Eaton's Art Gallery.

That photography has made most wonderful progress in the past few years as a science and art, is nowhere more manifest than in this city. Our appreciation of this art has led us to visit the various art galleries in the past few weeks, and yesterday we chanced to call in at Mr. Eaton's gallery, on upper Farnham street. To our infinite surprise we were so charmed by the various improvements recently introduced in this gallery that we felt ourselves completely absorbed in the contemplation of all the beautiful portraits, paintings, and various scenes most tastefully arranged throughout the hall.

Somebody More About that Coal Mine

Which is owned by Omaha Mine Nebraska City, Oct. 16, 1914. Having visited and examined the property which was spoken of in your paper some days since, under the head of "ENTERPRISE," and being somewhat conversant with coal and coal deposits, throughout the United States, I have written these few lines, wishing to offer them as corroborative of the statement which was published in your paper. It is true, that whoever the lucky parties may be, (who, I am informed, are gentlemen living in Omaha), that they have under their control a property which will prove, not only a source of great fortunes to those interested, but of an exceeding benefit to Omaha, for lying as it does only eight miles from this city, and in such close proximity to Omaha, and at a distance of only eighteen miles from Brownville, they will be able, at exceedingly low figures, to furnish all those cities with a fine and first-class article of coal, and at such rates as will compel dealers who have heretofore grown fat upon extortionate prices to furnish their coal at reasonable rates or to leave the market.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT COUNCIL BLUFFS.

The Ogdon House in Ashes. About 4:30 a. m. to-day a fire broke out in the Ogdon House, the principal hotel at Council Bluffs. The flames spread rapidly, and notwithstanding the heroic exertions of the firemen and citizens of Council Bluffs, the entire block was destroyed. At this writing we are without particulars, which will be furnished in our next edition.
