Grape Cuttings.

The proper time to take off the cuttings is soon after the fail of the leaf. The canes may be cut of any length, and tied in bundles, and put in the cellar, away from frost, and the cuttings made at leisure. The cane is cut square off below a bud. and slanting cut an inch above the other bud. This can be done with a pair of hand-pruning-shears. This makes a two eyed cutting. These are tied in hand-bundles of about 100 each,-all the short or butt ends one way. Bass matting is the best material for tying, though other material may be used. A smooth place is made on the ground, and these little hand-bundles are set on the ground, top end down, and a layer of straw is put on, and over this earth and litter, to keep out the frost. During the winter, the cuttings callous,-that is, they form a small white ring about the base of the cutting, out of which comes the new roots. Cuttings that form a callous benot fore the buds swell will not make roots. Early in the spring, the cuttings are put into beds, butt-end down, and the tops even with the ground, and over these about half an inch of sawdust, to keep them cool and moist, and to start the roots before the leaves; for, if the leaves start first, the roots will not push. Some people put them in the beds in the fall, and cover with straw and stable-litter, to keep out the frost; and this is removed about the time of early corn-planting. Cuttings of this kind should be two years old before setting out in the vineyards, unless they make vigorous growth, and then are not as good as oneyear-old layers, made from old wood that has been properly cared for during the season.

Early in the spring, when the canes are tied to the stake or trellis, the extra canes, that have been reserved for layers, are pegged down on the ground along the rows, and as much out of the way of the cultivator as possible. The ground should be made smooth and mellow for the purpose After the shoots have made three or four inches of growth, an inch or so of earth may e placed on the cane and about the base of the shoot, which will soon induce the growth of the roots. In the fall the cane is taken up, and the plants are separated for planting. This is the best plan for the farmer to pursue in order to grow his own vines. He gains at least one year, and at less labor and less risk of failure. Currant cuttings may be treated in the same manner as described for the grapes, and, in all cases, are better for being taken

A first-class one-year-old layer is worth about double that of two-year old cuttings. In setting a vineyard, I could hardly be persuaded to set the plants from cuttings, though they cost only half as much. Most people let the layers go until the shoots are long enough to cover with earth: but it is far better to peg them down before the buds start, for then they make a vigorous upright growth, and the earth can be easily packed around the base of the plants; besides this, the contact with the earth has the effect of callousing the cane at the base of the shoot, and roots are at once pushed out on the application of the soil. Gardeners depend largely on green cuttings. which they find the most profitable; while the farmer, without skill, or bottom-heat, or steam pipes, had better rely on layers.

The First Grasshoppers.

The prevalence of grasshoppers reminds us of their first appearance in America. They first appeared in Red River towards the end of July, 1818, six years after the commence ment of the settlement. They covered the settlement belt, but did not utterly destroy the wheat crop, it being nearly ripe at the time. Barley and other crops were swept away. They deposited their eggs and disppeared, and the following spring the crop of young grasshoppers was immense. These departed before depositing their eggs, but devoured all vegetation on their route, thus lestroying all the crops of 1819. Great numbers came in during the season of 1819 and deposited their eggs, so that in 1820 the crops again all destroyed. for three successive years the crops in this country destroyed by these pests. They then disappear for thirty-six successive years, the next visitation being in 1857, when they visited the Assiniboine settlement, doing but little injury beyond depositing their eggs. The following season their progeny destroyed all the crops within their reach. In 1864 they again appeared in considerable numbers but did little injury to the wheat crop. The following year the young grasshoppers partially destroyed the crops, leaving many districts untouched. The largest swarm ever known came in August, 1867, but the crops were so far ad vanced that season that they did little injury. Their eggs produced such immense quantities of young that vegetation was destroyed wherever they appeared the following season .- Canada Farmer.

Where Are the Black Hills?

[Cheyenne Leader.] In answering this we do not propose to locate them on the Yellowtone river, as that privilege has alredy been taken; so has the location on the Sweetwater; and so has the location on the head waters of the North Platte. These places are now occupied by the Black Hills, according to some veracious writer and newspaper correspondents, and it might be a trespass to infringe on We will have to hunt a new location for them besides these, and we do this, by informing "the world and the rest of mankind" that the famous Black Hills, where gold ex-Physicion and Surgeon, 104 "Duane ists in "considerable quantities," according to Wheeler, Ray Custer, Forsythe, McKay Smith, where it don't exist at all according to Winchell and John W. Clark, lie partly in Northeastern Wyoming and partly in Southwestern Dakota. The line between these two territories cuts through the Black Hills nearly in the centre of them. They are northeast of Fort Laramie about eighty miles, over a good country, and can be reached easily in four days with wagons, from that post. Fort Laramie is distant from Chevenne about ninety miles, over a good road. When Sheridan opens up that country to settlement, as he has promised to do soon, it will be a six or seven days' trip, with loaded teams, from Chayenne to the Black Hills;

The Pawnee Moving.

and a delightful country to (Polk County Homesteader.) Last week we visited the Pawnees and found everything among them in a bustle Commissioner Rush And with all lines running South to points in Southern Kansas and the Indian Territory.

Ask for Tickets via councils with the prominent chiefs and soldiers of the tribe, and assisting in the distribution of the annulty. An agreement or treaty was finally settled upon, allowing them

(the Pawnees) to remove to the Indian Territory, a party of forty to take the lead and pick out their new Reservation, and the rest to follow -some in a few weeks, and the rest in the Spring. Forty men with their immediate families was the number decided upon by the Com-missioner, Superintendent and Agent to constitute the advance party. The Indian idea of family does not resemble that of the white man. Many of them are polyga-mists, and have plenty of children and grand-children, mothers-in-law and fathers-in-law, brothers and sisters and their families, cousins and second cousins, &c., so one tamily may comprise many people, and the granting of the consent of the forty men and families to go ahead is construed by the Indians to mean the whole tribe. It does not seem probable that men would want their mothers-in-law along, but "lo! the poor Indian" will insist upon this appendage to his family. A few Skeedes, and the halt, blind and sick of the three other bands are left, and probably will remain until spring. The farm and Manual Labor behool will continue to be run until after next harvest. It was really a novel sight to witness these "children of nature" on the march. The rubbish and truck heaped upon the backs of the little ponies, and a "papoose" perched on the top, and the squaw with her back loaded leading the pony, the men walking along or riding with the dignity of kings, without care, altogether formed a procession rarely seen by civilized people. Before another year, a Pawnee Indian will be quite a curiosity in this State. A large tract of beautiful country will be left open for settlement by their removal. The land will be appraised and probably be bought up by a colony or a few land speculators,

A Hayseed Candidate. Would-be Granger candidates often encounter a good deal of unoleasant frankness among the class they seek to impose upon. A politician in Indiana, who had tried in vain to get an office from every party that had ever existed, plentifully sprinkled his hair with hayseed and began to woo the Grangers. In a brief blographical sketch which he had worked into one of his speeches he introduced this agricultural remark: "Yes, I may truly say I was born between two rows of corn." In the slight pause which followed a heavy-handed farmer, who knew of but one kind of vegetable which came into the world thus sandwiched, blurted out; "A pumpkin, by thunder!" The speech was never finished.

We know many instances where ledividuals for years afflicted, have been pe manently restored to health by their use. Mr. Frazier, the proprietor, is a resident of this city, and is wilely known as one of our most prominent business men. His refurences to the great value of his Root Bitters, are also persons well-known as citizens of standing and integrity, in whose statements implicit confidence may be placed, and their testimory may be taken as conclusive evidence of the estimation in which Mr. Frazier's remedy is held, particularly at home. Here it has alr ady att ined that position that requires no recommendation, having stood the requires no recommendation, having stood the test of trial here. We can say with saf ty, and

COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA, CURED BY THREE BOTTLES OF ROOT BITTERS

MR FRAZIER—Doar Sir: I doem it an act of gratitude to you, and a duty toward those who are suddring from liver comp aint and dyspepsia, to make the following statement:

I have been an invalid for over thirteen years. My complaint was a disease of the liver and dyspepsia. My skin was yellow, the white of my eyes w a the color of safron: I was sleepy and heavy, with headache and no appetite for food of any kind, I was afflicted as bad as any living woman could be. I took bottle after bottle of patent medicines, and paid over seven hundred d. Hars to the lest physicians without any benefit. I suffered more than I can tell you by letter, ut could get no relief until about two months ago I pur hased a bottle of your Ro t Bisters from Lo is Swithnight, druggist. 136 Woodland Av., this city. I used this bottle up, and since then have used nearly two more, and they are the only positive, sure cure for liver and dyspepsia complaint I have ever tried; they have cured me completely, and today I am as he lity as any person can be. You may use my name, if you see propper, as it may be the means of inducing ofters to try your discovery and be cured, for good health is better than gold. Ever your friend, MRS. HAS DONE ME MORE GOOD THAN ALL THE MEDICINE I HAVE TAKEN FOR TEN YEARS. MEDICINE I HAVE TAKEN FOR TEN YEARS.

Mrs, Duniel Smith, of Concord, N. M., afflicted with weakness, pan in the lungs, aboulders, heavy pain over the ey s, realless at night, and tired, fainty feelings all the time, writes.

Mr Fr. ZIE — Dear sir: I received the Bottle of Bitters you sent me by express, and I have taken the whole of it, and it has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken, and I have taken more or less for ten years. I thought I could get them from our druggists, but they do not yet have them. I could have sold 25 bottles, if I could have got them. I think you might have a good sale for your bitters here. I want you to send me 6 bottles for 5 dollars, the price you advertise. Send quick as you can, by express, C. O. D. It is the best medicine I ever saw. From your most grateful friend, MRS. DANIEL SMITH, Concord, N. H. P. O. Box 582.
