was given last night to a large and distinguished assemblage of guests. M. Disraeli replied to the toast of the evening, and in the course of his remarks he said it had always been his endeavor to redress grievances and improve the condition of people.

HAVANA, July 23. Consignees of the different steamship lines have received communication from the postal authorities notifying them that in the future letters for Cuba must be sent through the central postoffice and not received as heretofore at the counting rooms of consignees.

Gen. Pen has defeated a detachment of Alfonso's army at Salvanca, in the province of Cauca, delivering 700 taken by the Carlists at Olat, in reply to a toast, said he would endeavor to redress the grievances of the people, and improve their condition.

MADRID, July 23. The Carlist loss in killed, wounded and prisoners was heavy. The government captured eight battalions, which were captured at Cauca. General Boniques is in command of the Republican army at Catalonia.

General Spiocka will soon take the field in Central Spain, with 14,000 men and thirty guns.

LONDON, July 23. At the Lord Mayor's banquet Mr. Disraeli, in answering to the toast to the ministry, said that no one was able to view the state of Europe without regret. Everyone would deplore the anarchical condition of some favored countries, and friends of peace were never more sought for than the leading powers of Europe and America. Foreign policy must be based on peace. Mr. Disraeli repudiated the principles that that country was not responsible in the same manner as the other nations.

General Spiocka will soon take the field in Central Spain, with 14,000 men and thirty guns.

LONDON, July 23. At the Lord Mayor's banquet Mr. Disraeli, in answering to the toast to the ministry, said that no one was able to view the state of Europe without regret. Everyone would deplore the anarchical condition of some favored countries, and friends of peace were never more sought for than the leading powers of Europe and America. Foreign policy must be based on peace. Mr. Disraeli repudiated the