Judge Carter, of Beatrice, arrived in the city Wednesday on business, and returned home yesterday.

J. J. Dickey, Superintendent of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph, went west yesterday on business.

Surveyor General Cunningham, of Plattsmouth, was registered at the Grand Central last evening.

Hon. George H. Thummel and wife, of Grand Island, are at the Grand Central.

Miss Susie George, daughter of Hon. F. George, of Clark Station, Nebraska, formerly of Springfield, Illinois, is in the city, visiting the family of Dr. Mercer.

Gen. Harney, who is stopping at the Grand Central Hotel, is probably the oldest officer in the United States army.

At an early day in the history of the West he distinguished himself by many brilliant victories over the Sioux, and during the late war he achieved additional honors as a soldier.

He was serened at the Grand Central Hotel Wednesday evening by the 23d Infantry band. He was introduced by Mayor Chase, and gracefully acknowledging the serenade, he stated that he was no speaker, and then retired.

The following are the arrivals at the Metropolitan Hotel:

SUPPORT HOME MANUFACTURES and buy the Snow Flake Flour. It is the best in the market.

At the State Immigration office yesterday, we were shown by Colonel Noteware a specimen of pest, six inches thick and two feet square, which was taken out five miles south of Albion, Boone county, by Judge Lorin Clark, and sent to Omaha. It is used for fuel, and burns readily, being a splendid heat producer. It abounds in great quantities all through the Beaver valley, and is sold at $2.50 per wagon load.

There are on exhibition at the Immigration office seventeen different specimens of winter apples, raised by P. Walker, of Plattsmouth. They are conclusive evidence that Nebraska is destined to be one of the leading fruit growing States, both as to quality and quantity.

A mammoth squash weighing 80 pounds, raised by William Allimus, of Dakota city, attracts considerable attention. It is flanked by two other large squashes, one raised by Elder W. Tyler, and the other by T. Tipton, both of Dawson county.

Hon. J. D. Neigh, of West Point, has on exhibition a specimen of Nebraska white spring wheat, of excellent quality, and which weighs sixty-one and a half pounds to the bushel.

W. D. Blackburn, of Lowell, has sent in a specimen of Mediterranean wheat, which averaged 24 bushels to the acre.

Narrow Escape from being Burned to Death. Dr. Tanner, the well known veterinary surgeon, having taken a little too much wine for his stomach's sake, as we were informed, came very nearly making a burnt sacrifice of himself Wednesday night.

He went to sleep at his stable, on the alley, between Harney and Howard streets, on Fourteenth, and left a lamp burning by his side. It fell over and set fire to the straw twice, but each time the accident was discovered by Mr. Haybrook, who was thus the means of saving the Doctor's life, as well as the stable, from destruction.

Mr. Haybrook informed Marshal Snowden of the affair, and the Marshal took the Doctor to jail to pass the remainder of the night in safety. He was brought before the Police Court yesterday and discharged. We are glad that the Doctor was rescued from an untimely and horrible death, as his place in this community could not have been easily filled.

A FOUL MURDER.

A Man Killed for $100 and His Watch.

The Arrest of the suspected Murderer.

On Sunday last the body of a murdered man was accidentally found by one James D. Powell in the Little Blue, below the mouth of the Sandy, not far from Fairbury, Jefferson county, in this State. The body was wrapped in a sheet, and the man had evidently been killed by a blow on the back of the head, from a hammer or other iron instrument, as the skull was crushed in.

The particulars of the affair, as we learn from a gentleman from that locality, who is attending the United States District Court at Omaha, are as follows:

Through the discovery of a handkerchief on his person, it was ascertained that the murdered man's name was R. O. Whitaker. With this for his only clue, Sheriff Steele, accompanied by Mr. Champlin, a prominent citizen of Fairbury, started out, determined to ferret the affair to the bottom. After making inquiry, he ascertained that a married daughter of Wm. Buck, who resided near the spot where the body was found, was acquainted with a young man by this name, who was in Nuckolls county, Nebraska, but she objected to viewing the remains of the deceased.

However, Wm. Buck himself identified the body as being that of the man with whom he and his daughter were acquainted.

It was further discovered that Whitaker, accompanied by a man named Prewett, had visited Beatrice for the purpose of homesteading a piece of land in Nuckolls county, and that Prewett had returned home without his companion, alleging as a reason that Whitaker and himself had parted company at Little Sandy Creek, a tributary of the Little Blue where Whitaker proposed to accompany three men to his home. Prewett having, as he said, to lay over at Meridian, a small town near by, in consequence of one of his horses suffering from a sore shoulder. This excuse, however, did not satisfy the neighbors, and some of them started out in search of Whitaker, fearing from his prolonged absence, that foul play had overtaken him.

Prewett, on his return, had offered a valuable team for sale very cheap, and appeared anxious to leave the country.

Sheriff Steele, after learning these facts, lost no time in starting in pursuit of Prewett; he arrived at Davenport, the nearest railroad town, late on Monday evening, and, being unable to obtain any conveyance, walked out to Mike Conley's residence, where he was told Prewett was living; a distance of about fifteen miles; arrived there he found Prewett in bed, and immediately started the object of his errand. His suspicions against Prewett were at once confirmed by the frightened demeanor of the man, who appeared to dread arrest in a manner which no man with a clear conscience would do.

On searching his person, a watch was discovered which belonged to Whitaker. On being asked how it came into his possession, he stated that Whitaker had offered to trade it to him for a yoke of oxen on the evening before he left him on Little Sandy, which offer he (Prewett) had taken up, at the same time taking possession of the watch, and telling Whitaker he could get the oxen on his return home.

No money or other articles which could be identified as belonging to Whitaker were discovered, neither could any information be obtained from Mike Conley, the proprietor of the house in which Prewett was taken.

Sheriff Steele handcuffed his prisoner, and immediately returned on foot to Davenport, where he arrived in time to take the eastern bound train to Fairbury. Here Prewett was placed under guard to await his examination, which is now in progress. John Saxon, one of the ablest attorneys in the Northwest, has been retained on the defense.

It was ascertained that Whitaker had $100 in greenbacks, together with the watch already mentioned, in his possession, when last seen in the company of Prewett.

After the State Fair—Amount of Premiums Paid Out, Etc.

Martin Dunham yesterday returned from Chicago, whither he went with J. Sterling Morton, President of the State Agricultural Society, and Mr. Moore, the Treasurer. They visited the Fair at Galeburg, with a view to gaining some new ideas of improvement, but they were surprised to find that our grounds and buildings were superior in every respect.

Mr. Dunham informs us that about the sum of six thousand dollars has been paid out in premiums by Treasurer Moore, and that about only $300 remains unpaid. This sum Mr. Moore, who has returned to Nebraska City, is ready to liquidate at any time.

HINES.

The Notorious Nuisance Again in Trouble—This time for Larceny.

The notorious George Hines is no sooner out of one trouble than he gets into another. Wednesday morning he was before the Police Court for carrying concealed weapons, but was discharged, and while congratulating himself upon this little victory over his enemies, he was arrested on the charge of larceny, said to have been committed in August last. He gave bail in the sum of $100 for his appearance this afternoon before Judge Porter.

It appears that sometime in the month of August, a traveler, named W. Belens, quite an old man, while stopping in the city for a few days, went on a spree, and finally wound up at Hines' dive on Ninth street. He had two silver watches, a Smith & Wesson revolver, and a little money. These articles he gave for safe-keeping to the parties who ran the ranch, and who put him to bed. When he woke up in the morning his property was given back to him, and he sent out for a quart of whisky, and all hands took a drink. Al- most immediately afterwards he became senseless from the effects of the whisky, which evidently had drugged. When he came to, he found that some one had taken one of the watches and the revolver.

He left town, and has been in Minnesota since. Yesterday he returned to Omaha, and while walking on one of the streets, he was met by a young man, who was at the "Red Light" saloon at the time the above transaction occurred. This young man told Belens that he had seen Hines take the property. Belens then proceeded with him to Judge Porter, who, upon learning the above particulars, issued a search warrant, and placed it in the hands of officer Simpson and policeman Benedict. They went to Hines' place, and there found the watch and revolver hidden away in a trunk, and arrested Hines as above stated.

IN MEMORY OF LITTLEVILLE LEMON. West home to Jesus, October 10th, 1914. Six years was the foothold, and so light The step that crossed our threshold, We neither heard nor heeded, until the night Fell on us, sudden, dark and cold. No warning voice, no flaring disease, Had cast a shadow on our life; But in the loving presence we, at ease, Lived on, nor thought that we must part. In the calm stillness of the Sabbath eve, An unseen angel whispered low, "God calls, and when the gates are ajar, To dwell forever with his savior now. Sweet home! part, although by loving souls And fond caresses here we know no more, We know it's but for a little while. Till we meet, too, reach the other shore. We who wander below, thus art safe above, And when the gates are ajar, If perchance we may enter through Jesus' love, And then we waiting there. A FRIEND.

WHY IS IT? That through all the dull season just passed, when other dry goods stores were empty and clerks asleep, Bushman's dry goods store has always been crowded as ever? Why is it that old merchants are complaining bitterly, and are moving away? Because Bushman sells goods as cheap in OMAHA AS THEY ARE SOLD IN NEW YORK CITY AT RETAIL. Because Bushman's prices at retail in many goods are less than the usual wholesale prices. And lest, but not least, because the people have found out for themselves that a child can buy as cheap and as safely as its own aim to make our store the most reliable place of business in this great new northwest. Be sure and find the right place, 265 Douglas street, two doors from Sheely Bros.' meat market. oct14-2t

TOOK A TUMBLE.

A Drunken Man Receives a Severe Fall.

A man named John Parsons, sometimes better known as "Happy Jack," came in from his farm Wednesday, and in the afternoon became intoxicated. He found his way to the "cheeked barn," on Harney street, a favorite resort for farmers with their teams, and went up into the hay loft and soon fell asleep. Sometime during the evening, he rolled over and fell through a hole in the floor below, a distance of twelve feet. He was rendered insensible, and was found in that condition by some one, who, supposing him merely to be drunk, placed him in a stall, and let him be there till this morning, when his true condition was discovered. Dr. Mercer was called, and gave it as his opinion that the man was suffering from concussion of the brain, caused by the shock received from the fall. He was conveyed to Mercy Hospital, where he is now lying in a dangerous state. It is thought that the accident may prove fatal.

Texas Roughs on the Rampage. From a gentleman from the West we learn that a party of about a dozen Texas ruffians have been on a grand spree at Kearny Junction, ever since their arrival there, some four or five days ago. They carry their weapons strapped to their hips, and have been bullying the whole town, and striking terror into nearly everyone, if our informant is not mistaken. They have threatened several times to shoot different persons without any provocation whatever. We should not be surprised, in case our information is not exaggerated, if we should have the pleasure of writing up the impromptu hanging of the rascals. Such things occasionally happen in the West.
