A Case of Government Mule.

The case of Mrs. Reeves against John Cabler, to recover the value of a mule, was finally decided Friday in the District Court in favor of the plaintiff, who obtained a judgment of $150. It appears that Cabler shot the mule—which had formerly been a government mule—with a shot gun and No. 6 shot. This happened last winter in the west end of the county. The case passed through the hands of arbitrators, through the Probate Court, and then found its way into the District Court, where it was twice tried. One of the witnesses yesterday was Mr. B. E. B. Kennedy, a member of the Sportsmen's Club, who was called upon by Mr. Thurston, the counsel for the defendant, to testify as to the effect of No. 6 shot on government mule. The last question was whether Mr. Kennedy had ever shot a government mule, and upon his replying no, we suppose his testimony of the effect of No. 6 shot on this species of mule had but little weight with the jury.

The following business was transacted Friday in the United States District Court, Judge Dundy, presiding: Sherman Thurston, indicted for selling liquor without a license, and for not posting a stamp in his place of business, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs. For the same offense, relating to the sale of tobacco, he was fined $10 and costs. United States vs. the distillery of J. C. McCoy. This is a suit on a distiller's bond, and is brought against McCoy, the executor of the estate of E. B. Taylor, and John W. Hugus. It is now on trial and will probably consume the greater part of today. District Attorney Neuge, for the government; Judge Wakely and Hon. George W. Ambrose, for the defense.

ATTENTION. A few questions for the parties to answer in regard to "NEW" Howe Machines for $35.00. 1st. Why are the Machines all numbered over 90,000 (which numbers the Company has never reached) if they are good machines? 2d. Why do not the numbers in the shuttle race correspond with the plate numbers if they are new machines? 3d. Why are the numbers in the shuttle race all fled down so as not to be legible if they are new machines?

CAUTION. Parties purchasing Howe Machines will look well to the numbers and see that the plate numbers and numbers in shuttle race correspond, as they ought to in every Howe Machine that has not been tampered with. THE HOWE MACHINE CO. sept23r

MILITARY CAPS FOR OFFICERS AND MEN OF THE ARMY, AT ARMSTRONG'S HAT EMPORIUM, oct16i2 511 THIRTIETH ST. of the citizens in revenge for having BLOODSHED.

Texan Bullwhacking Summers on the Rampage at Kearney. They Storm the Town, and Two Bloody Battles Enact Between Them and the Citizens. Four Texans Wounded—One Fatally—and one of their Horses Killed. Two of the Wounded Bullwhackers Taken Prisoners.

Several days ago the BEE made brief mention of the fact that Kearney Junction was being "run" by a lot of drunken Texan "bullwhackers," who were striking terror into the hearts of the citizens by their lawless and reckless conduct. We thought the reports at the time somewhat exaggerated, but yesterday information was received in this city which went to show that the half had not been told. There has been serious difficulty and bloodshed at Kearney Junction as the result of these drunken spears of the Texas roughs. They have been accustomed to come into the town, from their herds, which were grazing near by, fill themselves up with forty-rod whisky, and then, with their revolvers in hand, and mounted on their horses, they would race up and down the streets, cursing and "whooping" loudly, firing their revolvers at random, and defying the officials, who made every effort to stop them. On two or three occasions the officers managed to arrest some of them, who were fined in small amounts, but this it seems did not check them. By a telegram received here yesterday from Kearney we learn that on Thursday four or five of them came into town, and went through the usual programme—getting drunk, firing their revolvers, riding their horses into saloons, yelling at the top of their voices, frightening everybody, and "whooping up generally." This "hoodoo" was kept up until night, when Officer Bricker summoned a posse of citizens, armed with double-barreled shotguns, rifles and needles-guns, and started for the house of one Alice McDonald, where the bullying bullwhackers were assembled. This body of men went there determined to arrest the whole outfit; when they came to the house, all the Texans, except one, were inside. Mr. Bricker approached this man, commanding him to surrender and consider himself a prisoner. At this point the Texans, who had got wind of the attempt to arrest them, rushed out of the house together, and all commenced firing their revolvers, and mounting their steeds at the same time. As they were starting on the retreat, the citizens promptly obeyed the order given them to return the fire. One of the saddles was emptied, the rider being brought to the ground, and another one of the party was wounded in the leg, but he succeeded in making his escape. The horse belonging to the wounded man, who had been knocked out of his saddle, was also wounded, and soon afterwards died. At the time the exchange of shots took place it was very dark, and the only light was that produced by the momentary flash of the guns. It was a miracle that so many escaped unhurt, as the two parties were so close to each other. The names of the two wounded men are Tom Peeler and Bill Bianch. Peeler was hit in the neck, and shot through the right arm. His wounds are serious, though probably not fatal. Bianch made his escape, going over to Lowell, and there taking the train for Kansas City.

Should we visit the factory we would find that in the operation of tanning the skin, in one stage of this work, undergoes twenty-four manipulations. Then follows dyeing, cutting, stitching the gloves, separating by dozens labeling and boxing. We might add, however, that one of the processes of preparing the skin is so prolonged as to demand eleven different tanks, and for completion fifty-six different kinds of treatment. These facts will enable the reader to understand the amount of labor necessary for the making of this delicate article, which is destined to last so short a time. In a word a skin to be dressed must pass through 138 hands. The operation of dyeing requires 18 manipulations, the cutting 24, the sewing 17, and the putting in dozens and packing 12. To resume, a glove, from the state of skin with the hair on to that of a finished glove, must pass through 219 hands. As regards the number of stitches in a lady's glove (size 5 1/2) there are something like 2,500. Our gloves are guaranteed that to this extent: if a glove, on being first tried on, shows signs of manufacturer's imperfections or breaks in any way, it will afford us pleasure to replace the same by another, provided the imperfect glove is returned to us.
